Jazz Mad Slayer Offers To Plead Guilty of Crime

STATE PROSECUTOR STUDIES OFFER

Painesville, Ohio, March 5.—(AP)—Velma West, who killed her husband, Thomas Edward West, with a claw hammer in their home at Perry, Ohio, last December, will learn tomorrow whether she is to stand trial for her life or accept a prison term upon a plea of guilty.

The possibility that the case will be disposed of without public inquiry into the complex personality of the 21-year-old defendant, was admitted tonight by attorneys for both sides.

While Defense Attorney Francis W. Poulson refused to commit himself in detail, he did admit that a plea was being considered. And reliable information indicated that the plea, if agreeable to Prosecutor Seth Paulin, will be guilty of second degree murder.

If Velma is thus relieved of the necessity of standing trial, she will go to prison for life, but not without hope of parole as would be the case if a jury found her guilty of first degree murder, the crime with which she is now charged.

For four hours the young blonde was the cynosure of all eyes in the little county courtroom today. But her back was turned upon the spectators and never once did she look around, except for a brief turn of the head to speak to the matron, Mrs. Cora Nash, who was her companion.

Usually her glance was fixed straight ahead upon the empty dais and upon the blank wall, behind which the attorneys debated her fate.

During the two hours she was in the courtroom this morning, Mrs. West sat silently, waiting for something to happen. When the spectators were dismissed at noon, she was taken back to her jail cell. During the afternoon she talked frequently with members of her counsel as they came from the judge's chambers.

The illness of her mother, Mrs. B. L. Van Woert, and the terrific strain that she would be forced to undergo if her daughter should stand trial, was one of the principal reasons mentioned by the defense attorneys for their offer to plead to a lesser charge than first-degree murder.

Another reason, and the one sponsored by the court, is the advisability of avoiding objectionable publicity that would have to be given to a statement made to county authorities by Miss Mabel Young, of Cleveland, a warm friend of the defendant.

The statement was obtained last week by Prosecutor Paulin and Sheriff Ed Rasmussen and the prosecutor said he found in it a definite motive for the killing of West.

The statement of the Cleveland girl was largely responsible for the conference of the attorneys today. With the new evidence to bolster his case, Prosecutor Paulin was reluctant to reduce the charge against Velma as the defense was said to have suggested.

Judge Barnes kept the attorneys in his chambers until the chances of reaching an agreement today appeared very remote.

HEAD OF EUROPEAN STEEL TRUST DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Chalons, Sur-Marne, France, March 5.—(AP)—Herr Mayrisch, president of the European (Luxemburg) steel combine, was killed this afternoon in an automobile accident. The machine capsized two miles from Chalons owing to the bursting of a tire while speeding.

BASCOM S. DEAVER APPOINTED JUDGE OF MACON COURT

Coolidge Disregards State Organization in Naming District Attorney; No Opposition Expected.

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Running counter to the recommendations of the leaders of the republican party in Georgia, President Coolidge today nominated Bascom S. Deaver, of Macon, to succeed William J. Tilson as federal judge for the middle district of Georgia.

Immediately after the nomination reached the senate both Senators George and Harris stated they would interpose no objection to confirmation since Deaver is a resident of the district, and favorable action by the senate is expected within a short time.

The appointment of Judge Tilson had been opposed by Senator Harris on the ground that he was not a resident of the district and it was this opposition that prevented his confirmation, although he served on the federal bench for nearly two years under recess appointments.

Deaver, who now is United States district attorney for the middle Georgia district, was opposed by Ben Davis, the negro national committeeman for Georgia, and Roscoe Pickett, chairman of the Georgia republican state central committee. They were in Washington recently and at that time were reported to have urged the nomination of Ogden Persons, a democrat and a state circuit judge.

At the meeting of the republican state convention at Atlanta last Saturday Persons was given the indorsement for the federal judgeship and at the same time the convention elected delegates to the republican national convention at Kansas City with instructions to vote for President Coolidge for renomiantion as long as there was any possibility of the party drafting him.

LEVINE TAKES OFF ON CUBAN FLIGHT WITH GEM QUEEN

Mitchel Field, N. Y., March 5.—(AP) Charles A. Levine, with Miss Mabel Boll as a passenger and Wilmer Stultz as pilot, took off at 11:36 o'clock tonight in his trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia on a nonstop flight to Havana.

The 1,400-mile flight was expected to take about 15 hours. The decision to take off was reached shortly after 10 o'clock when Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist of the United States weather bureau, informed the fliers that they would have a full moon and light following winds along the coast.

FIRST LADY GOES BACK TO CAPITAL SOMETIME TODAY

Northampton, Mass., March 5.—(AP) Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who came to Northampton a week ago to visit her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, who is a patient at the Dickinson hospital here, will return to Washington tomorrow night, a member of the white house party disclosed tonight. Mrs. Goodhue has been at the hospital since December 11, when she suffered an attack of influenza.

Mrs. Coolidge, it was said, came to her home city for a brief rest as well as to be with her mother. She was said to have been encouraged greatly by the condition of the aged patient.

ATLANTA READY FOR WELCOME TO CHAMBERLIN

STUDENTS TO HEAR TALKS BY AVIATOR

Dinner at Biltmore Tonight Will Be Only Public Appearance of Intrepid Airman.

Clarence D. Chamberlin, second aviator to pilot a plane across the Atlantic, will be guest of Atlanta today and will be kept busy during his stay.

Mr. Chamberlin spent Sunday in Macon, where he made several public appearances. He will fly from there in his tiny "flivver" plane, and is expected to alight at Candler field about 10 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Chamberlin, who has been with her husband in Florida, will arrive by train from Jacksonville Tuesday afternoon and join the flier here.

The only public appearance of the noted aviator in Atlanta will be at the dinner to be given him tonight at the Atlanta-Biltmore, to begin at 7 o'clock. This will be informal and open to both men and women. Reservations at $3.50 per plate may be made either at the hotel or the chamber of commerce.

Georgia Tech Address.

At 11 o'clock, shortly after his arrival, Mr. Chamberlin will address the flying school of the Georgia School of Technology in their assembly hall. As the capacity of the hall is limited, this will be open only to students.

At 3 o'clock, the famous pilot will deliver a lecture, with motion pictures, at the Atlanta auditorium before the boys of the public schools. They will be admitted by tickets distributed in advance by the school administration.

Mr. Chamberlin's visit is being sponsored by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the aviation committee of the city council and the Atlanta chapter of the National Aeronautic association.

Chamberlin feels that the country will be a network of air lines, and that a very considerable percentage of the population will be "on the wing'

ATLANTA AIR MAIL BIDS ARE SOUGHT

Postoffice Department Advertises for Bids on New Route To Connect Here With Other Lines.

The first step toward a new air mail route from Chicago to Atlanta, connecting here with routes from New York, Miami and New Orleans, was taken Monday when the postoffice department advertised for bids on the Chicago link in the national air mail system.

Proposals for the contract must be filed by noon on April 30, and service on the route is to start not later than six months from the date of award of contract.

The Chicago route will make Atlanta the hub of four of the country's most important air mail lines, extending to the northwest, northeast, southeast and southwest of this city. The new route has been under consideration for some time, but Monday's announcement was the first official step taken by the government to the consummation of the plan.

Service on the Atlanta-New York route is scheduled to start April 1, while the Atlanta-to-Miami, to New Orleans and to Chicago routes are to be placed in operation next fall. The new Chicago route includes Terra Haute, Ind.; Evansville, Ind.; St. Louis, Mo.; Nashville, Tenn., and Chattanooga, Tenn., as stops. The southbound planes are to leave Chicago at 9:30 p. m. and reach Atlanta at 4:50 a. m., while the northbound planes will leave Atlanta at 4:50 a. m. and reach Chicago at 9:30 p. m.

The Pitcairn Aviation company holds the contracts for the New York-Atlanta and the Miami-Atlanta routes, while a New Orleans company holds the New Orleans-Atlanta contract. The Pitcairn company has already established hangar service at Candler field and at important points along the New York--Atlanta route, and the route is now being lighted for night flying.

ANITA LOOS SAYS AMERICAN GIRLS TOO MUCH ALIKE

London, March 5.—(United News) Anita Loos, who arrived here today to superintend the forthcoming production of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," had this to say:

"American girls are terribly uniform. They talk alike, dress alike, and live alike. They have too few wants, consequently they are unhappy.

DRYS COMPOSE ANTI-SMITH SONG

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5.—A new marching song for the drys' campaign in the next presidential election came out of the Anti-Saloon League's southeastern states' prohibition convention here today. Introduced by Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Brock, of Indianapolis, directing convention music, it ran to the tune of "The Farmers in the Dell."

"We will not vote for Smith,
"We will not vote for Smith,
"They'll have to put a dry man up,
"We will not vote for Smith."

HICKMAN FOILED IN SMART EFFORT AT PRISON BREAK

Los Angeles Killer Tries To Pursuade Guards To Take Him Outside To Get "Evidence."

Los Angeles, March 5.—(United News.)—William Edward Hickman, convicted murderer of Marian Parker, attempted to get outside the county jail last Friday so that he could make a break for freedom, Frank Dewar, jailer, testified today at the trial of Hickman and Welby Hunt for the murder of Ivy Toms.

According to the testimony, Hickman tried to persuade two assistant jailers to take him outside on the promise that he would lead them to a house which would reveal hitherto unknown points about the Parker case.

The assistant jailers conferred with Dewar, who said that he then forced Hickman to disclose his plan of escape.

According to Dewar, Hickman hoped to lure the officers to an outlying spot, take them off guard and escape.

Rate of progress in the trial today indicated the jury might not get the case of the youthful boy bandits until the end of the week.

SLAYER OF SONS CLAIMS INSANITY

Indiana Harbor, Ind., March 5—(AP) Insanity will be George Allen Chisholm's plea when he faces trial for the murder of his sons, George, Jr., 9 and Edgar, 6, whom he drowned in Indiana Harbor ship canal.

Arraigned today on two charges of murder, Chisholm was ordered held to the grand jury. He appeared in municipal court after appearing as the only witness at coroner's inquest here and in East Chicago, Ind., so weak from loss of sleep and weeping that he had to be supported between two officers.

Called to the witness stand at the inquest here into the death of little George, Chisholm fainted and slumped to the floor. Revived, he tried to recite anew the grewsome details of a previous written confession—how he tricked the youngsters into playing cowboy and lassoing themselves with loops of wire which prevented death struggles when he enticed them to the canal and pushed them in.

His attorney, Joe Conroy, of Hammond, halted him, declaring the trembling, fear-ridden man need not give statements which might incriminate him.

"It is a plain psychopathic case," said Conroy.

"The man is crazy. He was shell shocked and gassed while with the Canadian army three years in the world war"

Chisholm asserted his wish to face trial immediately, plead guilty and receive a sentence of life imprisonment. He seemed in abject fear of death and reiterated his confession statements that many times in recent days he had tried to nerve himself to a fatal leap.

Chisholm today begged to be permitted to see Mrs. Helen Lawrence, the woman with whom he lived and whose nagging he said drove him to do away with the lads. His wish was granted.

"Oh George," screamed Mrs. Lawrence, and she fainted when she saw him.

LEAGUE MOVES SOFTLY IN GUN RUNNING CASE

Many European Nations Involved in St. Gotthard Incident About Machine Guns.

RIGHTS OF GENEVA ARE QUESTIONED

Several of the Powers Would Prefer Dropping of Investigation; Britain Disinterested Judge.

Geneva, March 5.—(AP)—The machine gun shipment on the Hungarian frontier, involving what is known as the St. Gotthard incident, has come before the League of Nations council. It is likely to prove a complicated problem. The guns, numbering about 2,000, entered Hungary from Italy and were marked as destined for Poland. They were neatly packed away in six cars and were supposed to be agricultural implements.

The question of principle involved in the alleged clandestine importation is how far the League of Nations is entitled to investigate or control former enemy countries in the matter of armaments received in this way. It is argued by France and the Little Entente—Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slovakia and Rumania—that if former enemy powers were permitted with impunity to import arms, thus violating the armaments provisions of the treaties, there would be no security for the allied powers.

Hungary, which already has destroyed the guns and sold the scrap, protests that the Little Entente is trying to set up an unjustifiable precedent by establishing the right of such league control.

Italy, whose part in the affair is suspected in some quarters, would prefer that the matter be shelved, arguing that the peace would be served in this way, while Germany is

INFLUENZA PLAGUE KILLS 2,000 JAPS

Entire Nation Is Aroused as Emperor Hirahita and Baby Princess Catch Disease.

Tokyo, March 5.—(AP)—All the medical resources of Japan's capital are engaged in a life and death battle with an influenza epidemic which already has killed nearly 2,000 persons and has attacked the country's rulers.

Despite the best efforts of the city's physicians, half a million persons have been stricken and the sick are dying at the rate of 58 a day.

The emperor himself is suffering with cold and fever, but his majesty's chief anxiety is for his younger daughter, Princess Hisa, 6 months old. The imperial infant tonight was officially declared ill with pneumonia and in a critical state.

PerfectDiamondBridgeHand

Is Held by Young Atlantan

Thirteen diamonds in one hand, a hand held only once in every 2,000,000, it is estimated, was dealt to Lewis Harper, 15, of 796 Peachtree street, an employee of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, Monday night at his home, while playing with Will S. Smith and Glenn and Charles Dell, all of the same address.

The cards were dealt by Will Smith and cut by Charles Dell. Three hands previous to that Harper and his partner, Smith, made a grand slam in no trumps. Seven diamonds was the bid and a total of 374 points were given for the hand, including 125 points for game. In playing two games for rubber, the hand would have counted for a rubber game.

Smith bid one heart. The next man passed and Harper, excited over having a perfect diamond hand, bid seven diamonds and threw his hand on the table. He was given 49 in points, 100 for honors, 100 for a grand slam and 125 for game, making a total of 374.

A discussion of the hand, which naturally followed, revealed that an expert might have made 1,096 with the diamond hand provided a bid of one diamond had been doubled and redoubled. The count would have included 600 for extra tricks, 100 for honors, 100 for grand slam, 100 for fulfilling contract and 196 for points.

ARAB TRIBES REVOLT AGAINST BRITISH RULE THROUGHOUT SUDAN

DOCTOR, WANTED IN TORCH MURDER CASE SURRENDERS

Investigators of Governess' Death Say Clement Not Suspected, But Sought for Questioning.

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Sought in vain by the police of two states for a week for questioning in connection with the death of Miss Margaret Brown, burned to death February 20 near Bernardsville, N. J., "Dr." Louis Clement walked unrecognized into police headquarters today and gave himself up.

He asked to see Deputy Inspector Carey and was told to take a seat as that official was busy. When, after a few minutes, he was admitted to Carey's office he was able to announce: "I am Clement," before the inspector eagerly interrupted him.

He was immediately closeted with Detectives who were joined later by Captain Lamb, of the New Jersey state police. After the conference had progressed for some time it was announced that Clement probably would be taken to New Jersey for questioning by authorities there.

Nothing on Him.

Inspector Carey said after Clement had been questioned for six hours that he had sent for two women to have them confront him.

One, Mrs. Emily Miller, was a friend of Miss Brown and identified a picture of Dr. Clement as answering the description of a man she had seen with Miss Brown.

The other, Mrs. Theresa Flower van Norden, the police said was married to Clement a year ago. They said she is known internationally on the concert stage as "Musette, the dancing violinist."

Prosecutor Bergen, of Somerville, N. J., arrived during the questioning to join Captain Lamb, of the New Jersey state police, as representing New Jersey in the investigation.

Detectives, who had said repeatedly since starting their search for Clement that they had no information connecting him with Miss Brown's death but hoped he might be able to give them valuable information, said that Clement gave them a frank recital of his movements on the day the Park avenue governess was slain. Search for Clement began when a friend of Miss Brown identified his picture as that of a man she had seen in the woman's company.

Down and Out.

Clement told the police he had been living in cheap hotels and lodging houses in Manhattan and Brooklyn, avoiding persons who knew him. He said he decided to surrender when he read in the newspapers that police were starting a canvass of hotels and lodging houses. He vigorously denied that he had known the slain governess although he said he had known another "Miss Brown" eight years ago.

It was disclosed that during the time police had been searching for him, he had worn a disguise of a wig and a false mustache. He was said to have removed the false hair before entering headquarters.

The once dapper inventor was pale and thin and wore shabby clothes.

"I am down and out," he said, repeating the phrase he had used in letters which he had written explaining that he was reluctant to surrender as he was without means to retain counsel.

"I have been making a living as a counterman and dishwasher in various cheap restaurants," he explained. "I haven't a penny."

TERRELL IS NAMED CODY'S ASSISTANT

New Assistant Chief of Fire Department Has Been Connected With Service for 35 Years.

John Terrell, for the past 35 years connected with the Atlanta fire department and for the last several years a captain of station No. 8, Monday was elevated to the position of assistant chief of the department, succeeding the late Assistant Chief Tas Short.

Lieutenant C. C. Styron was elected to fill the position of captain left vacant by elevation of Captain Terrell, and Fireman W. C. Dobbs was named to the lieutenancy.

R. D. Neely, W. J. Redwine and J. H. Barfield, supernumeraries, were named to regular positions as firemen.

All elections were by unanimous vote of the fire board, over which Councilman T. Frank Callaway presided.

British Boat Scorns Shots Of U.S. Guns

Skipper Refuses To Halt Despite Coast Guard Shells Over Deck.

Miami, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Captain William H. Wheeler, of the British schooner, Isle of June, won, temporarily at least, in an international argument off Miami early today in which he matched strong language against the roar of coast guard gunfire as eight three-inch shells were fired across his decks as order to halt and submit to boarding.

Official action on the charge of failure to halt when ordered by coast guard authority to do so, tonight was awaiting the formal report of Lieutenant Comander W. N. Derby, of the coast guard destroyer Cassin. The maximum penalty on such a charge is $500 fine, it was said at the customs house.

Paying no heed to the shells, though crew and pasengers dived below decks. Captain Wheeler, at the helm, held to his course, and proceeded to Miami without a halt. The ship was seized here by coast guard forces notified of the affair by radiophone from the Cassin, but a search showed no contraband.

Lieutenant Comander Derby said his medical officer sent aboard the Isle of June after it docked, returned with the formal report that Wheeler was drunk. He declared he made his effort to board the boat after it became apparent that captain and crew were drunk.

Wheeler said when he first was hailed, outside the American territorial limit, he invited the coast guard officer to come aboard and have a bottle of beer, but made it very plain he had no intention of submitting to seizure.

Derby said investigation was being held up to give Wheeler a chance to "sleep it off."

The boat was released after the search in the harbor. British Vice Consul L. A. Oates said he would report the affair to the embassy in Washington.

IDEAL DWELLING CROWDS CONTINUE

Sunny Weather Keeps Hostesses Busy Receiving Visitors at Model Home of Constitution.

With the return of sunny weather Monday throngs of interested Atlantans visited The Constitution's model home at Peachtree Battle avenue and Alton road in Haynes Manor, being welcomed between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon by official hostesses on duty there.

The model dwelling—the second of a series presented by The Constitution—was formally thrown open to the public Sunday afternoon when thousands of men and women braved the drizzling rains to see its many new features of construction and decorating.

The home is presented by The Constitution and a number of cooperating Atlanta business houses with a view to promoting interest in construction of homes that will be permanent as well as beautiful as the result of the use of standard, nationally-advertised and officially-approved materials. The movement thus sponsored by The Constitution has been met with universal interest in the city and indications are that the model home on Peachtree Battle avenue will be the mecca for many additional thousands who intend building or decorating homes.

Its building materials supplied by a number of the leading business firms of the city and its interior furnished and decorated entirely by the M. Rich & Bros Co., the model home in every respect lives up to its name.

The "homey" feature—resulting from a perfect blending of colors, fabrics and materials to harmonize with the colonial architecture of the structure—has been widely commented on by visitors, and there is included in the makeup of the dwelling one or more items of construction or appointment sure to please and interest.

The house will be open for the next 28 days, during which the public is invited to attend. On week days the home is open between 2 and 6 p. m. and on Sundays from 2 to 10 p. m.

Firms cooperating in the educational home movement and the items which they supplied are as follows:

M. Rich & Bros. Co.: All interior furnishings, rugs and draperies.

Campbell Coal Co.: Sand-faced Kentucky colonial brick; metal laths; builders' hardware; cedar-lined closets; Venetian glass medicine cabinets; outside ash pits and unbreakable metal coal chute.

Willingham-Tift Lumber Co.: All

MIGHTIEST RULER MOBILIZES 20,000 DESERT FIGHTERS

FORMER FRIEND TURNS ON ENGLAND

London, March 5.—(AP)—Great Britain is facing another Sudan. Abdul Aziz Ibn Saud, sultan of Nejd and self-styled King of the Jedjaz, who since 1901 has brought the Wahabi dynasty from exile to a dominant position in Arabia, has added rifles, ammunition, food and probably men to the moral support which he had previously been giving desert raiders on the frontiers of the British mandates in Irak, Koweit and Trans-Jordania.

Thus the intermittent warfare on the northern borders of the great Arabian desert has suddenly turned from fights with robber bands into a proposition of having Tommy Atkins face the whole might of the Wahabis.

Three small British warships in Koweit bay at the head of the Persian gulf, a British air force in Irak and scattered outposts are confronted with the task of holding in check the most powerful combination of tribes in all Arabia. These fighters of the desert are filled with reforming zeal and a contempt for death comparable only with the fanaticism of the Madhists of the Sudan.

Messengers from Koweit who have just arrived at Basra, Irak, report that Ibn Saud told a recent conference of tribesmen that finding shattered his hopes of bringing back the "infidels" of Koweit, Irak and Trans-Jordanian to Islam by peaceful methods, he had decided to appeal to the sword.

Hitherto Ibn Saud has been friendly toward the British and only a year ago signed a treaty with them. But reprisals by the Irak air forces against Arabian frontier raiders, resulting in deaths to the reported number of 800, have seemingly changed this attitude.

I twas this same Ibn Saud who in December, 1925, overthrew the last remnant of the kingdom of Jedjaz, created as a part of the allies' movements against Turkey in the world war. Ibn Saud himself played mostly a negative role in the big conflict. He allied himself with Great Britain, but was held in check by Ibn Rashid, who is in alliance with the Turks.

At the end of the war, however, active fighting broke out between the rebel Bedouis leaders over the oasis of Khurma and Ibn Saud won that point on his western frontier. From there he steadily extended his dominions, finally leading the survivors of the Rashid dynasty into captivity. January 8, 1926, in the holy city of Mecca he was proclaimed king of Jedjaz and sultan of Nejd and its dependencies.

Now with characteristic swiftness his tributary tribes are forming against the British mandates. The projected expedition against Irak and Koweit is said to be based upon an initial force of 20,000 desert fighters.

WIFE OF WAR SPY FAINTS IN COURT

Paris, March 5.—(AP)—The wife of Jules Cesar Joseph Laperre, on trial as a spy, fainted in court today when called on to testify against her husband, and the incident caused Laperre, who has faced a long list of witnesses accusing him of being a spy for the Germans during the war and has defiantly and sarcastically retorted to their charges, to tremble in court for the first time.

His wife was called as the final witness.

"Tell us all you know," said the trial judge to her.

All eyes and ears were strained toward her. She stood with hands clenching the iron railing in the open space before the judge. She opened her mouth several times in an effort to speak, but no word came.

She swayed, clutched again at the bar, then dropped limply in a dead faint. After long, futile efforts to revive her, she was carried out to a hospital.

Mme. Laperre, who knew her husband better than all who had testified, carried her secrets with her. She may not appear again either for or against the defendant as final arguments in the case have been set for tomorrow.

One of the witnesses today was M. Pholein, who was head of the Belgian counter espionage service in the war and now is attorney general at Brussels.

"Eight hundred persons, including eleven women, were shot," said M. Pholein, "but their number would have been far less if it had not been for men like Laperre because the Germans would not have caught them. The execution of Edith Cavel was a fitting climax. If it had not been for traitors, the war might have been shortened."

GERMAN REICHSTAG VOTES FOR CRUISER

Berlin, March 5.—(AP)—The first appropriation for construction of a new 10,000-ton armored cruiser was sanctioned today by the reichstag committee on ways and means. This first installment will amount to $2,500,000.

The committee vote, which followed a lengthy controversy on the floor of the reichstag, was 15 to 12. Opposition came from the social democrats, the democrats, the communists and the Bavarian peasant parties.

Naval construction has been a bone of contention in the German national legislature for several months. On December 17 the reichstag rejected an appropriation for starting a new battleship. It was pointed out then that funds would scarcely be available for continuing the work in 1929 and that construction would last so long the vessel would be obsolete when launched.

Dr. Otto Gessler, minister of national defense, said that additions to the navy were needed to guard the sea route to East Prussia. He emphasized that Germany was building only five of the six cruisers permitted by the treaty of Versailles and that only four of the six permitted battleships were contemplated.

ALABAMA OFFICER ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Columbiana, Ala., March 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel Monteabaro probably will be the first witness called by the state when it opens its case tomorrow morning in an effort to convict Chief of Police H. F. Blake on murder charges in connection with the death of Miss Louise Monteabaro, who died on the night of November 14 from a pistol wound in the head.

The jury for the trial was completed late today after 65 veniremen qualified from special and regular panels totaling 100 names.

The jury was selected after constant bickering between the state and the defense only after the state had asked each venireman a series of questions as to whether or not he was connected with the present sheriff's office of Shelby county, or whether or not he or his family had contributed funds for the defense of the Calera police officers.

Attorney General Charlie C. McCall, who is heading the state's attorneys, has intimated that the state's case will create many sensations as the evidence is unfolded before the jury.

Chief Blake and his fellow officer, W. D. Farmer, were indicted for first degree murder in the death of Miss Monteabaro. Officers Blake and Farmer declare that the young woman shot herself a few moments after they had arrested her on reckless driving charges while Farmer was swabbing up the contents of a bottle which they claim she threw from her automobile near the end of a six-mile chase.

More than 125 witnesses have been summoned by each side including witnesses who will render expert medical, chemical and balistic testimony.

During Monday's session of court Blake sat at the defense table beside his attorneys, L. H. Ellis, W. L. Wallace and L. L. Saxon, while Farmer, his wife and baby sat nearby. Mrs. Blake and her father, H. T. Brown, mayor of Calera, sat near the defense table.

Judge E. S. Lyman called court to order at 10 a. m. Monday and adjourned shortly before 6 p. m. when the selection of the jury was completed.

Hoover Decides Against Entering Indiana Primary

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—After a series of conferences with some of his supporters in Indiana, Secretary Hoover is still of the opinion it would be inadvisable to enter the republican primary in that state. There is a possibility, said by his friends here to be somewhat remote, that he may change his mind before Thursday, the last day for filing a declaration.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, is in the field for the support of his state's delegation for the republican presidential nomination and there have been indications all along that other candidates would remain out of the primaries.

Over the week-end Mr. Hoover canvassed the Indiana political situation here with Oscar G. Foellinger, publisher of the Fort Wayne News Sentinel, and E. M. Wasmuth, of Huntington, former chairman of the republican state committee. He also has had conferences with former Governor Goodrich, who is allied with his cause.

Russians Deny Woman's Claim To Royal Birth

Paris, March 5.—(AP)—The claim of the mysterious Madame Anastasia Tchaikovsky, now in the United States, to be the late czar's daughter, is scouted in a series of statements published in two Russian vernacular weeklies appearing in Paris today.

Among those who deny the woman's claim are the Grand Duke Alexander, who married the Grand Duchess Marie, Princess Anastasia's aunt, former Premier Kokovtzoff, Prince Youssoupoff and H. Krupe [illegible], head of the Russian monarchists in France.

These declare that Madame Tchaikovsky speaks German well while the Princess Anastasia spoke it poorly. That she does not know English while Anastasia knew it perfectly and that her teeth are badly filled while the work on Anastasia's was done excellently.

They also claim that her body failed to show supposed bullet and bayonet wounds, adding that these details supported their failure to recognize either the face or mentality of the czar's daughter in the present claimant.

(Madame Tchaikovsky, who spent several years in a German asylum, arrived in the United States early last month, but since then her whereabouts have been a complete mystery. Surviving members of the Romanoff family have previously declared that she was not Princess Anastasia).

KNOCKOUTS IN RING USED AS DEFENSE AT MURDER TRIAL

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 5.—(United News)—Raymond Westervelt, 28, of Brooklyn, pleaded insanity due to knockouts in the boxing ring when he was arraigned today on indictments charging him with the murder of his wife and father-in-law.

Attorneys for Westervelt, who fought professionally under the name of Ray West, said he had been knocked out 12 times in his fighting career and claimed this affected his mentality. They also claimed Westervelt suffered from a "grandios complex" and a "persecution mania." He may be examined by a sanity commission.

NO PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY ENTRANTS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Harrisburg, Pa., March 5.—(AP)—No candidates for the presidency of the United States will have their names on the ballots at the Pennsylvania primary election on April 24. The last day for filing passed without any presidential candidates filing their nominating petitions. Blank spaces will be left on all ballots, however, where voters may express their preferences for president.

The names of Herbert Hoover as the republican candidate for president and Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York as the democratic choice appeared on delegates' petitions filed today.

FRIENDS OF BINNS PREDICT SUCCESS

Lauding of the record of "efficient service" which Carlton W. Binns, solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, has established during his short service as prosecuting officer of that court, a large group of his friends and supporters met Monday night to complete plans designed to assure his election Wednesday.

Albert Howell presided at the session and was one of a large number of speakers who praised Mr. Binns and his entire ticket for the record made in their present positions.

Mr. Binns was appointed to his present position by Governor L. G. Hardman when Roy Dorsey resigned.

Luther Still and Frank Hooper, members of the Georgia legislature from Fulton county; Roy Dorsey, former solicitor of that court; Sam L. Olive, prominent attorney and former member of the legislature, and Mrs. Chester Johnson, prominent Atlanta woman, were among the speakers.

Calling on voters to support a regime of law enforcement by electing Mr. Binns, the speakers declared that his "record as a private citizen, as an attorney and as a prosecuting attorney, who has labored hard to protect the lives, property and children of citizens of the county entitled him to the post he seeks."

Several speakers alluded to fact that Mr. Binns is opposed by a candidate, who, when defeated in the March, 1924, primary for solicitor, moved to Florida.

"While it is no reflection on Mr. McClelland that he went to Florida during the boom, I do feel that he should not be permitted to remove his citizenship from the county and then return to Atlanta and offer for a position which is now held by a man who has given good service," Mr. Still said.

"Mr. Binns was entitled to the appointment in accordance with the seniority rights which is a well-recognized principle of industry and labor. We should retain him in that position. The only issue in this race is that Mr. McClelland wants the job now held by Mr. Binns and his associates. There is not a word of criticism of operation of the court."

Other speakers concurred in the Still address, and called on voters of Fulton county to continue to assure themselves of a law enforcement "program equal to the needs of the court, and adequate to cope with the criminal element."

Mr. Binns presented his list of associates, and praised their "faithful, conscientious service in behalf of the law abiding element of the county."

He praised Dan C. Goodlin "who for 20 years has been a member of Atlanta lodge, No. 1, International Association of Machinists, and who has been a true friend of the laboring man.

"A. C. Minhinnett, John Still, J. D. Thomas, Ed Hill and Mrs. Julia Turner, also have contributed largely to the success of the office and are on the ticket for election," he said. "They deserve your support."

Paul Donehoo Pays Tribute to Mrs. Manston in Card to Voters.

TO MY FRIENDS:

I earnestly solicit your active support for Mrs. Beulah Donehoo Manston in her race for Fulton County Treasurer. She is my sister and throughout the long, hard struggle she has undergone for more than eighteen years, providing, entirely unassisted, for herself and her three children, she has never paused to count the sacrifice when it was a question of doing me a service. She has been my staunch supporter in every serious enterprise I have ever undertaken, and her love and loyalty to me are among my priceless possessions.

Mrs. Manston is a woman of sterling character, thoroughly capable and efficient, uniformly courteous and considerate, entirely deserving, and, in my opinion, Fulton County could find no one who could serve it as Treasurer more efficiently or more acceptably than she. PAUL DONEHOO.

Belmont Hospitality

PAT O'NEILL

THE BELMONT has always been renowned for its oyster bar, which is not strange as it has always been operated under the personal direction of Pat O'Neill, head oyster cook.

Pat has been cooking and serving oysters for fifty years and what he doesn't know about the succulent bivalves isn't worth much. He came to the Belmont when it was opened. He was New York's acknowledged oyster virtuoso and had a tremendous personal following.

He knows even more today. His stews are flawless culinary gems and his fried oysters, the way he serves them, are good enough to be set to music. When you eat Pat's cooking, your palate is your debtor for life.

PIERCE ARROW

'A YOUTHFUL PATRICIAN

With the assurance of ancestry, the new Pierce-Arrow found instant place in the world to which it belongs

ABOUT the new Pierce-Arrow there is a certain distinction that no designer could ever bestow. That is its heritage. That is the thing which is Pierce-Arrow. It cannot be imitated.

Great engineers, fine body builders, and highly skilled craftsmen combine to produce other cars contemporary with the new Pierce-Arrow.

But these other cars, fine as they are, lack the Pierce-Arrow tradition. And that tradition is responsible for the precedence which is accorded Pierce-Arrow the world over.

From $2900, at Buffalo.

You may purchase a Pierce-Arrow out of income if you prefer. A simplified financing plan makes this a most practical procedure. Your present car accepted as cash up to the full amount of its appraisal valuation.

COUNCIL VOTES SEWER CONTRACT

City council and the aldermanic board held the shortest sessions on record Monday afternoon when all business of both bodies was transacted in one hour and 15 minutes. Mayor Pro Tem. Claude Ashley presided.

Among important papers which were approved was award of contract for laying the Orme street sewer to the J. B. McCrary company for $104,450; award of contract to furnish the city of Atlanta the sewer pipe supply for 1928, totaling about 25 miles, for $26,459.65 to the Sherman company, the low bidder.

Only routine matters were presented for consideration of council, and the aldermanic board concurred in every recommendation of general council.

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—(adv.)

George H. Ralls, president of the Gabriel Snubber company, of Cleveland, Ohio, accompanied by his assistant sales manager, Lyle Manley, and W. Harold Foster, advertising and merchandising expert of N. W. Ayer & Son, spent Monday in Atlanta attending a secional distributores meeting covering advertising and merchandising plans for the company's business this year.

Distributors present were part of the Gabriel shock absorber national selling organization covering the dealer organization of Georgia and the southeastern states. Meetings of the type held Monday are staged semi-annually and just prior to the selling season for Gabriel shock absorbers. The present meet consisted of morning and afternoon sessions with a luncheon and a dinner, all held at the Biltmore hotel.

The Gabriel Snubber company is a pioneer in its field. Established for the past 20 years, officials said Monday it had manufactured more units than all other companies combined.

Mr. Ralls was elected president a year ago following a series of rapid promotions since his original connection with the company six years ago. He i an outstanding figure in the automotive accessory field and enjoys a wide friendship throughout the automobile industry.

The company he heads has 121 metropolitan distributors, with 3,200 dealers all over the nation.

CHINESE DEMAND EQUAL TREATIES

Geneva, March 5.—(AP)—The Chinese delegate Chu Chao-Hsin dropped a firecracker into the League of Nations security committee meeting tonight while that body was discussing the draft model for a general convention of arbitration and conciliation. With an obvious allusion to unequal treaties, he called attention to a phrase in the preamble of the draft noting that "respect for rights established by treaty or resulting from international law is obligatory upon international tribunals."

Mr. Chu said that these are such universally accepted principles it was unnecessary to repeat them. He said they were included in the covenant of the league and he added that there was also in article 19 of the covenant a clause providing for revision of treaties which had become inapplicable and the continuance of which might endanger the peace of the world. He proposed suppression of the words in the preamble.

Dr. Eduard Benes, of Czecho-Slovakia, as chairman of the committee, said the formula was found in all treaties of this kind and did not signify that the covenants were unchangeable. Therefore the phrase was not incompatible with article 19. M. J. Valder Mendeville, Chile delegate, supported the attitude of the chairman. The matter was dropped but Mr. Chu was assured his remarks would appear in the minutes. The committee probably will terminate its session tomorrow.

MANY TO TESTIFY AT MINE INQUIRY

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—More than two score witnesses have been summoned or invited to appear before the senate interstate commerce committee at the beginning Wednesday of its inquiry into conditions in the central bituminous fields where union miners have been out of work for nearly a year.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, will be the first witness and is expected to occupy the stand practically all of the first day. Other union officials also will be heard and afterwards the committee will call to the stand officers of both the coal companies in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio and the railroads which serve those mines.

The committee had intended to open the inquiry tomorrow but decided today to obtain first a report from the subcommittee of five which recently visited the western Pennsylvania fields to obtain first-hand pictures of conditions there which members have described as deplorable.

WORKERS REFUSE TO RESUME WORK.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 5.—(AP)—Mine workers at Pittston of local No. 1,703, whose members are employed at No. 6 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal company, at a meeting today unanimously rejected the plan for a resumption of work agreed on last Saturday.

Former President McGarry, of local No. 1,703, a warm friend of Alexander Campbell, who was assassinated last week, presided at the meeting which was attended by upward of 1,000 men. As they entered the hall each man was searched by state police but no weapons were found.

LINDBERGH LANDS AT SCOTT FIELD FROM WASHINGTON

Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., March 5.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his five companions landed here at 6:30 o'clock tonight, completing a flight from Washington, D. C. today with an hour's stop in Cincinnati.

TO GET MEDAL ON MARCH 21.

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—President Coolidge will present Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh with the congressional medal of honor on March 21. It was announced at the white house at the ceremony will occur at noon.

PORT RATE CASE FOR EAST COAST OPENS IN FLORIDA

Jacksonville, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Work on another chapter in the seven-year-long efforts of the war department, the United States shipping board, the interstate commerce commission and others to establish uniform rates and handling methods at north and south Atlantic and gulf port freight terminals was begun here today.

Representatives of railroads and of shipping and terminal interests on the Atlantic and gulf coasts began testimony before R. N. Treziz, examiner for the I. C. C., in a resumed hearing on the subject.

B. C. Prince, freight traffic manager of the Seaboard Air Line railway, testified southern railroads were rendering certain port terminal services below actual cost because of competiton with private docks. Northern lines, he said, are able to make commensurate charges for the same services.

Investigation of differences in northern and southern port terminal charges was begun in 1921 at the request of the war department and the United States shipping board.

AMBASSADOR BUYS TABLOID PAPERS; WILL MAKE CHAIN

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Alexander P. Moore, former American ambassador to Spain and former publisher of The Pittsburgh Leader, will reenter the newspaper publishing business with two tabloids—The New York Daily Mirror and The Boston Advertiser. Purchase of the papers from the Hearst organization was completed today.

Dr. Moore announced the purchase in the presence of Victor Watson, managing editor of the Mirror. Mr. Moore said he may add to his news enterprises with the tabloid as the field of development. Baltimore may be one of the cities in which he may purchase a paper, it was intimated.

KELLOGG OPPOSES BAN ON MEXICANS

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Following several days of testimony relative to placing immigration from Mexico and other countries of North America on a quota basis, the senate immigration committee today in executive session was told that four departments of the government looked with disfavor on the proposed legislation.

Secretary of State Kellogg, it was said following the meeting, is afraid that restriction of Latin American labor in agricultural fields of the southwest will affect friendly relations which now exist between the United States and neighboring republics of the south.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Husband and Dr. George C. Kreutzer, director of reclamation economics of the interior department, also appeared before the committee in opposition to the proposed Harris-Box legislation, and a letter from Secretary of Agriculture Jardine was read protesting from the economic standpoint.

GRECIAN VOLCANO BEGINS TO ERUPT WITHOUT WARNING

Athens, Greece, March 5.—(United News.)—The volcanic island of Santorin suddenly has become active.

There were successive intense eruptions of lava today. Stones and enormous flames were blown into the air by thunderous explosions.

Santorin is one of the Cyclades group of islands in the southwest corner of Greece. It is known also as Thira. Its area is 30 square miles and the population is 17,000. Its principal product is wine.

Mercury Today Will Take Flop To 30 Degrees

Angry at the near approach of spring, ol' man Winter will take another fling at Atlanta this morning, C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, said Monday. Mr. von Herrmann expects the thermometer to do a flip-flop down to 30 degrees this morning, though the maximum for the day will probably be 55 degrees.

The colder weather will probably be here only for today, the weather man said. The subfreezing temperatures will come down from the northwest. Monday's temperatures included a minimum of 44 and a maximum of 53.

TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR MAIL PLANE MISSING 3 DAYS

Casablanca, Morocco, March 5.—(United News.)—Search was begun today for the South American mail airplane which left Agadir Saturday morning and has not been heard from.

The plane, which had started from Paris and was traveling to Saint Louis, Senegal, with the first mail for South America in the new steamer-plane mail service, was due at St. Etienne Saturday night. It had made scheduled stops at Casablanca and Agadir.

POLLOCK EXONERATED OF 'FOOL' PLAGIARISM

New York, March 5.—(AP)—The federal court decision exonerating Channing Pollock, playwright, of charges that he had stolen the plot of his play, "The Fool," from a manuscript by Abraham Waxam, advertising manager for Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., was upheld by the United States circuit court of appeals.

Waxman sought an injunction against Pollock and various producers and an accounting of the play's profits.

NEW YORK LABOR ASKS ALL UNIONS TO 'DEMAND' SMITH

Albany, N. Y., March 5.—(AP)—The executive council of the New York State Federation of Labor, at a meeting here today, adopted a resolution calling upon all state federations and affiliated unions to "demand" the nomination of Governor Smith as democratic candidate for president, "in the interest of the wage workers and toilers of our state and country."

As a member of the legislature and as chief executive of the state, the resolution set forth, Governor Smith "has constantly and consistently originated, promoted and administered laws for the betterment of the wage earners of our state."

Doubles the life of your linoleum

Give the linoleum on your kitchen and bathroom floors a coat of transparent Berryspar once or twice a year. This will preserve its original freshness and double its useful life.

For all exterior and interior uses requiring a varnish of clear luster capable of withstanding rough usage and exposure, use Berryspar. Nothing compares with it for boats, doors, furniture and linoleum. It dries dust free in four hours—dries hard over night.

New Western Union Office

With flowers in profusion, the Healey building branch of the Western Union was formally opened Monday morning. Mrs. Gertrude Fife is branch manager of the new office. Those in the picture are Mrs. P. D. Pinkard, Miss Grace Henderson, Miss Martha Smith, Mrs. Gertrude Fife, branch manager; C. H. Carroll, city superintendent of all Western Union offices in Atlanta; Willard Ivey, Glenn Johnson, Vince Forester, Lanier Mullinix and Judson Hamby.

GOVERNMENT WINS $11,400 IN TAX SUIT

The United States is entitled to recover $6,400 from Thomas H. Austin, and $5,000 from Lucinda Lee Snook and Harriet V. Snook, executors of the late Peyton H. Snook, under a decree handed down Monday by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley in United States district court. The suit was brought by the government to recover taxes alleged due by the Standard Coal company, of which Austin and Snook were the corporate stock owners.

Constipation and Biliousnes Cause High Blood Pressure

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by over-eating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are underlying causes. In either case, Alertox, through a process of elimination, thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities and tends to reduce pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the intestinal tract, excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alertox you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health, because Alertox removes, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert. Ask any one who has tried it. At all druggists or sent direct upon receipt of price. 60c and $1.00. Crystal Carbonic Laboratory, Dept. 33, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

SENATE DEFERS VOTE ON ESCH NOMINATION

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—After nearly two hours of discussion, the senate Interstate Commerce committee today deferred until tomorrow a vote on the renomination of John J. Esch, of Wisconsin, to be a member of the Interstate Commerce commission.

Opponents of Esch claim ten members of the committee against him with only six in favor. Four of those opposing the nomination, they said, were expected to be absent tomorrow, however, leaving a tie vote. That in itself would force an unfavorable report.

OCMULGEE BRIDGE BILL IN CONGRESS

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Bills providing for bridges across southern rivers and streams were passed by the house today and sent to the senate, included the following:

J. E. Turner to bridge the Ocmulgee river at or near Fitzgerald, Ga.; E. L. Higdon, of Baldwin county, Alabama, across Perdido bay at or near Bear Point, Ala.

ENTOMOLOGY BOARD MEMBERS ASSEMBLE

The state board of entomology held a meeting at the capitol Saturday afternoon with Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, and ex-officio chairman of the board; J. P. Hogg, Buena Vista, and Dr. Lyman Veeder, of Cornelia, associate members present, it was learned Monday at the capitol.

Although repeated efforts have been made by the commissioner to call the board together to settle various differences existing between the commissioners and the associate members as to the policies of the state department of entomology, the Saturday session was the first which has been held in several weeks.

No information of any kind as to the action taken at the meeting could be obtained Monday. E. Lee Worsham, secretary of the state board, declared that the three members of the board discussed various questions but deferred action on all matters until a later meeting. Commissioner Talmadge left the capitol Monday for Washington.

Approximately $4,000 funds of the department deposited in Atlanta banks is awaiting final disposition by the board and the controversy between Commissioner Talmadge and the two associate members arose over the disposition of this money. Commissioner Talmadge has sought to have the money turned over to the state treasurer while the associate commissioners have opposed this move.

Commissioner Talmadge also has declined to recognize W. L. Neese as assistant secretary of the board, a position to which he was recently elected by the two associate members over the protest of Commissioner Talmadge. The commissioner, who signs the salary warrants for the department, has declined to sign a warrant for the payment of the salary of Neese.

Mr. Worsham said he could not announce the date of the proposed future meeting. He said it would be arranged on a date convenient for all the members.

BILLIE ANN GRIMES, 6, BADLY HURT BY AUTO

Another Atlanta child, Billie Ann Grimes, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Grimes, of 1675 Rogers avenue, Monday afternoon was the victim of an automobile accident, when she was struck down near the Joel Chandler Harris school, in which she is a student.

The automobile was driven by S. Rich, negro, of 549 Markham street, who stopped his car and took the injured child to a private hospital. Although the child's injuries are serious, they are not expected to prove fatal, doctors stated.

Soon after the accident the father of the child reported the accident to police station and requested Chief James L. Beavers not to make a case against the driver.

AGNES SCOTT HEARS PROF. JOHN ERSKINE

Decatur, Ga., March 5.—(Special.) A large crowd heard Professor John Erskine, noted author and lecturer, speak in the college auditorium at Agnes Scott college Monday night.

Professor Erskine, author, among other popular works, of "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," was roundly applauded after his talk, which was on the subject of literature as a part of the college life.

During his stay in Atlanta, where Professor Erskine was the recipient of many greetings from local admirers who called at the Biltmore hotel, he expressed many interesting remarks on literary subjects and Monday revealed his attitude toward the demand of the individual reader of epic writings.

Monday night's lecture was the second of a series being sponsored by the Lecture Association of Agnes Scott.

HIGH COURT REFUSES GEORGIANS REVIEW

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—John Quinlan, W. W. Brown, Will Stuckey and others, convicted in the federal district court for middle Georgia, on the charge of conspiring to violate the prohibition law, were refused a review by the supreme court Monday to test out their contention that the offense should have been tried in the southern judicial district.

They insisted that the conspiracy was alleged to have been committed in Bibb county, and asserted that county was in the southern district at the time the offense was alleged to have been committed, the middle district of which Bibb county is a party not having been created until later.

Rogers Reaches Albany by Plane From Alabama

Albany, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Completing the hundred-mile hop in a little more than one hour, Will Rogers landed here Monday afternoon from Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., in a Douglas 0-2 army observation plane piloted by Lieutent N. L. Cote, Major Walter R. Weaver, commanding officer of Maxwell field, accompanied him in a similar plane piloted by Lieutenant F. W. Ott. They will remain overnight.

King Hardware Store Entered by Thieves; Watches, Knives Taken

The King Hardware company, at 169 Whitehall street, was robbed of a large number of watches, knives and other articles Sunday night, according to a report to detectives Monday. The burglars entered by a skylight and left through the elevator shaft, detectives were told.

Georgia-Tennessee Road Fund Measure Passed in Lower House

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—An appropriation of $116,000 for paving the government road between St. Elmo, Tenn., and Rossville, Ga., was authorized in a bill passed by the house today and sent to the senate.

AUTHORITY ON HAIR LECTURES AT RICH'S

Miss Gladys Ogilvie, one of seven famous sisters who have made a lifelong scientific study of treatment of the hair and who maintain salons in New York, Paris and other leading American and European cities, this week is visiting the toiletrics department of the M. Rich & Bros. Co., giving demonstrations of correct grooming of the hair in order to insure its health and beauty.

MISS GLADYS OGILVIE.

At 3 o'clock each afternoon this week Miss Ogilvie will give a lecture to Atlanta women in the school room on the fourth floor of the department store, and at other hours she is in the toiletries department on the first floor.

"Fashionable women everywhere are getting away from the straight-line, boyish bob," she said Monday, "and are adopting the more feminine and more beautiful swirl. Women also will be glad to hear that fashion dictates the death of small waves; the well-groomed woman has only one of two big waves in her hair."

Miss Ogilvie emphasizes in her lectures the importance of brushing and exercising the hair and the careful exercising of the scalp in order to insure healthy and attractive hair.

INSURANCE COMPANY PROMOTES KENIMER

Barnett Kenimer, former resident of Atlanta, has been made assistant manager of the agency development, life, accident and group departments, in the Cincinnati branch office of the Travelers Insurance company, of Hartford, Conn. Mr. Kenimer's appointment to Cincinnati was effective February 15.

For a number of years Mr. Kenimer was assistant manager in the Atlanta branch office of the Travelers in the Healey building, leaving here February 1, 1926, when he was made manager of the life, accident and group departments in the company's branch office in Nashville, Tenn.

FAULKNER TO SPEAK BEFORE LIONS TODAY

James P. Faulkner, managing director of the Georgia State Tuberculosis association, will address the regular meeting of the Atlanta Lions club at 12:30 o'clock today in the Winecoff hotel, on the subject, "The Prime Factor in Personal Health."

Another feature of the entertainment program will be a novelty performance by E. Foster, presented through Lou Adler.

LAKE DIVERSION CASE SET FOR APRIL 23

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Cases brought by Great Lake states to enjoin the Chicago sanitary district from diverting water from Lake Michigan today were set for hearing April 23 next by the supreme court.

Grandmother finds way to grow old gracefully

"I don't try to keep up the pace of the younger generation," says this 65-year-old woman. "I leave that to my grandchildren.

"But just because I lead a quiet life doesn't mean that I'm not perfectly well. I never felt better. Everything about me is normal and functions as it should. I make sure of that by taking Nujol regularly. Nujol keeps me in good condition."

When people become less active, Nujol becomes even more important for good health. For Nujol not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

All of us—old and young alike—lead more or less sedentary lives. But Nujol helps make up for this lack of exercise. It keeps the body functioning as Nature intended.

Even if you think you're perfectly well, try Nujol. It was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Take it for three months and just see if you don't feel better. Nujol can't possibly upset you. It contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Be sure you get the genuine.

Binns or McClelland?

CARLTON BINNS, Solicitor of the Criminal Court of Atlanta, is an Atlanta boy, who, after graduation from the Boys' High School and Mercer University, has lived in Atlanta, practicing law with the firm of Dorsey, Shelton & Dorsey until he became Assistant Solicitor two years ago. Since his appointment as Solicitor by Governor L. G. Hardman six months ago, he has discharged the difficult duties of the office with signal ability and remarkable success.

JOHN McCLELLAND is an active and astute politician, whose ambition to become Solicitor was denied by the ballots of the people of Fulton County in the last two elections, in both of which he was defeated. He then removed to Miami, Florida, where he resided for about two years, returning recently to enter another campaign for this office.

CARLTON BINNS as Assistant Solicitor, and as Solicitor, has prosecuted approximately 12,000 cases, and has turned in to the County Treasury, after payment of all salaries and office expenses during the years 1926 and 1927 alone, the net sum of $87,187.98, during which period JOHN McCLELLAND has presumably conducted a lucrative practice for his own benefit.

Naturally, CARLTON BINNS has arrayed against him many convicted defendants, whereas, JOHN McCLELLAND will be the logical beneficiary of the votes of that element which he has defended.

CARLTON BINNS, by his education, training and experience, is equipped to discharge the duties of the office he now fills, and for which he now asks endorsement by the law-abiding voters of Fulton County, and his associations are such as to enable him to continue to prosecute law breakers without fear or favor.

He has not trained in the camp of professional politics, and asks your vote and influence solely on your faith in his character and experience, and upon the official record he has made.

EMORY QUARTET AT BIBLE MEETING

With the Emory Four quartet adding their vocalistic delights to the program on Monday night, the 23d annual Bible conference at the Baptist Tabernacle swung into the steady swing of its eight-day series of meetings on Monday.

With distinguished Bible teachers from all parts of the world here, the conference, which opened Sunday, is meeting three times daily all this week. Speakers are scheduled daily at 10 and 11 a. m., and 2:30, 3:30, 6:15 and 7:30 p. m.

Monday night the speaker was Dr. J. C. Massee, of Tremont Temple, Boston, while the sermon Tuesday night will be delivered by Dr. M. E. Dodd, of Shreveport, and formerly of Los Angeles.

Every night at 6:15 o'clock supper is served for the young people of the city, under the auspices of the B. Y. P. U. of the church. Monday night over 200 young workers came from the offices and factories to enjoy the supper and hear the chart-illustrated Bible talk by Miss Jean LaMonte which followed. These talks are to be given daily through the week.

Dr. Harry Ironside, of California, and Dr. William Lamb, of Australia, were speakers at the morning and afternoon sessions Monday and the same two will appear again at the corresponding sessions today.

The meetings, which will continue through next Sunday, are strictly undenominational in character and all Atlantans, regardless of church affiliation, are invited to attend by Dr. Will H. Houghton, pastor, and all officials of the Tabernacle.

EXCHANGE CLUB MEET TO HEAR MISS ASHLEY

Miss Margaret Ashley, assistant to Dr. W. K. Moorhead, of Phillips academy, Andover, Mass., will speak before the Atlanta Exchange club at the regular meeting at 12:30 o'clock today at the Henry Grady hotel, on the archeological work being done on the Indian mounds in north Georgia.

Frederick J. Cooledge, Jr., will provide entertainment with prestidigitation and magic. The meeting will be presided over by William E. Arnaud and the program will be in charge of John E. Nelson, advertising manager of the Selig company.

Do Men Read Advertisements?

We say they do! . . . and it is not guesswork, either—we know!

When a store really has something to say, and merchandise to back up the statement, with values unquestioned, men find as much interest in advertising as women do.

Knowing these things are true keeps us on the alert—the right sort of merchandise, at the right time, at the right prices.

HEAD-TO-FOOT OUTFITTERS FOR MEN AND BOYS

KIDNAPED YOUTH SOUGHT BY POLICE

The whereabouts of Robert Cook, 11-year-old son of Mrs. A. B. Cook, of 1092 Sanders street, S. E., who was reported as kidnaped by two men in an auomobile on his way to school Monday morning, remained a mystery Monday night while his mother and step-father were engaged in a search for him.

After conferring with city detectives, Mrs. Cook called at the office of Solicitor General John A. Boykin to ask that he investigate the alleged kidnaping, but she was referred to the municipal court. J. E. Thrift, clerk of the municipal court, said that Mrs. Cook declined to swear out a warrant for any suspects, and she was advised to seek the cooperation of police in an effort to trace the boy.

The boy was grabbed by an unidentified man at McPherson street and Moreland avenue Monday morning while en route to school, and was forced into an automobile, which sped away before witnesses could get the license number, according to a report to police. Mrs. Cook seemed certain as to the identity of the person who kidnaped the boy, according to detectives.

ATLANTA-TO-MACON BUS LINE PLANNED BY CENTRAL ROAD

The Central of Georgia railroad is contemplating establishment of a motor bus line between Atlanta and Macon, correspondence between the railroad and the state public service commission Monday revealed. Officials of the road here said that plans for the bus line are not yet definite and that the railroad's representatives will attend a meeting between the commission and bus line operators March 14, when rules governing busses will be formulated.

The Central now operates a bus line between Fort Valley and Perry, and several other Georgia railroads are reported to be considering operation of similar lines as feeders for their regular lines or to take the place of certain local passenger trains. This will put the railroads in competition with independent bus lines now operating in the state.

AFRI-KOLA CO. LOSES IN INFRINGEMENT SUIT

A consent decree enjoining and restraining the Afri-Kola company from manufacturing or selling any product under the name of "Afri-Kola" or any like word or names that are colorable imitations of the trade mark, "Coca-Cola," was handed down Monday by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley in United States district court.

Judge Sibley's order also restrains the Afri-Kola company from "doing any act or acts indicating that the product of the defendants (the Afri-Kola company) emanates from the same source or reaches the public through the same channel as that of the plaintiff, (the Coca-Cola company).

Buried in Sand, Negro Workman Rescued Unhurt

Buried for more than half an hour under several tons of building sand, John Aycock, negro, was rescued alive from his damp tomb by the heroic efforts of a squad of workmen and firemen led by H. W. Cromer, of the firm of Cromer & Thornton, Inc., the negro's employer. The accidental burial occurred in a sand pit while the negro was shoveling sand into the mouth of a hopper at Decatur and Pratt streets.

Undaunted by loose sand which slid down upon him and threatened to entomb him with Aycock, Mr. Cromer uncovered the negro's head and protected him from fresh avalanches of sand while firemen cut a hole in the bottom of the sand pit so that the excess of sand could be drawn off. The terrific strain involved in freeing the negro and keeping back the remainder of the sand left Mr. Cromer so exhausted that he collapsed on reaching his office after the rescue. He was revived in a few minutes by coworkers, however.

Aycock was uninjured by his temporary burial, though he frankly admitted that he "sho wuz skaired." The negro's nose was partially protected from the sand by a heavy felt hat, which allowed him to breath until reached by his rescuers.

Two Runaway Lassies Persuaded To Return To Statesboro Home

Statesboro, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Arvis Brinson, 14, and May Lee Hutchinson, 12, two girls who left home Thursday morning, have returned. They were found at Sylvania by County Game Warden Wyatt who read of their disappearance from home and induced them not to go away with an unknown man in an automobile. They reached home late Saturday.

ATLANTAN ELECTED TO KAPPA SIGMA AT PENNSYLVANIA

Perry M. Oliver, Atlanta youth attending the University of Pennsylvania, has been elected to membership in the Kappa Sigma fraternity, one of the prominent Greek letter societies of the university, it was learned here Monday.

Mr. Oliver is the son of Mrs. Emma D. Oliver, of 1359 West Peachtree street, N. E. He is a member of the freshman class of the Wharton school of finance and commerce of the university. Prior to entering the university he attended the Baltimore Polytechnic institute.

ATLANTAN POSTOFFICE RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN

Atlanta postoffice receipts during February showed a gain of approximately three and a half per cent over the same month of last year, according to figures released Monday by Postmaster E. K. Large.

The receipts for February of this year were $394,271.98, or a gain of $12,998.13 over the receipts of $381,273.85 for February of 1927.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

WANTED: WORN TIRES!

WANTED
Worn Tires!
Swap your old TIRES HERE
for New Goodrich Silvertowns
This week
Goodrich Silvertown

Trade them now—for the powerful grip of new rubber

SUPPOSE your old tires do have a doubtful thousand or a risky five thousand miles in them. You don't have to ride on the tires, to get your money's worth.

Sell them to us. Let us apply the credit for those unused miles to reduce the price of new Goodrich Silvertowns.

You get the confidence—the safety—the traction of these famous tires. We get your worn tires which we can re-sell to other motorists. That's business, all around. Just like the way you've bought new cars for years—except for one thing. A tire can "blow out" and become almost worthless. A car does not. Don't wait till your tires blow out. Trade them now.

AND WHAT A TIRE YOU GET IN SILVERTOWN!

Judge them by what other motorists have found out in the past two years—and you'll find that money cannot buy finer tires.

Judge them by their tested construction—and you'll know why they're making such performance records. The hinge-center tread—final answer to balloon tread design! Water Curing—that Goodrich process which cures Silvertowns from inside and outside both—makes these tires tough clear through.

A wonderful tire in exchange for the tires that take all the joy out of riding. See us this week—this offer will not be repeated.

SPINELESS 'CONTROLS' USELESS.

The distressing air tragedy at the San Diego, Cal., field Sunday, in which five men were killed, emphasizes again the imperative necessity for rigid regulations as to both pilots and planes.

In the California accident the pilot had been refused a license, the craft was declared not air worthy, and the passengers were "warned." But what good did all of this do? "Regulations" that don't regulate are as bad as no regulations at all. It should not be difficult to enforce a law in which possibly only one person in ten thousand is involved.

If the field had been properly policed, or the "regulation" of the local board had had any teeth, the novice pilot of a home-made monoplane, with four passengers, would not have been permitted to enter the air. To say that he could not have been prevented from thus jeopardizing his own and other lives, under such circumstances, is to admit that the San Diego "control board" is a mere functionary body of men to attend banquets in dinner suits, but without authority other than to use unavailing moral suasion against such proposed foolhardy flights.

The lesson is as plain and as definite as a pot leg. There should be state laws demanding the licensing of machines to take the air only after their periodical inspection by experts, and the further demand that no pilot shall sit at the controls of any machine who has not, upon examination, proven himself capable, not only from aviation and mechanical fitness, but from temperamental and moral fitness, to be trusted with the mastering of natural aviation hazards.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is a firm and vigorous advocate of state regulation laws with police authority to enforce them to the letter. This means that every field should be standardized, and no others accepted for general jitney flying, and that every standard field should be policed so as to enforce the regulation laws.

The New York assembly has vigorously begun the enactment of a code of such laws, and Governor Smith has already signed the regulation act. He did this in the presence of Colonel Lindbergh the other day upon the latter's visit to Albany.

State regulatory laws should comport with equally as rigid federal laws. It is obvious, however, that the government cannot and should not be charged with the control and policing of standard fields in states. It should be the obligation of the state to enact the laws, and to provide the inspection system, and the obligation of the municipality owning the air port to enforce such laws.

The cause of commercial aviation is too important to have it embarrassed and hampered by the flying of unlicensed "students," and every Tom, Dick and Harry who thinks he can become a Lindbergh.

THE FREIGHT HANDLINGS.

Railroad executives in Atlanta point to the fact that despite a decrease in the volume compared with last year the rail carriers of the country are continuing to move the freight traffic offered them with the same promptness and dispatch which characterized the preceding year, when the amount handled was the greatest on record.

Despite a decrease in the volume compared with last year, the railroads of the country are continuing to move the freight traffic offered them with the same promptness and dispatch which characterized the preceding year when the amount handled was the greatest on record, it was stated here today by railway executives.

The daily average movement of freight cars in 1927, based on statistics, was 30.4 miles a day. This was the same as that for 1926, but was an increase of 1.9 miles above the daily average for 1925 and 3.6 miles about the average for 1924.

The executives declare that the highest daily average for any one month on record was established by the railroads in October, 1927, when an average of 34.7 miles was attained. This exceeded by four-tenths of one mile the best previous average, which was in October, 1926.

As compared with the effectiveness with which equipment was handled in the five-year period of 1922-1926, inclusive, the average freight car movement in 1927 was higher in every month.

This faster movement of freight in the past two years is due not only to the more prompt handling of loaded and empty cars, but also to the more prompt loading and unloading of freight cars by shippers.

SELECTIVE IMMIGRATION.

If congress adopts the pending immigration bill fixing quotas there will be admitted into the United States fewer Germans, fewer Irish from the Free State, and more British and Ulstermen. Of the remaining European nations Italy and Poland may admit about 5,000 a year each. Three-fourths of the yearly immigration will come from Great Britain, Germany and Ireland.

The Brooklyn Eagle, claiming that a congressional adoption of the latest proposal will make immigration selective in fact if not in theory, has figured that Great Britain and northern Ireland may send us 65,894 immigrants a year, some 7,100 less than under the plan of a year ago but almost 32,000 more than under the schedule now in force. The Irish Free State may send us 17,427 immigrants; it would have sent us about 3,500 fewer under the rejected plan, but it actually sends us about 11,100 more under the present law. Germany loses more heavily than any other Eurepan nation; while it now has a quota of 51,227 immigrants, this would decline under the latest proposal to 24,908, which is but 1,500 or so more than was proposed a year ago. Italy would be allowed 5,989 immigrants under the scheme now offered; it actually sends us 2,100 fewer than that number, which is, however, less than that suggested a year ago.

GEORGIA'S FARM PROGRAM.

On this page is a thoughtful communication on cotton production from Charles Molony, of Dublin, president and general manager of the Wrightsville and Tennille, and several other short lines of railroads in south Georgia.

Mr. Molony shows that while many other states have over-produced the staple in recent years, on a basis of land area, Georgia has under-produced. The correspondent calls further attention to the fact that Georgia leads all of the ten states cited in the production of peaches, melons, peanuts, sweet potatoes, sugar cane syrup and vegetables. It will show increased tobacco production in 1928, he says.

The point is that while Georgia is entiled to produce 1,116,326 bales of cotton in 1928, on a basis of a gross American production of 14,000,000 bales, that cotton should be produced on less acres than planted in 1926 or 1927. That is to say Georgia cotton producers should pay specific attention to increasing the pound production on the acre rather than the incorporation of more acres under a plow. This can be accomplished only by intensive farming, and this system of farming will not only materially reduce production costs, but control weevil infestation.

It was demonstrated in the 5-acre cotton contests in 1927, and has variously been demonstrated before, that any section of Georgia can produce 500 pounds of lint or more to the acre at substantial profits to the producer, provided a program of intensive, progressive and business-like cultivation is adopted, and vigorously administered.

It is a fact that the farmer who produces only the statistical "average" in Georgia produces at a loss. Again by reducing the acreage to the plow, and by cultivating intensively the surplus acreages thus released can be turned over to other money crops, in the production of which this state leads in a number of commodities.

Just as Mr. Molony suggests, Georgia is not to be lectured for over-production of cotton. The farmers have made marvelous strides in balanced production. The idea is not to make less cotton, but to make more to the acre and to make it a surplus crop. And by the same program "live at home," fill the barns and smokehouses, and grow also several other-than-cotton money crops.

The National Educational association, representing 800,000 school teachers, are in session at Boston. If they only had the soft job of instructing state delegates how to vote in national conventions.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Kalinin's Tie.

The tie, that curious and often cumbersome masculine ornament, has always been a rarity in Russia, even in czarist days. The peasantry wore blouses and therefore did not need it. The intelligentsia despised it as a bourgeois superstition, no doubt. The bolshevik revolution, with its well-known audacity, completely abolished this useless piece of masculine haberdashery. Yet recently a certain individual had the courage to appear in public with an enormous tie around his neck. That man was Kalinin, the peasant commissar, who goes out to the farms and talks to the moujiks as one of their own. For a member of the government executive to come out with a tie constituted nothing less than a scandal. The papers spoke about it. One man, so a Moscow paper reports, went up to Kalinin and posed the question: "How is it that you, Michel Ivanovitch, dare to wear a bourgeois cravat?" And Kalinin replied simply: "Comrade, the moment I wear it, it ceases to be bourgeois."

The "Internationale."

In the palace once inhabited by the tsars of all the Russias, a room is being prepared for a man of 80, who has been invited to spend the remainder of his days in the "Home for the Veterans of the Revolution." When he arrives at the railway station in Moscow, he will be greeted by a brass band playing a familiar piece. He will probably hear the piece of music every day for the rest of his life. Should he die in Moscow and be buried, like other revolutionary veterans, outside the wall of the Kremlin, that music will be his funeral dirge. He wrote it. Pierre de Geyter was born in Ghent in the revolutionary year 1848. At the age of 40, five years after the death of Eugene Pottier, of whom he undoubtedly knew more, de Geyter seated himself at a table one evening and perused a revolutionary poem written by Pottier. It began: "Debout! les damnes de la terre! Debout les focats de la faim! De Geyter set it to music and the "Internationale" was born. It is now the anthem of soviet Russia, the rallying song of communists and revolutionists the world over.

"Pas D'Enfants."

The Afghanistan monarch and his suite have left the European continent and are being entertained by King George. At Liverpool the Ameer will go down in a submarine and inspect an Atlantic ocean liner, the Berengaria. This is the closest he will get to America. For, although the ameer was anxious to cross to the new world, his ministers of state, who accompany him on the tour, were not favorably disposed to a longer absence from their native land. Financial and political reasons entered strongly into consideration. An interesting incident during the Afghan majesties' visit to Paris was their curiosity as to the number of children of various high personages. To each lady or gentleman, the queen, who is the mother of eight, asked under one form of another Napoleon's famous question, "How many children?" Their astonishment grew as they received the negative answer. M. Doumergue, the president, a bachelor; M. Briand, foreign minister, also a bachelor; M. and Madame Poincare, no children; M. and Madame Herriot, no children; M. and Madame Philippe Berthelot, no children; etc., etc.

The Yser.

When the skies are cloudy and low and a drizzling rain drenches man and beast, they get their motion picture cameras out in Flanders to film the "Battle of the Yser," the Belgian counterpart of the French film "Verdun." In order to get a realistic portrayal of the Yser episode it is necessary for men to grovel right down in the thick mud and perform almost unbelievable stunts in water-logged ditches and dugouts. People come from afar to watch the "shooting." Younger persons are astonished to see men dressed as soldiers covered with mud and filth crawl about on their bellies. this was the occupation of tens of thousands of human beings for the better part of three years. It also gives a slight hint as to the depths of degradation and humiliation to which war brought men.

Odds & Ends of City Life

BY BILL SHIPPEN

And reporters, fretting with deadline copy, answer as best they can queries like this:

"I hear whistles blowing—why?"

"When will Senator Heflin speak again?"

"Can I catch a bus to Macon?"

"What would we do if the president and vice president died?"

"Do they make automobiles in Birmingham?"

"Our radio says Lindbergh is flying. But something has happened. Is it static? Or has Lindy cracked-up?"

I heard a debutante in a theater lobby say Gene Tunney had savoir faire, whatever that may signify. Wonder if Dempsey would agree.

Hers might have been the quaint French phraseology of "rabbit punch" or it might have meant Tunney has teacup technic. But no one in this office comprehends French, and Webster refuses to explain the wisecrack.

Still, the remark was not entirely lost. One gathered the commentator had "traveled extensively on the continent," as society editors would rhapsodize.

People who can pronounce words like that always stun me. When they talk of champagne cocktails, caviar and liner salons, I relapse into a terrific silence and dare not mention that trip I made to Macon last year.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

Edison's Search for Synthetic Rubber From Natural Nonelastics.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 5.—(Special.)—Down here in a lovely home and a mysterious laboratory there lives during the winters, and is now busily "projicking" with his curious apparatuses, Thomas Alva Edison, greatest of all the scientific wonder-working wizards. I do not know, and I doubt if he does offhand, how many governments, learned societies, scientific associations and universities have conferred upon him decorations, degrees, medals and miscellaneous testimonials of honor and appreciation.

I do know that back yonder in 1878, when I was secretary to the American commission at the Paris Universal Exposition, the French government was the first to acclaim the amazing genius of Edison and to confer upon him the cross of the "Legion of Honor," then far more valuable and prized than now when it is as common as pig tracks.

* * * *

He Is Now Rubber-Necking.

Although he is 81 years old and has just celebrated the forty-second anniversary of his wedding, those little incidents have not abated his indefatigable industry. He is busily searching earth and sea to discover some plant, or grass, or weed of the water, that can be transmuted into rubber in quantities and qualities of commercial value and effects.

As there are 600 listed articles of daily commerce that are fabricated from rubber, and some of them consume vast tonnages of the elastic stuff, one can see how important is Edison's search and what tremendous results may follow its success.

In 1926 the United States imported rubber, crude and milk, to the amount of 925,877,712 pounds, valued at over $500,000,000. More than a third of it came from the British Straits Settlements, and the bulk of the balance from Dutch East Indies, Ceylon and Brazil, the latter sending us nearly 12,000,000 pounds. A considerable part of the Asian rubber plantations are American owned.

Ford Is Following the Hunt.

Henry Ford is next door neighbor to Edison down here and is naturally much interested in the latter's rubber hunt. Ford uses enormous amounts of rubber, but relies upon another neighbor here, that Firestone on whose tires so many of the world's joyriders live, and move, and do their spooning.

Ford has obtained a great concession of rubber-growing lands in Brazil, while Firestone is carrying on a large experiment of growing rubber trees here in southern Florida.

The Ford and Firestone adventures are not specific evidences of their skepticism concerning Edison's explorations. On the contrary they are deeply interested in what the wizard is doing and are hopeful that he will yet find the right convertible natural product that can be converted into commercial rubber in quantities that will make America independent of foreign sources of supply.

That Phony Airplane Engine.

It impresses me that this handy juggler with the juice we call electricity is not much intrigued by that newly constructed airplane engine that was recently submitted, in model, to Lindy in Detroit. The claim that it will pick its electric power out of the earth and the air while in action through the empyream, and thus be able to develop, as it were, perpetual motion and make nonstop circuits of the terrestrial ball, sounds phony to the wizard.

He once explained to me that the natural electricity with which we are acquainted is produced by the revolution of the earth in its atmospheric envelope. It is the product of the friction of the earth magnet on the atmospheric brush.

It was by duplicating that process that the dynamo was invented and constructed. The revolution of the magnet and its friction against the surrounding brushes produces the electricity of commerce.

The electricity produced by the earth's revolutions holds in the atmosphere that surrounds us in proportion to the latter's density. The higher we go in the air the rarer is the atmosphere and the less its capacity to hold the electric energy; so that one can go so high in balloons, or airplanes, as to find the most delicate electrical instrument failing to function.

So that an engine or other instrument, needs to operate very close to the earth in its denser atmosphere, in order to pick up power from either the earth or the air.

There is scarcely any electricity discoverable above the cloud belts. The clouds, being moist sponges, as it were, collect the electricity in both positive and negative states, and it is when a positive and a negative cloud come into near contact that we observe the phenomenon of lighting flashes passing between them, or darting down to the powerful magnet, the earth.

Therefore, unless accepted theories and known facts about electricity are all wrong the new airplane engine will prove as dud!

Americans Capturing Control.

One of the important facts connected with electrical affairs is that our Americans are capturing control of the world's lines of communication. In telegraph and cable systems, in wireless and in radio, the Americans, by their capital and corporation activities, have obtained masterful holds upon the agencies by which the British, the French, the Germans and the Japanese hold contract with each other and the balance of the civilized globe.

This great fact is disturbing the diplomatic, as well as the commercial, leaders in foreign countries. They see in it another evidence that the United States is becoming the superpower in the areas of civilization, and that the other sheaves in the field are coming to bow down to that of Uncle Sam, even as Joseph saw such phenomena prophesied in his famous dream.

* * * *

All Argue for World Peace.

The fact that further adds strongly to the arguments for a protocol of world peace. Uncle Sam's power in men, money, inventions, invested interests, and ability to impoverish and starve out another general war, is making it inevitable that the saner nations that wish to live and prosper, must stack arms, sink their sea-sharks, and sign on the dotted line the universal contract that "the sword shall devour no more" and there shall be hereafter "peace on earth and good will to men!"

Georgia Is Not Overproducing Cotton, Says Prominent Georgia Rail Executive

Editor Constitution: In 1926 the largest cotton crop ever produced in the United States reached 18,598,000 bales; and of this large crop 17,940,000 bales, or more than 96 per cent, came from 10 states. And figuring the land area and the cotton production of these 10 states, the general average calculates 25.3736 bales per square mile; and on this basis Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina and North Carolina OVER-produced, as the following statement shows, while there was UNDER-production in Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee and Georgia:

Texas	262,398	5,900,000	6,657,982	....
Oklahoma	69,414	1,950,000	1,761,283	188,717
Arkansas	52,525	1,620,000	1,332,748	287,252
Mississippi	46,362	1,930,000	1,176,371	753,629
Lousiana	45,409	820,000	1,152,190	....
Totals	707,034	17,940,000	17,940,000	1,687,987
Production, Average Bales per Sq. Mile..		25.3736

In the last seven years, from 1921 through 1927, there was UNDER production of cotton in Georgia. So, if there is to be a reduced cotton crop to 14,000,000 bales for the United States for 1928, then Georgia will be entitled by its land area to produce 1,116,326 bales.

Georgia leads all of these 10 cotton states in the production of peaches, watermelons, peanuts, sweet potatoes, sugar cane syrup, and vegetables, and along with its other crops Georgia will show increased production of tobacco in 1928.

GEORGIA CHALLENGES COMPARISON IN CROP DIVERSIFICATION!

CHARLES MOLONY.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

BY ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.

Station Whathavu Speaking.

In order that I might get a line on a question which a correspondent raised today, I assumed the role of the "questioning reporter" and asked four acquaintances: "What have you?"

The first pierced me with a resentful look and practically said: "None of your business."

The second, after a little persuasion and a promise that I wouldn't mention his name, replied: "A house nearly paid for, a life insurance policy that will be paid up next year and quite a tidy sum in the bank."

The third—a married man with a fine group of children—acknowledged: "I've nothing—absolutely nothing. I'm in debt up to my neck, the landlord has raised the rent and I'm selling my automobile."

The fourth (he misunderstood me) said: "Nothing just now but I expect to see my bootlegger early next week."

None of these men answered my "What have you?" in terms of health, children, books, character, home, wife, garden, or friends.

What Can We Expect.

After all didn't these average men vindicate my correspondent who writes: "At the University of Wisconsin, where a student vote was taken to find out whether students would prefer a 'W' (University Athletic emblem) or a Phi Beta Kappa key (emblematic of the highest of scholastic honors), it was discovered that the vote was about nine to one in favor of the 'W.' Isn't there something wrong with this appraisal of values? Any fool should know that a Phi Beta Kappa key is worth a dozen athletic emblems."

If a husband's inventory of wealth does not include health, splendid youngsters, an attractive home presided over by the "finest little wife in the world," how can we expect impressionable youth to correctly value scholarship when everyone is howling over athletics, automobiles and dollars?

Reasonably intelligent persons should know that achievements of the mind are of greater consequence than achievements of the body, that a contented life is better than the possession of great riches; that children who are worthy a good name are worth more than bonds; that a helpmate wife is an asset of inestimable value. But they don't.

Ask the alumni of any university whether they would rather attend, a graduating exercise in which one hundred Kappa keys would be awarded or a game between their university and a rival university and what would the answer be? We needn't count the votes because there are none in one of the hats.

Did you ever listen to a college president make his report at an alumni gathering? Too often it's about stadiums, athletic fields, bigger auditoriums—big, bigger, biggest, best. The physical equipment may be of the nineteenth century, the professors may be starving, the classrooms may be dingy—Who cares? Perhaps I exaggerate a bit. I do— for the sake of emphasis.

Read the college happenings in any newspaper. Does it give three columns and a square foot of headlines to the awarding of a scholastic honor key? Did you ever see a picture of a Phi Beta Kappa man making a touchdown or kicking the key between the goal posts? Newspapers will illustrate and feature scholarship when the readers want it.

How many Kiwanis clubs have ever honored the father whose boy received a scholastic honors key? But let the youngster get a "W" or an "M" or a "C" or a "Y" or an "H" or a "P" and he'll be asked to make a speech telling all about it.

Now why ask youth to have high standards and a better sense of real values than presidents of colleges, alumni, Kiawanians or newspaper readers?

P. S.—Very confidentially—and between ourselves, which would you, Mr. Father and Mrs. Mother, rather your boy brought home—a Phi Beta Kappa key or an athletic emblem?

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER.

Charlie's Custards.

My 21-year-old son roars at the Sunday page funnies, ties tin cans on cats' tails and tickles his sister's child nearly to death. Is he crazy?

VEXED MOTHER.

Answer.—His jokes are on infantile level. As far as his sense of humor goes he has never grown up and his "joke age" is around 6. What his "mental age" is I have no way of telling.

Fixation.

I learn new ways in cooking school but I cannot get mother to change her methods. How can I get her to break away?

FUTURE HOME-MAKER.

Answer.—She has job "fixation." Anyone whose work absorbs all their time over long periods is apt to get "sot" in their way. This is particularly true after youth has fled. Then new and better ideas are accepted with great difficulty. In some persons a false sense of self-importance sets up a defense line of pride. This applies to all lines of human activity. Yours is no easy problem but slowly and gently mother can be brought to better methods.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

ONE SNEEZE DOESN'T MAKE THE CRI.

Chronic low grade inflammation in the lining of the nose chambers is a pretty common condition. Whether due to our general habit of overheating dwellings, or the equally prevalent habit of overindulging in food, or the constant irritation produced by dust, smoke and noxious gases in the atmosphere of civilized places, or the depraving influence of aridity or lack of humidity in the heated atmosphere in which we live most of the time, or to the repeated insults and the repeated injuries of bacterial infections, or to the now happily diminishing tendency to coddle with excessive clothing, or to several of these factors combined, chronic rhinitis is probably a contender with dental caries or decay of the teeth for the bad eminence of the most prevalent disease. Some folks might imagine constipation is the most prevalent disease. But I deny that constipation is a disease, in the vast majority of cases. It is merely a bad habit.

Some dentist recently asserted, according to the press, that there are only a handful, three or four, I think he said, of persons in the country with perfect teeth. Allowing for everything I venture to estimate that it would be difficult to recruit an army of a million people of adult age without chronic rhinitis in one form or another.

It is going to be dificult to talk about the prevention of this trouble without letting any symptoms sneak in here. Still, we'd rather tell a thousand symptoms than permit one unnecessary case of "catarrh" to happen.

There is such a superfluity of cases of chronic rhinitis that we have to divide them into several classes, though possibly all classes or types begin in the same fashion as does simple chronic rhinitis. In simple chronic rhinitis the outstanding feature is more or less constant obstruction or partial obstruction of first one nostril then the other. Proper examination discloses a simple chronic inflammation of the mucous lining of the nose and nothing more. This develops usually in childhood. It is capable of doing all the harm that adenoids or enlarged tonsils may do. It is too often ignored or overlooked. Persons with simple chronic rhinitis are fond of thinking they are "very susceptible" to what they obstinately call "colds." So are old fogy physicians who have neither the equipment nor the skill to look inside the nasal cavity and find out what is the matter. I think, too, that chronic rhinitis sufferers are in fact more sensitive to the purely mechanical reactions of the circulation to surface cold and warmth; at least they are more keenly conscious of temporary congestion in the nose or throat than normal persons are, but perhaps that is merely because they have less room in their nasal chambers for the swelling or intumescence that occurs with congestion. Another misleading symptom of chronic simple rhinitis is sneezing—the victim can and does sneeze on little provocation, and the type of mind that is content to endure chronic rhinitis requires only a few sneezes to make a "cold." These manifestations of abnormal sensitivity to natural variation of the circulation, in chronic rhinitis, account for the greater part of the popular misconception that one can be made ill by a draft or too sudden change in temperature. The mossback physicians and politically fortunate health officers who share this popular misconception are incompetent to recognize rhinitis unless the patient tells them he has it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Keeping Doctor Away.

In a recent answer you assured a correspondent that the "bad taste" he noted the morning after indulging in three apples at bedtime was not due to any poisoning from the spraying of the apples. Why did you not, as a health authority, go further and point out that even one apple at night—let alone three!—would give anyone indigestion? (M. H. W.)

Answer—Mainly, because I don't believe one or three apples at bedtime will give anyone indigestion. Frankly I don't like apples very much—naturally, being a doctor—but sometimes I eat two or three at bedtime just because I believe they're good for my teeth. No, I can't agree that there is sound basis for the old saying concerning fruit: "Gold in the morning; silver at noon; lead at night."

Prevention of Goiter.

Does a person who eats very little food containing iodine have a tendency to develop goiter? How long does it take for a tumor to develop? What causes tumor? Is operation the only cure? (G. D.)

Answer—The cause of simple goiter, so common among school children in the middle western states, is a shortage of iodin in the food. It has been observed that the adoption of iodized salt in place of common salt for cooking and table use is sufficient to prevent goiter in most instances. If the consumption of sea fish and shell fish were increased in these goiter regions, probably that would make good the iodin deficiency. Tumor means a swelling, lump or growth of almost any kind.

Good Footwear.

Kindly advise me what shoes are scientific and where they may be purchased? Can the large toe of the average person who has been wearing ordinary shoes be brought back to normal by changing to the fore mentioned shoes? (P. A. H.)

Answer—I reckon every manufacturer considers his line of shoes "scientific;" surely every shoe clerk who doubles as a "specialist" does. These days many makes of shoes are hygienic. I can't specify makes here. Just select shoes having straight inside sole lines, broad toes, low wide heels.

The Most Expensive Thing You Can Get Is Something Offered Free

By Robert Quillen

Don't trust the man who offers to do something for you "without placing you under the slightest obligation." He means well, but human nature is stronger than his good intentions.

Suppose he sells coffee grinders. He wishes to place one in your home on trial and let it sell itself. He thinks you will fall in love with it. He says you will be under no obligation to buy, but he expects you to buy.

You know that comparison alone will enable you to discover the best coffee grinder made, and while you have his machine for trial you get several others on the same terms. And you decide one of the others is the best.

What happens? The man comes for his machine and your decision. He gets both. He tries to be a good loser and puts on a sickly, unconvincing smile. But he is as sore as a mashed thumb, and his very tone of voice proclaims his belief that you have given him a raw deal. If he gets off the premises without kicking the cat, it is a rare exhibition of self-control.

Moreover, he leaves you feeling irritated. You have an uneasy feeling that you didn't treat him fairly, and you hate him for making you feel that way.

It is an unhappy business from beginning to end, and it is typical of all experience having to do with things that are "free."

You can't accept favors without feeling under obligation, and you can't accept favors without making the other fellow think you are under obligation. It simply can't be done.

Nothing is free. The "free service" is charged in the bill where you can't see it. And usually it costs you more than it would cost if it wore a price tax.

If you would keep your self-respect, peace of mind and sense of freedom, pay for what you get and sic the dog on anybody who offers you something for nothing.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Louisville, Ky.

What can be done to prevent the appalling waste of life and limb by auto traffic? I ask the question as a brother clergyman who recently has had to officiate at several funerals of victims of this traffic, mostly children, and my own little daughter has been seriously injured.

During the five years ending with 1927 3,446,370 persons were reported injured and 114,879 killed throughout the United States in traffic accidents, most of which were avoidable. This means that some one is either killed or injured every 41 seconds. The annual casualty list due to highway collisions and traffic accidents is more than twice as great as that incurred by the American expeditionary force in the world war.

Charles F. Upham states that 7,000 children of school age are killed every year, the majority of whom were playing or crossing the street. Pedestrians constitute two-thirds of the number of deaths, nearly all of which have been pronounced needless.

After allowing for the unavoidable accidents which occur with the rapid spread of an exceedingly dangerous vehicular traffic, at least 75 per cent of the appalling totals enumerated above could be eliminated by proper care exercised by motorists and pedestrians alike. Sufficient time has now elapsed for the cultivation of autobile sense in both groups.

Yet endless risks are continually run in all parts of the country by those who display a lawless spirit and, what is worse, contempt for human life. The principal offenders are speed maniacs, joy riders, jay walkers, truck and taxi drivers and those who are not qualified to drive at all.

Children and adults should be as carefully drilled in the use of the streets and highways as though these were the trunk line of a great railroad system. Motorists who rely solely on skill and quickness precipitate trouble almost as frequently as those who lack these qualities. Both kinds should be compelled to observe strictly the rules of the road and offenders should be promptly deprived of their driving licenses.

Youngsters who steal rides or race in and out of heavy traffic deserves punishment. Amateurs who make Saturday and Sundays days of slaughter should be altogether barred and promptly jailed upon conviction. Playgrounds and open spaces for boys, girls and older people ought to be far more extensively provided than they are in thickly populated centers. Those who feel their personal responsibility for motor traffic are recommended to study "Safety Hints to Drivers" and "Safety Rules for Pedestrians," by S. Edgar Mills, South Lancaster, Mass., two excellent manuals by an old hand at the wheel. Those who have no sense of such responsibility should be kept under police surveillance.

The registrar of motor vehicles for Massachusetts reports 4,564 convictions for drunkenness during 1925 while driving motors. There is no reason to suppose that the Bay State is any worse proportionately in this respect than are other commonwealths. After judicial determination of their guilt intoxicated motorists should be jailed without option of a fine and permanently excluded from driving thereafter.

The national character is at stake in this business. It needs the resolute development without which the best police control will not avail.

Safe driving and safe walking are requisites of good citizenship. No speeding up for the sake of personal or commercial advantage can excuse the murderous consequences here indicated. The lives wiped out by criminal folly and carelessness mean infinitely more to the nation than our boasted quickness of movement, the mechanism of which is now clogged with innocent blood.

Lansing, Mich.

What is Christian doctrine in itself? I often hear it named as an essential, but do not quite understand its nature.

Christian doctrine in essence is a speculative structure reared on the basis of religious experience. As n example, take the Christology on which all Christianity depends for its authority and benefit.

It originated in the historical Jesus, at first regarded as the Son of Man, then as Lord and Saviour; later as the Eternal Word and the Only Begotten Son of the Father. These great judgments are embodied in the creeds of the church universal because they express the deepest convictions of those who knew Jesus and recognized in Him the Christ.

Their beliefs were the product of their knowledge of His eternal significance as a personality and of the eternal values embodied and expressed in Him and His teachings. He is for them and for all who share their experience the incarnation of those supreme realities in which God reveals Himself to man.

Of course, doctrine is shaped or colored by the philosophers of its period. So in Christianity we find both a vital experience and the richest contemporary wisdom available as the form in which that experience is cast. But the experience of Jesus as the Christ exists in all believers, whatever form it may assume.

When Gloom Is a Help

BY FRED C. KELLY

Disadvantages of presenting a proposition on a rainy day are offset somewhat by the fact that one may often obtain an audience with a man who on a bright day would be so busy that he could not be reached. Many salesmen take the view that it is better to see a man, even when he is not in the mood, than not to see him at all. Others prefer to wait months, if need be, to make their first appeal when conditions are exactly right.

Life insurance agents know that their work is much easier in gloomy weather. People are then more inclined to appreciate uncertainties of this life. A big tornado insurance company gets storm reports from all parts of the country, and make it a point to stir up their agents in any section which has recently suffered storm damage. That brings to mind a windmill agent who, by chance, elected to work in a locality which had just undergone the calmest season in 30 years. After that he consulted the weather before picking his territory.

A cement contractor in the middle west became disgusted at the whims of weather in his locality—freezing cold one day and warm the next. When there was no danger of his work being ruined by a freeze, he had to run the risk of delays on account of rain. He moved about 200 miles farther south, to a section which rarely suffered a freeze, though there was a good deal of rain. At about the same time a dealer in building supplies in the same middle west town moved to a place a day's journey north, because he believed the colder weather there would mean a demand for heavier, more expensive building material, and more of it.

An electric light company in a good-sized city found that while cloudy days caused more current to be used, the gain was offset somewhat by the number of dissatisfied customers when they received their bills. The company then fell into the habit of calling attention occasionally to the unusually large number of dark, cloudy days in the preceding month, and there were no further complaints.

Ice companies sometimes do an interesting bit of figuring based on thermometer records. They know how many pounds of ice they have delivered each day to a regular list of customers. A certain number of pounds will melt each day, and must be replaced, the number depending upon temperature. By studying the thermometer at the close of almost any day, the company can tell, within a surprisingly few pounds, the amount of ice their customers will require on the day following.

License Cotton Buyers, Says Harvie Jordan

Editor Constitution: With widespread expansion of the cotton spinning and manufacturing industry in the south a large number of mills require lint cotton of better character and staple than is now generally grown in the cotton belt states. Finer yarns and better fabrics must be woven to meet the demand of consumers.

Efforts are being made to induce farmers to plant seed that will produce staple lint of 1 1-16 and 1 1-8 inch lint. Hundreds of farmers are ready and willing to plant and produce staples to meet the demand of the mills if they are assured of the better prices or premiums the mills pay for such cotton. The leading obstacle at present in the way of improved staple in the southeastern cotton states is found in the fact that but few of our local buyers are trained or experienced in stapling cotton.

Practically all of the cotton bought from farmers in the local markets is based upon color of the staple and current market prices offered for short staple 7-8-inch, regardless of the superior character and staple of the lint offered for sale. This difficulty can only be obviated by each state enacting a law to license each local cotton buyer after passing a thorough examination on grades, character and staples according to the standard types of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Special examinations are now provided for nearly every department of business and the grading and stapling of spot cotton should be no exception to the rule. Thousands of dollars are lost annually by farmers who do not receive the full market value for their better staples when sold in the local markets.

TEST OF DRY LAW SEEN AS ECONOMIC

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5.—(AP) Prohibition will meet its supreme test in the determination by present and future generations whether it is in full harmony with modern social demands and economic law, and not whether it fits in with plans of professional politicians, Earnest H. Cherrington, chairman of the education department of the Anti-Saloon league, declared here tonight.

Delivering his second address of the day at the league's southeastern states prohibition convention, he told an audience that almost filled the First Baptist church that although it is "vitally important that the wets attempt to place an enemy of the eighteenth amendment in the white house be defeated, it is even more important to realize that the next generation as well as the next election must be considered."

"The supreme test of prohibition will be whether it is in full harmony with modern social demands and economic law and not whether it fits in with the plans of professional politicians. Statutes may change, constitutional provisions may be amended or repealed, political expediency may alter, public opinion may shift, but a social policy that can be tested with the cold accuracy of economic law and public safety is based on everlasting granite. That is the supreme test which prohibition meets today, which will determine whether, after all, it is a passing fad or a permanent policy of free government.

"Prohibition has been in the testing period from its beginning and has passed successfully all those tests, legal and experimental, and the test of enforcement even under adverse conditions. None of these, however, has approached in importance and significance the test it now faces. The past is safe. The real problem has to do with the present and future.

"Enforcement efficiency, the strictest of laws, even the eighteenth amendment, carry in themselves no guarantee of the permanency of prohibition.

"For 25 years the main emphasis was on education. In the last ten years necessarily the great emphasis was on legislation, enforcement and political action. We are at the stage now when the main emphasis must be laid on the dissemination of truth.

"We have reached the place where we can no longer take the defensive but must resume the offensive.

"The colleges, universities and high schools, with their three million young people, who will take their places in the life of the nation soon, are the laboratory where will be demonstrated whether the next generation will take care of this question or let it go by the board."

The drys' new educational drive, Dr. Cherrington said, must include "a flood of literature, embracing every form of publicity, and use of the radio, the motion picture, the pulpit and platform and the personal letter to spread the truth about prohibition."

His proposals also took in a plan to supplement this by educational work in schools and colleges, which, he said, had been omitted or slighted in many states since prohibition despite laws in most commonwealths requiring instruction in the social aspect of the liquor traffic.

ATLANTA IS READY TO WELCOME FLYER

before another 10 years have passed. The famous pilot, who is making a flying-lecture tour of 100 cities in 48 states in the interest of aviation and the promotion of airports, has set for himself the task of further awakening the United States to the need for preparation now for what is yet to come. He is advocating the establishment of airports in all the cities he visits, and is urging the organization of flying clubs and flying schools, where novice aviators will receive instruction at the hands of experienced fliers, thus eliminating the danger of flying which is entailed by inexperience and lack of flying judgment.

Ready for Suggestions.

"I can see from the response of citizens in the few cities I have already visited, that the country is ready for such suggestions as I bring. There is a keen interest in aviation already manifest. The orders for planes are the best evidence of this. But there are other elements to be considered. Quietly, in many places of which we hear little, people are studying aviations. They are groping their way before making the attempt to fly at all. That is as it should be, too. We are quick to see the advantages of new things in this country, but sometimes slow to plunge into them. It was so with the automobile. But the course is clearly marked already. New safety devices are being invented to insure the inexperienced flier a reasonable security in the air. There will be many more before the nation has taken to flying popularly."

In his advocacy of more airports, Mr. Chamberlin takes the position that the need for them is already present, and that those communities which do not have them within a few years will be as out of the way as towns without railroad stations are today.

CLARENCE CHAMBERLIN SPENDS NIGHT IN MACON.

Macon, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Clarence Chamberlin, New York-to-Germany flier, arrived here at 5:47 o'clock this afternoon from Belleaire, Fla. The trans-Atlantic flier will spend the night here and plans to hop off at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for Atlanta.

Chamberlin landed at Cordele, Ga., 60 miles south of here, for fuel, and then came directly to Miller field here.

Tonight he was entertained along with 50 members of the Chicago Kiwanis club at a dinner-dance at the Idle Hour club.

Chamberlin had been expected here for the southeastern air derby last month but was unable to reach here at that time.

said to be only lukewarm in support of Hungary.

Much is expected to depend on the attitude of Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, as Great Britain is regarded as the most disinterested of the powers in this particular question which likely will come up definitely at tomorrow's meeting of the council.

Exchange of visits between the leading statesmen continued late tonight. Sir Austen Chamberlain had conferences with Dr. Walko, Hungarian foreign minister, and Signor Scialoia, of Italy. M. Briand, the French foreign minister, also had talks with Dr. Gustav Stresemann, representing Germany, and with the Hungarian and Polish foreign ministers.

TECHNICIANS TO MEET ON DISARMAMENT.

London, March 5.—(United News.) The league of nations intends to substitute for a general disarmament conference a series of meetings of technical experts. The Exchange Telegraph's Geneva correspondent said tonight. Russia, which has drafted a plan for complete disarmament, will be invited to the technical meetings, the correspondent said.

ARMS PARLEY OUT FOR YEAR.

Geneva, March 5.—(United News.) All hope that the league of nations' first general disarmament conference might be held this year was shattered today.

With ten foreign ministers in Geneva for the 49th session of the league council, which opened today, the league's security commission decided to submit all its resolutions, embodying the results of its deliberations here, to the league's September assembly.

This makes it impossible to get the assembly's approval of the commission's recommendations and organize a disarmament conference before 1929—thus justifying the predictions of observers, who at the recent preparatory disarmament conference here, foresaw the year's delay.

The security commission will recommend to the assembly that the league council offer its help in negotiating regional agreements providing for non-aggression, arbitration, and mutual defense pledges.

Claussen, Metropolitan Star, Keen for Annual Season Here

:: Noted Mezzo-Soprano Stops Over on Concert Tour ::

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Star singers of the Metropolitan Opera company are looking forward with eager expectancy to their approaching visit to Atlanta and many of them are counting the days until the "outing down south" comes on April 23 to 28, when the eighteenth season of grand opera will be offered in Atlanta by the Metropolitan company, according to Miss Julia Claussen, famous mezzo-soprano, who spent Monday in Atlanta.

Miss Claussen stopped over for a short visit to Atlanta on her way to Birmingham to fill a concert engagement Tuesday night. She was greeted by a coterie of friends at the Biltmore to whom she expressed much enthusiasm over the visit of the Metropolitan company to Atlanta next month.

"Atlanta people are so good to us we look forward to our visit here with keen anticipation," Miss Claussen said. "We really do enjoy the Atlanta engagement more than any during the year. In New York the singers live in various parts of the city, they do not meet often in one group and it is only when we come south that we are all together like one big family."

Visits Home in Sweden.

Miss Claussen just returned recently from a trip to Europe and for the first time in three years she visited her old home town, Stockholm, Sweden.

"I sang in several operas at Stockholm and enjoyed my visit there immensely," she said. "I have been back in this country only a few weeks but have been quite busy. I sang in 'Die Walkure' in New York Saturday night and after a concert in Birmingham, one in Baltimore and one in Boston I shall be back in New York next Saturday night to sing in 'Aida' and this will keep me on the move for the next few days."

During the Atlanta season this spring Miss Claussen will sing the role of "Brunnhilde" in Wagner's "Die Walkure." Last season she sang the leading role in "Lohengrin" in Atlanta.

"Nine operas for Atlanta will provide quite an ambitious array of singers," Miss Claussen said. "Among the hits of this season is the revival of 'Norma,' which, I understand, will be sung during the Atlanta engagement."

Laments Warfield's Death.

Miss Claussen expressed deep regret over the death of S. Davies Warfield, of Baltimore, president of the Seaboard Air Line railway, and formerly a director of the Atlanta Music Festival association.

"I heard the news of Mr. Warfield's death while abroad and I almost had to go to bed, it affected me so much," she said. "He was our real, true friend and was a noble man in every respect."

Although Miss Claussen was not present at the debut of Miss Grace Moore, Tennessee girl, now a member of the Metropolitan forces, she said she had heard many words of praise from other members of the company for this girl's work.

"She's young and ambitious and possesses much natural ability," she said.

Miss Claussen said the selections of operas for the Atlanta season are exceptionally good and said the members of the Metropolitan company will go the limit to give Atlanta some great performances.

PLAN NEW RAILROAD IN NORTH CAROLINA

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—The construction of a new line of railroad between High Point and Winston-Salem, in North Carolina, is to be undertaken by the High Point, Thomasville and Denton railroad, it was announced today in the filing of preliminary papers with the interstate commerce commission.

The electric railroad's application to the commission said that the present rail distance between Winston-Salem and High Point was 70 miles, but that its project would make a route 20 miles long between the two cities.

The commission was asked to give the necessary approval and the company promised to furnish full details.

ENGLISH TEXTILE WORKERS REJECT TERMS PROPOSED

Manchester, England, March 5.—(AP)—An adjourned conference between representatives of the employers and trade unions on the crisis in the cotton trade broke down today.

The parties were unable to agree on terms regarding the appointment of a committee of inquiry.

Today's meeting was a continuation of one held last Monday concerning various points on which no agreement had been reached. At the conclusion of last week's meeting some progress had been made, chiefly in the agreement by the employers to withdraw their demands for an increase in working hours from 48 to 52 and of a reduction of wages by 12 1-2 per cent.

At that time, however, the trade unions still found themselves unable to accept the proposal of the employers which was to take the place of a statutory commission appointed by the government, a suggestion which the unions had made.

METHODISTS UNITE IN BRITISH ISLES

London, March 5.—(United News.) So rapid has been the progress toward unification of the branches of the Methodist church in Great Britain that it is now predicted one united Methodist church in England will be an accomplished fact within five years.

Back of this belief is the fact that the opposition of the Wesleyan Methodists to the unification is weakening considerably. At their last conference, the resolution in favor of immediate action aiming toward unification of the Wesleyan Methodists, the Primitive Methodists and the United Methodists failed to receive the three-quarters majority necessary.

Nevertheless, another resolution sponsored by the Rev. John Hornabrook and adopted by both sessions of the conference said "That the union of the three Methodist churches is now the assured policy" of the conference. A committee was instructed "to consider during the year whether any method of approach to the union can be devised which may lead to greater unanimity."

On the basis of this resolution, the union committee has gone to work with enthusiasm and has drawn up a series of proposals for giving effect to the scheme of unification. This scheme, which has now been overwhelmingly agreed upon, specifies the stages by which unification shall be reached, as follows:

1. The Wesleyan Methodist conference of 1928 should give, by a three-quarter majority, the power to proceed with an enabling bill.

2. After the separate church conferences of 1928, the union committee shall make preliminary arrangements for carrying into effect the new constitution—unifying departments, delimiting districts—and shall report to the three conferences of 1929 and succeeding years.

3. At the conference of 1929 a two-year moratorium shall be declared for the completion of preliminary arrangements.

4. In 1931 the final vote on union shall be taken at each of the three conferences.

5. The uniting conference shall meet in the fall of 1932.

6. The first united conference shall meet in 1933.

These proposals have met with the strong indorsement of the Wesleyan Methodist leaders. The Primitive Methodists and the United Methodists long have been in favor of unification. Thus, barring developments which are totally unforseen, unification of the Methodist churches should proceed smoothly and according to schedule.

MOVIE MAGNATES DEFY U. S. ORDER

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Prompt court action to enforce its order directing the Paramout-Famous Players-Lasky corporation to cease its block-booking of motion pictures was indicated today by the federal trade commission after the corporation served notice that it would not comply with the edict.

Through its officers, Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky, the corporation advised the commission that it would not abide by the order because the motion picture industry at its recent trade conference had failed to finally eliminate the block-booking practice and because nothing better had been devised.

The commission's order against the corporation was issued last July 9, basing a charge of conspiracy to restrain competition on the block-booking feature.

In its findings last July the commission stated that the respondents "have conspired and confederated together, and from time to time with other persons, unduly to hinder competition in the production, distribution and exhibition of motion picture films in interstate and foreign commerce and to control, dominate, monopolize or attempt to monopolize the motion picture industry."

The investigation into the motion picture industry was instituted in 1923 and the findings of the commission were based on a study of the industry from its infancy. They cited the various organizations and subsidiaries formed by Zukor and Lasky in the development of the business. Thirteen concerns originally were named respondents, but the charges later were dismissed against them. The Famous Players-Lasky corporation were named individually, as were Lasky and Zukor, before they merged with the Paramount interests, which became a respondent through their consolidation.

The fliers plan to leave here Tuesday for San Francisco. From there, they will ship their plane to Tokyo and continue to Paris by air.

NUNNALLY COMPANY WINS IN TAX SUIT

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—The United States was refused a review by the supreme court today to test out whether the Nunnally Investment company was liable to taxes on its capital stock in 1922 and 1923 on the ground it was "doing business."

The Nunnally Investment company was incorporated under the laws of Georgia and engaged in candy manufacturing until 1920, when it sold its candy business to the Nunnally Company of Delaware. While the Nunnally Investment company no longer engaged in the candy business after its sale to the Delaware company its assessments during the two years in question increased from $2,493,748 to $2,722,990 and the government insisted, without success in the lower federal courts, that this increase of $229,242 represented income derived from the company's activities and constituted "doing business" to the extent of making its capital stock liable to taxation.

Commenting upon the Washington dispatch of supreme court action in favor of the Nunnally Investment company, a local official of the Nunnally Candy company stated Monday that the tax involved was approximately $5,500, which was paid under protest to the government. Immediatel yfollowing this suit for recovery of the tax was filed by the investment company and decided in its favor in the federal courts of Atlanta and New Orleans. According to the dispatch a review of the United States asked for a review of the case by the supreme court, which was refused.

The Nunnally Investment company is headed by J. M. Nunnally, with Winship Nunnally, vice president. The capital obtained for sale the business has been lying idle at investment, it was stated, and therefore its natural increase did not constitute "doing business."

Anderson, Rountree & Crenshaw, and Granger Hansell, all of Atlanta, represented the Nunnally interests in the tax case just won in the supreme court of the United States.

Stewart Backers Complete Plans For County Race

Perfection of campaign plans in the interests of the election of Walter B. Stewart as a member of Fulton county commission took place Monday afternoon at a meeting of his supporters, managers and workers at headquarters, in the Atlanta Trust Company building.

A large group of friends attended the meeting and made short addresses setting forth the reasons for supporting Mr. Stewart, who has been a member of the commission for the past 18 months, and who is now chairman.

Robert F. Pennington, Mr. Stewart's campaign manager, and Mr. Stewart himself were the principal speakers, outlining the basis on which the drive for votes has been predicated and laying claim to the support of the voters of the county on the record of service which has been established during Mr. Stewart's short service on the board.

Succeeded I. N. Ragsdale.

Mr. Stewart was elected to the commission to fill the unexpired term left vacant by the retirement of I. N. Ragsdale to serve as mayor of Atlanta.

"There are many attributes which the voters of the county should demand in a county commissioner," Mr. Pennington said in predicting that Mr. Stewart will lead the field in the voting Wednesday.

"To my mind Mr. Stewart possesses all of these. He is honest, fair, impartial and at the same time holds the interest of every section of the county close to his heart. He is a man of integrity, and at the present time is the only man on the county board who is from the southern section of the city."

"My every purpose has been to represent every citizen of Fulton county to the very best of my ability, always keeping in mind that the county as a whole should be my first consideration and receive my best and impartial efforts," Mr. Stewart declared.

Supported City Projects.

"It has been my pleasure since becoming a member of the board to support many projects for the progress and prosperity of Atlanta.

"I am proud of the record which is written opposite the Stewart name in the public books of the Fulton county commission for the past 18 months, and request voters to carefully review them before casting their votes for commissioner in the primary. There is no act of mine of which I am ashamed or for which I wish to apologize. It is an open book awaiting the inspection of the most humble or the richest man in the county.

"During my short service, it has been my pleasure to assist the cities in many projects for the benefit of the county and the citizens of Atlanta and other municipalities. I voted to aid in construction of the Pryor street and Central Avenue viaducts, and the Luckie, Orme, Fair, Washington, Gordon streets improvements. I consider them of prime importance in development of the county as a whole."

Mr. Stewart will end his campaign at a meeting to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Lucile Avenue school, in the seventh ward, at which all other candidates have been invited to speak.

Ziegfeld Picks Ruth Elder As Model for American Girl

GLORIFIER SAYS FLIER HAS "IT"

BY BOYD D. LEWIS,
(United News Staff Correspondent.)

Boston, March 5.—(United News.) Flo Ziegfeld is looking for the typical American girl, and he admitted tonight that Miss Ruth Elder might be just the one he wanted.

The famed "Glorifier of the American Girl" told the United News tonight he believed the girl flier had "it" to spare and that if screen tests were successful she would be offered a contract to play in the musical comedy producer's first venture into the movies.

"I'm going to examine screen tests of Miss Elder tomorrow," Ziegfeld said. "The tests were made in Hollywood at the Famous Players studios when she was in the west.

"I think she may be just the one for the lead in my picture, 'The American Girl,' which I am going to do for Famous Players," Ziegfeld declared.

"Miss Elder has stage personality—plenty of it. She has 'it'—most decidedly," the producer continued.

Ziegfeld admitted he had never seen the aviatrix before the footlights but off-stage encounters have convinced him that she possesses the necessary qualities for a great actress, he said.

Miss Elder is here for a week in vaudeville, while Ziegfeld is putting the finishing touches on "The Three Musketeers" here before showing it on Broadway.

The flier has been quite overcome by Ziegfeld's praise of her. His statement she was "the most wronged and most beautiful brunette in the country" was said to have brought tears to Miss Elder's eyes.

The girl flier characterized the comment as "the first real lucky break in a long time."

The tests upon which Miss Elder's silver screen career depend, will be strictly private, Ziegfeld said.

"No, there will be no announcement after the showing.

"No, I'm not planning to give Miss Elder a place in the Follies if she fails to break into the movies.

"Mr. Lasky will know tomorrow if I want her to play in my new picture," he said.

Meanwhile, mindful of the possible change in her fortunes, the flier was doing her turn between the news reel and the feature film at a local movie house—telling an audience about the thrilling flight which ended in the sea off the Azores.

Can't Run Home Over Phone,

:: AFTER CHILDREN GROW UP POLITICS IS ALL RIGHT ::

Says Western Woman Solon

BY ALFRED P. RECK.
(Copyright, 1928, by United News.)

Washington, March 5.—(United News.)—Sex has no place in politics, according to Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, republican member of congress from California.

"We should not support a man for office because he is a man, nor a woman because she is a woman," she said.

"There is no sex in citizenship and there should be none in politics."

Mrs. Kahn is of the opinion that women can and are making a definite position for themselves in the political field.

"Through a broad-minded view of the political question and cooperation with the men, women can make themselves most useful in governmental affairs," she said.

Looks Very Young.

For many years, Mrs. Kahn has been interested and active in politics. She knows the ins and outs of congress for she stood at the right hand of her husband, the late Representative Julius Kahn, during his 22 years in the house.

Mrs. Kahn's years sit lightly on her shoulders. Her hair is silvered but her mind is as alert and her wit as active as a woman half her age.

She is the mother of two sons and she has her own ideas on the question of a woman's home against a career.

"It all depends upon the individual," Mrs. Kahn remarked. "My mother taught school and reared her children—she had to. She did both jobs well. Neither her work, her home nor her children were neglected.

"I believe our home was run much better than those of many of the wealthy women who were neighbors to us, yet my mother worked all of the time.

"I took an active part in politics and reared two sons. I don't believe they would consider themselves neglected.

"But, of course," she added, "there are different cases. A mother couldn't have her children—unless they were grown—in California and work in Washington.

"You can't run a home by long distance telephone."

Mrs. Kahn believes her first duty in congress is to represent her district. She has no definite legislative program although she has definite viewpoints on controversial questions.

"I believe in preparedness, an adequate defense, the protective tariff and the republican policies in general," she explained.

Mrs. Kahn, as a member of congress and a mother, has adopted an unusual standard for her sons' participation in politics.

"I hope my boys will be good citizens and take an intelligent interest in their government, but I do not want them to take an active part in politics until they are financially independent so that their judgment and viewpoint will be absolutely unprejudiced."

Mrs. Kahn is preparing herself for an active campaigning program for this presidential year.

"And, by the way," she remarked, "you can say I am for Hoover, first, last and always."

An Easy Way to Soothe and Heals Skin Eruption

If you suffer from skin eruptions of any kind, pimples, itch, tetter, ringworm, eczema, etc., a pleasant odored ointment, known as Tetterine, containing highly effective parasite, germ-destroying and skin-healing properties, never fails to bring quick and permanent relief.

Tetterine, by its clean, cooling, soothing, antiseptic effect, kills the parasites that bore into the skin, causing irritation and itching. Tetterine is sold and guaranteed by all druggists at 60c for a large box, or sent direct, postpaid, upon receipt of price. Shuptrine Co., Dept. 4, Savannah, Ga.—(adv.)

"Stopped-Up" Nose

A Simple Method of Prevention

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable, or no disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as Catarrh or chronic colds. It often produces chronic headaches and deafness, affecting the eyes and voice, and frequently weakening the lungs. Get rid of catarrh by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy, discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarrh specialist.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, berries and flowers, which you smoke in a small pipe or cigarette. The smoke vapor is inhaled into the air passages of the nose, head, throat and lungs, and carries medicine where sprays, douches and ointments cannot possibly reach. Its effect is soothing and healing, and as it contains no tobacco or cubebs is perfectly harmless, and may be used by women and children as well as men.

If you suffer with catarrh, catarrhal deafness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations, or if subject to frequent colds, get from your drug store a pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes. Prove for yourself their pleasant and beneficial effects.

Boston Minister Conducts Service At First Baptist

The Rev. J. C. Massee, pastor of Tremont temple, Boston, and one of the nation's most widely-known Baptist ministers, Monday opened the second of a six-week revival service being held daily at noon at the First Baptist church. Practically every church in the city is cooperating in the success of the revival.

DR. M. E DODD.

Before a large audience, Dr. Massee delivered a powerful sermon, aimed at the so-called Christian, and taking as his subject, "The Christian in Modern Society."

"The proof of the pudding lies in the eating, and the proof of Christianity lies in the living," he said. "If you are a true Christian you will at all times be fighting the wages of sin, living in the hope of a 'Eternal Life' in the great beyond. Christ revealed the divine life, setting an example before man so that he also might live a divine life, preaching the gospel to the sinners of the world that they may be saved before it is too late," Dr. Massee said.

Dr. M. E. Dodd, one of the south's most learned Bible scholars and pastor of the First Baptist church of Shreveport, La., will speak at 12:15 today at the meeting. Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, will preside.

James Morton, executive secretary of the Atlanta Christian council, Monday stated that Dr. Massee and Dr. Dodd are recognized for their forcefulness as speakers and their unusual ability.

The revival is being conducted jointly under auspices of the Evangelical Ministers' association and the Atlanta Christian council.

Dr. A. W. Reeves, pastor of the Grant Park Baptist church, will direct the singing for the entire week accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Schaid, a talented musician.

MONOPLANE FALLS IN BISCAYNE BAY; OCCUPANTS UNHURT

Miami Beach, Fla., March 5.—(United News)—A Fairchild monoplane plunged into Biscayne bay today when Harry Smith, pilot, tried to dodge a stake in the water as he was making a take-off.

Smith and Mechanics Reed and Johnson were not injured.

The plane, owned by the Rogers airline, of Miami, was being tested with a new propeller when the accident occurred. It sank in shallow water and salvage operations were started immediately.

Recent Elections in Japan

:: TSURUMI HOLDS REINS IN PARLIAMENT ::

Give Friend of U. S. Power

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Cables received from Japan today indicate that full returns on the general election will place the balance of power between the government and the opposition in the hands of 14 independents of whom Yusuke Tsurumi is one of the leaders.

Mr. Tsurumi is widely known in the United States. While recently visiting New York he was the guest of Herbert S. Houston, the publisher, who is a student of Japanese affairs and a personal friend of Mr. Tsurumi.

Mr. Houston gave the Associated Press the following interview today concerning the significance of the Japanese election:

"The stalemate that has come between the two great parties as a result of the election will make Tsurumi one of the key men in Japan. The latest reports received by cable from the Japanese Times show that the Seiyu, the government party of which the premier, Baron Tanaka, is the leader, has elected 219 members of the new parliament, while the Minfei, the opposition party, with former Finance Minister Hamaguchi as leader, elected 217 members. This gives to the 14 independents chosen the balance of power and to Tsurumi a place of unusual prominence and influence.

Helps National Amity.

"All of this seems to Tsurumi's many friends in this country a happy augury for good relations between Japan and America and it is in keeping with the sound logic of cause and effect. For years Tsurumi, one of the first orators of his country and leader of the young liberals, had worked to enlarge the electorate. As a result of this great democratic movement there were over 9,000,000 new voters at the recent election. Tsurumi said repeatedly in his addresses in this country, during the present winter, that this vast increase of the electorate from 3,000,000 to 12,000,000 would bring about the ultimate control of Japan's foreign policy by the public opinion of the country, as in the case of England, France and America. He was confident that this would lead to a liberal policy toward China and a friendly policy toward this country. Now his hopeful predictions are to be put to the test of actual events, and the election returns seem to point clearly to Tsurumi himself as a decisive factor in shaping those events. He is in a place, apparently, where he can help toward the fulfillment of his own prediction.

Admires Lindbergh.

"A very dramatic thing, characteristic of modern Japan, attended Tsurumi's departure a few weeks ago for Tokyo in response to a cabled summons from his party supporters. He had just spoken with ex-Secretary of War Newton D. Baker at the Woodrow Wilson foundation dinner in New York; at that dinner he had heard the Wilson peace medal was to be presented to Colonel Lindbergh and he was prepared to pay a high tribute to the famous aviator from the youth of Japan. It turned out that the medal was not presented, as Lindbergh was on his way to Mexico, but Tsurumi, as if to pay the compliment of emulation from Japan to America, proceeded to fly to San Francisco (he got the air mail in Cleveland), where he caught the steamer Siberia Maru for home. On reaching Japan he had but 17 days for his campaign in the prefecture of Okayawa, where he was standing for election. The complete returns showed that he had led the poll and now he becomes a leader of the party that will hold the balance of power."

JOHNSON'S RECORD PRAISED AT RALLY

Praising the record of Edwin F. Johnson as a member of Fulton county commission prominent Atlantans Monday afternoon called on a gathering of more than 350 citizens of Fulton county to actively support Mr. Johnson at the polls Wednesday, the date of the primary, in his race for the position of tax receiver.

The meeting was held in the grill room of the Piedmont hotel and was attended only by staunch supporters and friends of Mr. Johnson.

Clark Howell, ex-Senator Hoke Smith, Jesse Draper, J. E. Jackson, J. D. Harrison, E. E. Dallis, T. J. McBrayer, Henry M. Wood, Charles B. Shelton and several others were among the speakers, who lauded the efforts of Mr. Johnson in behalf of the county for its progress and prosperity.

Mr. Howell outlined the career of Mr. Johnson telling of his early youth and of his steady rise in the business world, by virtue of the sterling attributes of honesty, fair dealing, impartiality and integrity, to his present position as a member of the commission, chairman of the public works committee and a past chairman of the board.

Both Mr. Howell and former Senator Smith reviewed Mr. Johnson's record of service and predicated his claim to the support of the voters on his farsighted business ability, which has contributed "largely to the building of the richest and greatest county in the state."

Mr. McBrayer, who is president of the Street Car Men's union, declared Mr. Johnson has been fair to labor in all his dealings. He reviewed his activity in supporting labor while Mr. Johnson was a member of an arbitration commission in which employees of the company with which the speaker is affiliated were involved.

Mr. Johnson thanked the speakers for their interest in his campaign, and declared that he is assured of victory, but wished to make it "such an overwhelming one that my friends will be proud of the vote which is cast in behalf of the candidacy of a man who has tried to serve his fellow man to the best of his ability."

"I have conducted my campaign on a high plane, and will continue to do so," Mr. Johnson said, "despite the fact that my opponents have resorted to a campaign of personal criticism which has been aimed to convey the wrong impression of my official acts and private life.

"My life is an open book. My official record is written in the public archives of the Fulton county courthouse, and I am proud of it. I ask voters of this county to investigate the record to see whether I deserve their support.

"There is no doubt in my mind but that a large vote will be polled in my behalf when the polls close Wednesday, but I want to make the victory so complete as to discourage similar attacks on any other man who has tried to serve his county as I have."

BALTIMORE JURY CONVICTS SOLON ON SUNDAY LAW

Baltimore, March 5.—(AP)—Charged with violating the state blue law, John G. Callan, member of the Maryland legislature, and two of his colleagues of the Liberty Defense league, which sponsored Sunday movie shows, were convicted by a jury in criminal court today. Sentence was suspended when motion for a new trial was made.

Conviction of the legislator, who was defended by former Representative John Philip Hills, followed a series of "test" cases when efforts were made to introduce Sunday entertainment into Baltimore.

MRS. COLBY FILES SUIT TO RECOVER MONEY DUE HER

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Nathalie S. Colby filed suit against her husband, Bainbridge Colby, in supreme court today to recover $16,500 she claims is due her under a separation agreement. Her husband agreed September 10, 1923, to pay her $1,500 a month, he has made no payments since May 1, 1927, Mrs. Colby charges in her complaint.

A few days ago Mr. Colby was denied a divorce in Paris.

DOCTORS DISCUSS HEART DISEASE AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, March 5.—(AP)—Heart-block, control of cancer and determination of blood volume through the red dye method were among scientific research explained by world medical leaders today before the twelfth annual clinical sessions of the American College of Physicians, meeting here.

Hundreds of pencils were in use to record the observations on heart-block of Dr. Joseph Salier, of Philadelphia, when he discussed the therapy of cardiac conditions contra-indicating the use of digitalis.

Medical education of the American physician is incomplete until he has visited New Orleans as a professional student, Dr. Frank Smithies, of Chicago, president of the college, related, because, he said, here are found for clinical study such diseases as leprosy, pellagra and amebiasis, unobtainable elsewhere in the country.

Nature, at work in the complex human machine, seeks to adapt the animal mechanism to meet conditions imposed by injury, infection or destruction of organs and to compensate for any disturbance of balance in the physiological system, Dr. Jules Bauer, of Vienna, told the convention in his address.

IOWA LEGISLATURE HAS SPECIAL SESSION

THEATER REVIEWS

'Abie's Irish Rose' Draws Big Audience to Erlanger

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

The irrepressible "Abie" and his perennial "Irish Rose" paid their umtieth visit to Atlanta Monday night and judging from the spontaneous outbursts of laughter that swept over the Erlanger theater Anne Nichols' comedy drama remains unimpaired in its entertaining power.

While the sophisticated playgoers and the blase critics may sneer at "Abie's Irish Rose" there is no doubt that it carries a genuine appeal to a certain class of people and there must be a lot of this kind of people because there was a large crowd present at the Erlanger Monday night despite the fact that the comedy has been offered here for some fifty odd performances.

Some say "Abie" is crude, some people call it "hokum," some declare it is a rehash of all the old horseplay of the stage but it pleases beyond question the people who seek the class of entertainment "Abie" provides.

The story of "Abie's Irish Rose" is too old for repetition. The play is based on the love of a young Jewish boy for a pretty little Irish girl. The father of the boy is an orthodox Jew while the father of the girl is equally strong in the Catholic faith. Abie and his "Rose" are secretly married by a Methodist minister and when the time comes to inform the respective parents the fun begins. It sweeps through three acts and after a series of weddings ends happily when the belligerent fathers, cuddling a pair of twins, have reached a point of friendship where they are calling each other by their first names.

Whatever may be said of "Abie" it teaches a sensible lesson of tolerance at a time when more lessons of this kind should be in order. And the lesson is taught in a way which is inoffensive and wholesome and which can be enjoyed thoroughly by people of all faiths and creeds.

Miss Nichols has sent an able company to present her play in Atlanta and there were some present Monday night who said it was the best company that has ever appeared in "Abie" in this city.

As "Solomon Levy," Herbert Glass was excellent and he had an admirable foil in Jack Raffael as "Patrick Murphy," Irish contractor and father of "Rose." Miss Kathleen Robinson as "Rose" was ideal in the part. She was dainty, attractive and appealing and played her part perfectly. George Hurd was "Abie" and was altogether adequate in his part. Light character roles were played by Mark Adams and Mildred Beverly with pleasing effect while Guy Hitner and Oswell L. Jackson were good in the roles of "Father Whalen" and "Rabbi Samuels" respectively.

"THE JAZZ SINGER" OPENS THIRD WEEK TO CAPACITY HOUSE

Capacity crowds Monday greeted Al Jolson's masterful "Jazz Singer" on the opening day of its third week at the Metropolitan theater.

By now, it should be obvious that reviewing "The Jazz Singer" is pretty much like playing with spools; it's all right, but there's no sense to it, and consequently it follows that such a picture as the "Jazz Singer" which everybody in Atlanta has seen at least twice by this time needs nothing further than the bare statement that it is being continued at the Metropolitan.

And then again, the lavish praise of every reviewer on the staff has been exhausted by the extended run of the picture, and now there is no soul on the paper who has been so unwise as to delay seeing Jolson's master film until now, and such is the problem.

It therefore devolves that, in justice, one must speak praise of the picture, even if such praise be of a rechauffe nature.

But rechauffe is not the word. No eye that has soon, and no ear that has heard "The Jazz Singer" and uttered praise thereof can ever be diminished from that first lustre which inflamed it at sight of such a magnificent screen drama.

It is like nothing that has gone before, and it is likely that nothing just like it will ever be produced again. Certainly, "The Jazz Singer" is completely deserving of the remarkably—for Atlanta—long run that it is now, and the beauty of it is that a fourth, and maybe a fifth week, is entirely imminent.

If you haven't seen "The Jazz Singer," then accept the unanimous and whole-hearted advice of The Constitution staff, and every other reviewing body that has ever been heard of, and visit the Metropolitan this week.

—ELMO HAMBY.

GREAT VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM OFFERED AT LOEW'S GRAND

Loew's Grand theater came to the bat Monday night with another great vaudeville bill, with two real star headline acts and three other turns of exceptional entertaining power. LeMaire and Van, "Two Black Jacks," are black face comedians who bring some real new material in the blackface comedy line and keep the house roaring with laughter while they are on the stage. They have eliminated much of the old-fashioned comedy of this type and are right up to the minute with a fresh, new act which scored a tremendous hit Monday.

Right along with this headline feature comes the marvelous dancing act entitled "Rainbow Revels," offered by eight girls and one man. The girls are of the famous Perry Mansfield school and they have brought an amazing dancing creation to Atlanta. One of the numbers is offered on a lattice work hanging from the flies and is the first number of this type seen here. Sue St. John is the principal girl dancer and aided by the eight girls she offers some numbers that would be a credit to Ruth St. Denis. Ralph Olsen, a flexible youth, appears in some eccentric dances which scored heavily.

Much fun was produced by Cardiff and Wales in their absurdity entitled "Travesties on Famous Plays." Their biggest hit was scored in a ludicrous burlesque of "Romeo and Juliet" which was a real comedy riot.

Ed Foster's trained dogs received much applause. One of these dogs is "Peggy," a $10,000 product, who plays music, sings, counts and answers all kinds of questions. Another little dog does some waltzing numbers in an act which is far out of the ordinary.

To back this excellent vaudeville is "Rose-Marie," the long awaited screen version of the famous musical comedy which scored such a big hit here recently. It is a picture of rare beauty, many of the scenes being massive and stupendous in their charm. Joan Crawford is in the leading role supported by House Peters, James Murray, Polly Moran and Creighton Hale.

GREAT DANCING TURN HEADLINES FINE CAPITOL BILL

The headlining turn of Gautschi and Phelps this week at the Capitol theater presents to Atlanta one of the finest treats of the entire vaudeville season in dancing, and it tops a bill which is unusually pleasing as a whole and which is presented with "13 Washington Square," a corking mystery film, on the screen.

Rare indeed in that endless panorama of dancing turns, good, bad and indifferent, is the offering of Gautschi and Phelps, two eminent artists of the dance who put verve and beauty into even the most-used of stage dancing numbers. Miss Phelps is a revelation in grace and pure rhythm, and Mr. Gautschi likewise seems a part of his music. La Chapina Marimba band, a unique organization of musicians, provides music for the act and also several numbers of its own which are well received.

Tameo Kajiyama, a sensational Japanese mental marvel, has completely mastered the art of writing backwards, upside down, writing while talking, and a score of other feats which left the Monday night audience in profound amazement.

The excellent and terrible in female impersonation is supplied in the act of Gene Pearson and Bob Anderson. Mr. Pearson is as near perfect in the line as possible, while Mr. Anderson not only gives an uproariously funny impersonation, but doesn't try to be anything else.

The Wilmont sisters, nice harmony singers, offer a pleasing program in second spot on the bill and Boyd and Wallin offer several new slack-wire stunts to open.

DEAD TEN TIMES, BABY WILL LIVE, PHYSICIANS SAY

Glendale, Calif., March 5.—(AP)—After having been pronounced dead ten times within as many days, a baby five weeks' old will live, said her physician today. Three blood transfusions by the mother and continuous use of a pulmotor brought the baby "back to life."

Ten times the little daughter of Mrs. G. E. Olmstead ceased breathing, her heart stopped beating and her eyes glazed. Apparently she was dead.

Local Film, Edith Griffith, Tom Mack Score at Howard

BY ELMO HAMBY.

"Front Page Stuff," believed to be the first all-Atlanta motion picture drama; Edith Griffith, the ever-brilliant and scintillating little personality of song, and Tom Mack, new Howard bandmaster, furnish three excellent reasons for attending the current Howard bill.

"Front Page Stuff," produced from a prize-winning scenario written by Miss Marion Wolff, Atlanta girl, and selected in The Constitution contest from more than 300 other submitted, presents a miniature screen melodrama that might well have come out of Hollywood insofar as finished performances go.

Five Atlanta young people, Miss Louise Huddleston, Miss Frances Tarpley, Winston Jones, Hugh Lewis and Grady Barron are featured in the cast of the story which has to do with newspaper reporters, lunatics at large and other characters who offer thrill and romance.

Miss Huddleston in the role of the wife gives a remarkable performance that is characterized by keen intelligence and a perfect mastery of the part. Grady Barron, as the lunatic, does a character bit that is really outstanding, while Miss Tarpley, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Jones do splendidly with their parts.

The featured part of the screen program this week is Glorida Swanson's "Sadie Thompson," and Miss Swanson, for probably the first time, departs from being the perfect modiste's dream and wins laurels in an invasion of the histrionic realm.

"Sadie Thompson," written from "Miss Thompson," by Somerset Maugham, from which the stage play "Rain" also was taken, might well be expected to differ more radically from "Rain" than it does. Monday's audiences seemed to find the variation a pleasing touch.

The return this week for the third time of Edith Griffith, who stands in the first ranks of "personality" singers, is in itself an outstanding event of the local stage, and one which Monday brought spontaneous applause as Miss Griffith appeared.

Miss Griffith's current program can be criticized only for a detail of choice—and that is her magnificent contralto is not used as much as it was on previous occasions, and this, as mentioned, is purely a matter of personal favor.

Tommy Mack, presenting his first show to Atlanta audiences, went over great and it now becomes probable that if Mr. Mack persists in pursuing his announcement of last week that he was here only "temporarily," his departure may cause something of the same furore as that occasioned by the exit of Al Short.

Louella Lee, as cute a bit of personified pep and dash as one could wish for, presented a neat little dance which took audiences Monday off their feet. Joe Penner, a rather keen hokum comedian, proved a great hit, while Larry LaMont, and Morris and Rapp, dancers, were also popular. The eight Gould girls deserve unlimited praise for their ensemble work. They are all trim and neat looking, and the costumes, especially, are in much better condition than is usually the case by the time a show reaches Atlanta on the Publix loop.

GEORGIA PROGRAM PROVIDES ACME OF ENTERTAINMENT

A better entertainment program than the one being presented this week at the Keith-Albee Georgia theater would be hard to find. Every act on the vaudeville bill is of the highest type and Billie Dove, probably the screen's most beautiful actress, and Gilbert Roland are the shining lights in "The Love Mart," on the screen.

An act that won high favor was C. B. Maddox's tricks, a new and novel substitute for the usual dance revue. Wally Chrisham, last year with the "Music Box Revue," is the leading man and is ably assisted by Josephine Fontaine, a specialty dancer, and other stars. The act consisted of singing, dancing, and combination numbers.

Another well-received act was "The Man Said," by Grace Nile and Dick Mansfield. It was an entertaining and clever comedy skit.

There is no better pantomimic clown on the vaudeville stage than Jack Hanley, a veteran, who kept the big Monday matinee crowd in a constant uproar.

A number of new and clever gymnastic stunts were exhibited by the "Three Londons." All of the feats were difficult and skillfully carried out.

The Vierras provided some real Hawaiian music, and were called back on the stage for several encores.

'THE LEOPARD LADY' SMASHING FINALE FEATURE AT RIALTO

"The Leopard Lady," Rupert Julian's latest triumph, at the Rialto for a full week, has every element of fine screen entertainment and its smashing finale should create a sensation.

Melodramatic to a degree, the action swift-moving, the locale continental and the story one with a brand new twist and featuring Jacqueline Logan, Alan Hale and Robert Armstrong, it is a film offering that has every element of popularity and should go well with Atlanta picture fans. The climax must not be revealed in advance.

"The Leopard Lady," a Rupert Julian screen version of Edward Childs Carpenter's great stage success. The story is launched with a bang, and the opening scenes with the clowns, trained animals, acrobats and other adjuncts of circus life vest them with genuine atmosphere that old and young will appreciate.

The mystifying slaying of Frau Holweg by a "little old woman" who is responsible for numerous murders, but whose identity is a mystery, starts the story. The smashing climax is a remarkable expose of a criminal's cunning and a dumb beast's aptitude for mimicry which brings about its undoing.

The ninth episode of "The Beauty Parlor" series, "Peter Pan" and Paramount News offer interest. —J. K.

Tudor.

Richard Dix, gay young screen cavalier, who has donned the evening clothes of a man-about-town, the rough togs of the man of the outdoors, the pads of a football player, the gloves of a prize fighter and the accountrements of a soldier in action, reaches back into time for his costume in "The Gay Defender." The picture is a story of old Californian days, and Dix is cast as a young man, in love with the daughter of a famous don, is accused of the murder of the girl's father and is forced to flee for his life.

Alamo No. 2.

The charming Norma Shearer, who is co-starred with Lon Chaney in "The Tower of Lies," directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and coming to the Alamo No. 2 theater today, is again seen in a role which calls for a wide range of acting on account of the great number of years through which the story runs. In the early part of the picture she appears as a child, then a young woman and finally as a woman of thirty who has become hardened from contact with the world.

West End.

In "Loves of Carmen," which shows for the last time at the West End tonight, Victor McLaglen, as a matador, is as striking as he was in "What Price Glory," as a hard-boiled marine captain. Dolores Del Rio, as Carmen, is equally effective as she was in the role of Charmaine.

Palace.

"Fighting Love," which closes at the Palace tonight, is a love quadrangle with Jetta Goudal in the role of an Italian noblewoman who marries an elderly man to escape mariage with a man she detests; then falls in love with her husband's best friend.

Income of Bogus Heir Is Attacked In Rumored Suit

Detroit, March 5.—(AP)—The income of the four-year-old "millionaire grandson" of Joseph Boyer, rich executive of the Burroughs Adding Machine company, would be wholly cut off by a suppressed suit understood to have been filed in circuit court here by Myron L. Boyer, who recently disclaimed the child as his son.

Although Myron L. Boyer's attorneys have refused to comment on the suit, it is understood that he seeks to retain payment of $500 a month out of a trust fund of about $4,000,000 set aside by Joseph Boyer for the benefit of his "grandson."

This action follows Myron L. Boyer's suit in Ingham county circuit court last week disinheriting the child and asking that his birth be expunged from the records of the state. His wife has admitted the child is only her adopted son and that she had deceived her husband to "save her home."

While the child's financial status was thus being attacked, the state moved today to determine the status of his birth in the interests of the sanctity of the state's records. Immigration authorities marked time in their inquiry to ascertain whether the child, now found to have been a native of Canada, was illegally brought into the United States.

Harry M. Metcalf, assistant state attorney general, after a conference with immigration officials, said the state desired to determine whether fraud was committed in the filing of the birth certificate. The alleged fraudulent certificate is said to bear the signature of a physician who now is dead.

TENSION LESSENS IN TYROL AFFAIR

Vienna, March 5.—(United News.) The peak of tension in the Austro-Italian situation has passed, according to Austrian government quarters.

Diplomatic and parliamentary circles learned authoritatively tonight that Premier Mussolini tempered his speech, following an understanding with the vatican, to permit south Tyrol priests to give religious training in the German language.

This was interpreted here as far-sighted statesmanship by Mussolini. It was recalled here that Bismarck, the iron chancellor, was forced to surrender to the vatican on the question of German language in the then German Poland, while Primo de Rivera, Spanish dictator, also was forced to rescind a decree replacing Catalonian with Spanish, when the pope ordered priests to continue speaking Catalonian.

It is believed here that when, and if, a compromise is completed, Chancellor Ignatz Seipel, who started the Italian controversy by denouncing Italian rule in the south Tyrol, will adopt a correct attitude regarding the situation.

CLASH MARKS END OF 4-DAY SPEECH

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Clashing opinions on use to be made of the Muscle Shoals hydroelectric power development were aired in the senate today when Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, concluded his four-day speech in defense of his resolution proposing government operation and was immediately challenged by Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, who declared for acceptance of the American Cyanamid bid on the plant for fertilizer production.

Norris reiterated his charge that power interests have been busy with propaganda against every form of government power operation. Even members of the senate, he said, "have been imbibing of the falsehood and misrepresentation scattered over the country by the electric light trust."

THREE AMENDMENTS OFFERED ON RESOLUTION.

Washington, March 5.—(United News.)—The senate today was offered three new amendments to the Norris resolution for government operation of the Muscle Shoals power plant project in Alabama.

They were offered as debate continued on the Norris resolution, and each proposed a different plan for operation or disposal of the huge power resources of the plant located on the Tennessee river.

One amendment by Senator Metcalf, Rhode Island republican, would increase the appropriation for nitrate production from $2,000,000 to $10,000,000 and authorize the secretary of war to contract with commercial producers for production of nitrate.

Senator McKellar, Tennessee democrat, offered one providing that none of the power generated by the government at Muscle Shoals shall be sold to private companies until after May, 1929, after municipalities have had time to contract for all power they require.

The third amendment, by Senator Smith, North Carolina democrat, would establish a Muscle Shoals commission, consisting of the secretaries of war and agriculture to supervise operation of the power and nitrate plant.

PILOT DISCOVERS MISSING FLIERS' CLUE UNFOUNDED

Norfolk, Va., March 5.—(AP)—A rumor from Fishermen's island, off Cape Charles, that two aviators' helmets had washed ashore sent the naval airmen who are searching for the Amphibian plane which disappeared a week ago with three fliers, off on a false trail early today.

When Lieut. Miles Browning sent in a seaplane to Fishermen's island to identify the headgear reported to have been picked up, returned shortly before noon and reported the rumor groundless, the search in the vicinity of the spot where on Saturday the horizontal rudder and stabilizer of the missing plane were found in the water was intensified by sending two more planes to comb the vicinity. Two had been sent earlier in the morning while Lieutenant Browning was on his fruitless quest.

BANK OFFICIAL PLEADS GUILTY TO EMBEZZLEMENT

Findlay, Ohio, March 5.—(AP)—Clyde Whelan, assistant cashier of the closed Arcadia Bank and Savings company at Arcadia, pleaded guilty in common pleas court today to 11 indictments charging falsification of accounts. He entered a plea of not guilty to three other indictments alleging embezzlement.

His bond of $15,000, made at the time of his arrest about six weeks ago, was increased to $25,000 and met.

No date was set for the sentencing.

Whelan is the first of 13 officers and directors of the bank to enter a plea. The indictments, returned March 2, charged the embezzlement of approximately $273,000.

LINDY'S MOTHER BACK IN DETROIT AFTER TRIP EAST

Mount Clemens, Mich., March 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, returning by air from Boston where she was honored last week by the National Education association, landed at Selfridge Field at 1:30 p. m. today.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, resuming her flight from Boston to Detroit, took off from the Buffalo airport at 9:45 o'clock this morning in a three-motored monoplane piloted by Lieutenant Albert J. Hegenberger.

2 MINERS CRUSHED BY FALLING ROCK IN ALABAMA MINE

Birmingham, Ala., March 5.—(AP)—Two miners, one a white man and the other a negro, were crushed to death by falling rock in No. 3 mine of the Woodward Iron company here today.

Tom Armstrong, white, and Murray Gilbert, negro, had just entered the mine when the rock became dislodged from a ceiling. They were killed instantly.

Condemned Girl Turns Against Guilty Husband

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

BY JOHN O'DONNELL.

Montreal, March 5.—The shadow of Canada's mobile scaffold, from which Doris McDonald is to dangle on the morning of March 23, has chilled the flaming love which transformed the slender 20-year-old murderess from a jazzy Westchester county, New York, flapper, into the faithful "gun-moll," of George McDonald, the one time Broadway confidence man, who is to die with her.

And, with her love has ended the strange correspondence, the love letters of a condemned couple, which, until this week, passed daily between the death cells in which the young American husband and wife are awaiting the moment when they will pay for the murder of Adelard Bouchard, the LaChine, Quebec, taxi driver, whom they shot down last July.

After one hysterical outburst when she pleaded for a final meeting with her husband before the execution day, the young wife suddenly turned against the man whom she tried to save, by insisting, when first arrested, that it was she, alone, who fired the bullets into the back of the unsuspecting Bouchard.

"I have tried to make Doris write her letters to her husband, telling her that he needs consolation at this time, but Doris' eyes have been opened," the mother assistant superior in the Fullem Street jail, told this reporter today. "The old feeling of passion has disappeared and the poor child sees things clearly about this man McDonald.

"And so she writes to him of her new consolation in religion. But the love no longer exists."

The girl, who only a few weeks ago insisted that she wanted to die on the same scaffold with her husband after vainly trying to shield him by persisting in the untruth that she alone was guilty, has now thrown the blame of the crime on McDonald, and his male companion, and protested her own complete innocence.

And, while the condemned girl is praying for the clemency which she once spurned, all is not going well with the work of the volunteer groups of Americans, who are trying to save her from the Valley Field prison noose.

Her foster-mother, Dr. Frances Palmer, and Doris' two-year-old child, have returned to New York, partly because they wished to avoid any more publicity, which might arouse further Canadian feeling of insistence on the death penalty and partly because the foster-mother found herself at times unable to agree with the more aggressive tactics of Doris' real mother, Mrs. Hazel Greco, of Chicago.

"Something has to be done, and done quickly," Mrs. Greco cried impatiently today. "All this waiting around is not going to save my child."

The mother's outburst came after she had been warned by Montreal counsellors that if any "band wagon" or publicity campaign accompanied the mercy plea, it surely would be denied.

Likewise the Canadian attorneys are working rather at cross-purposes in the condemned woman's behalf, and more or less independently of each of the American counsel, retained by the Mount Vernon, N. Y., committee of old friends and neighbors of Doris. H. C. Calder, a leading member of the Canadian bar, who recently debated with Clarence Darrow on capital punishment, is insistent that the girl rest her plea for clemency on the mercy recommendation of the jury, which found her guilty. Her other Canadian lawyer, J. J. Legault, is attempting to obtain a new trial, an attempt, which well informed barristers here insist, is futile. Neither Canadian lawyer is paying any attention to the "sex-crazy" plea, advanced by Mount Vernon friends of the girl.

STINSON WILL TRY TO BREAK RECORD OF GERMAN FLIERS

Detroit, March 5.—(AP)—Edward E. Stinson, aeroplane designer and manufacturer, and George Haldeman, copilot with Ruth Elder in an unsuccessful attempt to fly across the Atlanta ocean, plan to take off from the ice of Lake St. Clair Tuesday in an attempt to break the world's endurance record.

Stinson has been preparing for the flight for some time and today completed arrangements for the endurance flight at Selfridge field, which is adjacent to Lake St. Clair. Stinson said he had hoped to keep his flight plans secret until after he had been in the air more than 24 hours.

Stinson, who is flying a plane of his own design, established an endurance record of 26 hours and 19 minutes at Mineola, L. I., December 30, 1921. The present record is 52 hours and 26 minutes, which must be exceeded by one hour to become official.

THREE ARE JAILED AS RIOT INCITERS IN MINE DISPUTE

Pittston, Pa., March 5.—(United News.)—Unless a writ of habeas corpus is upheld by the courts, Powers Hapgood, his wife, Mary Donovan Hapgood, and John Licutto, arrested on a charge of inciting a riot in Pittston's latest mine dispute, will remain in jail until a grand jury disposes of their case.

In defiance of an order issued by Mayor William H. Gillespie, they grouped in front of the state armory Sunday and condemned the absence of free speech in the mine district.

TEN BATH ROOMS HELD TOO MANY FOR ARMY HOUSE

Washington, March 5.—(United News)—Opposing the $13,000,000 army housing bill which passed the house today, Representative Blanton, Texas democrat, said he heard complaints from one army officer's wife that her house provided by the government had ten bath rooms, but that she was allowed only one maid.

"I pay $150 a month for a house and I have only one bath room." Blanton said.

HOMELESS DANES MARCH TO CAPITAL TO ASK RELIEF

Kjellerup, Jutland, Denmark, March 5.—(AP)—Three hundred homeless citizens of this city today started a march to Copenhagen.

At the capital they will ask for help or work or money. If they get the money they will use it for emigration expenses.

The city gave the 300 a dinner yesterday, furnished them with free lodgings overnight and fed them again today as a send-off.

CANDIDATES CLOSE CAMPAIGNS TODAY

Fourteen candidates in the Fulton county primary enter the home stretch this morning with only today left for campaigning before Wednesday's deluge of ballots begins to grind out the verdict for the six contested positions to be filled.

Monday was spent in drawing battle lines tauter and in a series of political rallies in which the aspirants made last minute attempts to assure their nominations in the primary. Polls will open at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning and remain open until 7 o'clock at night.

One of the largest meetings of the entire campaign was held by friends of John S. McClelland, who is opposing Carlton W. Binns for election as solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta. It was held at the Highland avenue school and was labeled as the "homecoming" meeting of Mr. McClelland, climaxing a series of McClelland meetings throughout the county. All candidates spoke. Friends of Edwin F. Johnson, who is opposed for tax receiver by Walter E. Harwell, held a meeting at the Fulton county high school at which all other candidates were invited to speak.

Friends of Walter B. Stewart, at present chairman of Fulton county commissioners, who is a candidate for election for a full term, held a meeting at Hapeville to which all candidates were invited.

A third meeting was held at East Point by friends of Ed H. Inman, one of the five aspirants for the two posts on the Fulton county commission.

Another meeting was held at Rossville.

Mr. Stewart, Captain George M. Hope, Ed H. Inman, Dr. A. H. Cochran and Sam D. Hewlett, all candidates for the two positions on the board of county commissioners, spoke or were represented at all the meetings.

Mr. Harwell and Mr. Johnson, opponents for tax receiver, also spoke.

Sheriff James I. Lowry, sheriff for the past 12 years, and A. M. Corrie, his opponent, also vied for political preferment.

Mrs. Mabel Abbot McNeill, Mrs. Beulah Donehoo Manston and Mrs. J. R. Wakefield, candidates for Fulton county treasurer, spoke or were represented at all rallies.

Mr. Binns and his opponent, Mr. McClelland, also appeared or were represented.

Mr. Binns was appointed to his post by Governor L. G. Hardman when Solicitor Roy Dorsey resigned.

U. S. COURT RULING GIVES CANADIANS COMMUTING RIGHT

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Canadian residents holding or seeking employment in the United States may cross the international boundary daily without respect to immigration laws, the United States circuit court of appeals unanimously ruled today.

The decision affects thousands of Canadians who cross the international boundary daily to work in industrial centers on the United States side of the border.

The decision was based on the Jay treaty of 1794 between the United States and Great Britain, which was interpreted as granting residents on either side of the border the right to cross and recross daily to transact business without the usual immigration restrictions.

WILL APPEAL TO HIGH COURT.

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Immigration law regulations hampering foreign-born Canadian residents in crossing into the United States will not be changed because of today's decision by the New York circuit court of appeals questioning their legality, Carl Robe White, assistant secretary of labor announced, and the decision itself will be immediately appealed by the government to the federal courts.

MORIN TO RETIRE AS CONGRESSMAN FOR PENNSYLVANIA

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Without explanation, Representative John M. Morin, of the 34th Pennsylvania congressional district, sent word to the house press gallery late today that he had not filed as a candidate in the forthcoming primaries in that state. The time for filing expired at 5 p. m. today.

This informal announcement was preceded two days ago by a statement from Mr. Morin that for the sake of party harmony in Pennsylvania, he had decided not to enter the Pennsylvania senatorial fight against Senator David A. Reed.

ANTI-BUCKET SHOP STATES MAY STOP WHEAT FUTURES

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—The supreme court indicated today in a case from Ohio that states having anti-bucket shop laws, could treat speculative transactions in wheat as gambling although the federal grain futures act authorizes dealing in grain futures.

TWO MILLION MARKS WORTH OF—WHAT DO YOU MEAN 'TIMIDLY?'

New York, March 5.—(United News.)—Two million marks worth of legs arrived today on the liner Albert Ballin and were timidly displayed in part by Miss Lucia Deraine, German film star, who plans to take them to Hollywood.

"They are worth 2,000,000 marks (pre-war)," her manager said. "They have captivated film fans throughout Germany and have no fear of disastrous competition in America."

REAL TOM SAWYER OF BOYHOOD FAME DIES IN ARIZONA

Spokane, Wash., March 5.—(AP)—Tom Sawyer, whose pranks, depicted by Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) have caused millions to laugh and weep, is dead.

Mrs. Flavilla Pineo, of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, revealed here today that her brother, Thomas Sawyer, who died February 7 at Tucson, Ariz., and was buried in Bellevue cemetery, Ontario, was the original of the famous writer's story.

Clemens, she said, first saw Tom Sawyer on a river boat on the Mississippi. Later Sawyer worked twenty-five years in helping to construct the Milwaukee railroad through North Dakota and Montana. He went to Arizona in an effort to regain his health.

Strangler Lewis Defends Title Against Paul Jones Tonight

Large Crowd Is Expected By Contos

Atlanta fans, who have always been partial to sport celebrities, tonight at the city auditorium are offered the chance to see Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's heavyweight champion wrestler, in action against the youthful and speedy Paul Jones, a grappler who holds the laudable honor of never having been defeated in an Atlanta ring, although he has appeared here for the past two seasons.

In the minds of most sport followers and observers Lewis is even more than world's champion. He is a man who will go down in history as one of the outstanding athletic marvels of the present day era for, at an age when most athletes are beginning to slip, Lewis has just scored the greatest triumph of his life.

Whipping himself back into physical condition that rivalled the form and power displayed six or seven years ago, Lewis last month at St. Louis defeated Joe Stecher and thereby removed all doubt and question as to who is the world's champion heavyweight wrestler.

Important.

The victory was important and partially unexpected, for Stecher was the younger and supposedly the stronger of the two. The biggest surprise of that match was the superb physical form that Lewis had attained for the biggest test of his career, one that always has been brilliant and colorful and that on two preceding occasions had seen him become champion of the world.

Very few people concede Jones more than a fighting chance for victory in the match with the world's champion tonight, yet it promises to be a struggle well worth watching and one that is likely to be far more spectacular and thrilling than the championship battle at St. Louis. For Jones, unlike Stecher has everything to gain and nothing to lose. He will shoot the works in the laudable endeavor to pin the shoulders of the man who devised the most brutal and most cruel hold that the wrestling game has known.

Jones is well equipped for his task. He is young, fast and strong and what is more important he has a hook body scissors that even Lewis has admitted is just as dangerous and menacing as the famous body scissors that carried Joe Stecher to so many victories on the mat and then failed him in his crucial hour.

Headlock.

The one thing that Jones will have to be on his guard against tonight is the devastating headlock that Lewis is prone to use, a hold that has been the target of criticism from wrestlers and wrestling followers ever since it was brought into such effective use by Lewis.

Wrestlers have no objections to the headlocks that are used by Dick Daviscourt, Jimmy Londos, John Pesek, Scotty McDougal, Wladek Zbyszko and other outstanding grapplers. They object to the vise-like grip, only as applied by Lewis, for that wrestler has gone further in the science and power of applying the headlock than any of his rivals.

The hold was devised through the combined efforts of Lewis and Billy Sandow, his manager, who is quite a student of anatomy and hence well acquainted with the best and most effective means of bringing about the subjection of a foe.

One Hold.

On more than one occasion Lewis has proved that he is not guilty of the fault of being a "one-hold wrestler." The best proof of that fact was offered in his recent battle with Joe Stecher at St. Louis, in which engagement fear of giving Stecher a chance to apply his feared body scissors caused Lewis to leave the punishing headlocks out of his plan of attack.

His assault upon Stecher consisted almost chiefly of body and arm holds and the fact that Lewis is versatile in their use is reflected from the great triumph that he scored.

Matchmaker John Contos confidently expects a record-breaking crowd for his championship show tonight, his expectations arising from the numerous requests for tickets, the advance sale of which has exceeded that of any show that Contos ever offered in Atlanta.

In the one-hour semi-windup of the Tuesday night card the fans will be entertained by Pete Sauer, former masked marvel and Mike Getson, 220-pound grappler from Butte, Montana.

Tickets for the championship bout are on sale at James Hat Cleaning Place, on Peachtree street; Piedmont hotel cigar stand, and Piedmont Hatters.

Company G Wins Basketball Title

Company G won the regimental basketball championship of the 122nd Infantry at Fort McPherson Monday night by trimming Headquarters company, 21-18, in a close, hard-fought game.

The game was a nip-and-tuck affair from start to finish, G company leading throughout but never by a very large margin. The score at the half stood 21-8 in favor of the winners. Whatley and Sosbee with seven and five points, scored respectively, starred for the victors while the work of Graham, with six points, was best for Headquarters company.

G company, by its victory, won possession of the silver trophy emblematic of the regimental basketball championship. The game was witnessed by a large crowd, including Colonel George F. Baltzell, regimental commander.

Thirteen Players Report as Crackers Open Spring Training

THE STRANGLER

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

More Advance Stuff.

I could wait to sing of spring
Until April's skies are blue;
I could wait to keep my date
When the lyric ode is due;
But the test of all spring singing
Is when the snow is on the ground
And the shaken panes still rattle
With the same old eerie sound.
So I sing of spanking doubles and the big crowd's roaring call,
And the echo of the mashie as it clanks against the ball.

The Amateur and the Pro.

Whatever happens to the future of amateurism, there are these points to be considered:

The old margin between the playing ability of the star amateurs and the pros has been greatly reduced in late years, largely because many amateurs put in more playing time than pros can do.

The old magazine of financial profit has also been greatly reduced, because there are so many indirect ways the star amateur can profit from the publicity he receives.

This may mean in the course of time that the old boundary between the amateur and the pro will be dissolved and there will be no distinction. The situation now is headed that way.

In many instances the amateur arrangement is getting well out of control. It isn't enough to say that the amateur plays for fun and recreation. So, often, does the pro. And he is often much less serious about it.

There now are signs of a gradual merging, unless decided change takes place in the next few years.

The Eminent Trojan.

Dear Mr. Rice: When you sit before your typewriter to recount instances of famous athletes whose mental and spiritual powers have triumphed over their physical endowment do not overlook the case of Johnny Evers, keystone of the famous Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance combination that erased so many base runners. Slight of build and rather delicate of health, Evers' name will be remembered in baseball when that of stars twice his size and strength have been forgotten. There never has been and probably never will be, a baseball player with a keener brain or a more flaming spirit; never a player who gave more to the game and to his team. Evers was one of those rare individuals, a star who thought of team success first and his own success later. He had none of the prima donna temperament, none of the big head, the pleasure-loving urge, the namby-pamby I'm-afraid-I'll-get-hurt attitude that is characteristic of some of our most expensive baseball bric-a-brac today. He was a fighter, hard on other players and hard on umpires, but such he was because he thought it contributed to victory for his team, not to his own fortunes. Baseball was Trojan Johnny's life—he ate it, breathed it, slept on it 24 hours a day. And yet this athlete whose overactive brain and never-flagging spirit made him a human dynamo in action is as soft spoken, as mild mannered and as modest a man off the field as one will run across in a week's journey. There is nothing about him that would indicate pugnacity except the protruding jaw.

He will talk to you about baseball, recount some of his thrilling experiences, give his opinion on other players, calmly, coolly, impersonally. Only the gleaming light in his eyes shows how close the topic is to his heart. Fair and modest to a degree, Evers will tell you that not he, but Rabbit Maranville, was the man largely responsible for the success of the Boston Braves in 1914. Evers today is still an idol in the eyes of his fellow Trojans.

J. L. C.

To which anyone who has known Johnny Evers off and on the field will subscribe. He might be listed with the late Frank Hinkey as one of "the disembodied spirits" of competition.

Today's Golf Menu.

Just how important is the grip in golf success? You hear a lot about it here and there and off and on. But remember this, nearly thirty national championships—United States and British opens and amateurs—have been won with the old-fashioned two-handed, non-overlapping grip. Not one or two, but nearly thirty, by John Ball, Jerry Travers, Walter J. Travers, Alec Smith, Chandler Egan, J. H. Whigham, C. B. McDonald and others. The present overlapping grip is not always the best thing for small hands or short fingers. If there is a tendency to slice, the cure can at least be assisted by keeping the left hand well over the club and the right hand somewhat more under the club. If there is a tendency to hook, just the opposite. Probably the most important feature of the grip is that it be firm without being tight, tense or in any way strained. It should never be tight enough to restrict the flexibility of the wrists. The average fault is overtightness in gripping, not overlightness or looseness. You don't try to squeeze the covers off a baseball in the act of throwing. The same idea applies to your grip on a golf club.

3 Kayoes Feature Bill Hooper's Card

Fight fans who like knockouts served to them in large quantities were well satisfied Monday at the colored Elks' rest for three bouts of the four staged by Billy Hooper, local colored promoter of punching fests, ended in knockouts.

In the main bout of the evening, Charlie King slipped the K. O. punch to Herbert Moore in the second round of a scheduled 10-round scrap. The mixing was plentiful, and at the time of the fatal punch both fighters were going at top speed.

Johnnie Hinton, New York, added another kayo victory to his list when he connected a fast traveling mit with the chin of one Gene Thomas in the sixth round of an eight-round bout.

The other sleep producer was planted on the jaw or thereabouts of Pittsburgh Kid by Cowboy Kid, local battler. Lightning Howard and Bill Thompson fought to a draw. A battle royal opened the show.

More Expected To Reach Here This Morning

Tom Rogers, in Hospital, Will Be Unable to Report for 10 Days.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

The first baseball workout of the year was held by the Crackers and 13 men were present. Of course, counting Rell Spiller, Cracker boss, Earl Mann and Mr. Frazer, of the office force, "Silver Bill" Stickney, road secretary; and Sam Johnson, ground-keeper would swell the list, but they weren't in uniform, and couldn't be counted.

It was a scene good to look upon, with the boys clad in new uniforms and bright red leather jackets, out in the sunshine tossing the ball around with one or two engaging in a gentle pepper practice.

Most of those reporting were newcomers to the Crackers and a scattering of semi-pros of turning fully pro. A few old-timers were there. Among them the elegant Mr. Ray Francis, who has announced to all and sundry that his work this summer will be his best. When Mr. Francis does that, then a club has a good pitcher. The Crackers have Ray this year.

Hospital.

Tom Rogers was due to report Monday, but instead he dashed out on Washington street, into the Piedmont sanitarium and had a portion of bone in his nose removed. The slightly edlerly right-hander will be confined for some 10 days, so the doctor said. After that he will be ready for work.

Among the most likely looking of the newcomers was none other than Tom Angley, late of Georgia Tech and later still of the Macon Peaches. That Tom has grown somewhat wouldn't be telling the truth. The chuncky catcher has doubled himself and right now moves 212 pounds every time he takes a step. But Bert Niehoff has avowed that Tom will be carrying a load of only 190 or more pounds when the season opens. It's a long way around the field—especially if one is running. A medicine ball, too, helps in taking off weight.

Tom was engaged during a part of the workout, which lasted for about two hours, in tapping the ball gently as it was tossed up to him. Occasionally he stepped into one and sent the ball for a long ride, which may be indicative of home runs and doubles to come this summer. Angley's record last year with Macon would seem to substantiate the fact, anyhow.

Prognosticator.

Colonel Spiller proved himself as a reliable weather prognosticator, because the sun was shining brightly all Monday morning, just as the colonel had predicted Sunday afternoon to this correspondent, during all the precipitation. The ground, however, had not had time to dry off, and the field was sloppy in spots.

"That rain certainly spoiled a good day for us," remarked Bert Niehoff, as he came up the steps from the clubhouse. Bert was carrying a heavy leather bag, a container of baseballs. He paused a moment at the edge of the field, shifted the bag from one hand to the other. "Well, here I go starting off a season for the 21st time. I ought to get used to the thing after a while."

Workouts for the first week will be of a short nature. Thirteen from 34 leaves, according to the combined calculations of Dick Hawkins and this correspondent, 21 men to report. And they will be straggling in all week, which is the customary habit of baseball players. A large portion is expected Wednesday, headed by Walter Gilbert, Jim Poole, Sherry Smith, Johnny Brock and Frank Zoeller. The latter, with Atlanta last year, will find himself headed for another club somewhere. Mr. Spiller said Sunday that he was preparing to sell the outfielder.

Pitchers.

Pitchers predominated among those working out Monday. The flingers were E. C. Dudley, last year with Greenville; Austin Moore, property of Macon, but working out here for a few days; Frank Chilton, recruited from the semi-pro ranks of Cedartown last year by Colonel Spiller and destined to become a Cracker regular with coaching from Sherry Smith; Ray Francis whom all of you have heard about; Carl Spencer, from Savannah; James McGuffey, recruited from East Point. Others reporting were Tom Angley, Macon last year, and Cliff Miller, formerly with the Quantico Marines, catchers; Casey Mills, short stop; Stuffy McCrone, first baseman from Asheville; Eldon Carlyle, brother of the famous Carlyle boys—Cleo and Roy—from Norcross, Ga., outfielder.

It was definitely learned Monday that Dennis Gearin would not be among those present on the Cracker club this year. When Colonel Spiller bought Gearin last winter it was with the understanding that the Milwaukee pitcher probably wouldn't wish to come south and play ball. Therefore, if he came, the Crackers would pay for him. If not, he was to be turned back to Milwaukee. He didn't come.

Work will begin again today at 11 o'clock and the list is expected to be swelled by arrivals this morning.

But so long as the weather continues clear, and the boys are working, then everyone should be satisfied.

Attaway Faces Tough Boxer Here Friday

Greek Battler Has 22 Kayoes To His Credit; Other Bouts Booked.

Stiles Attaway, punching pug of Gainesville, Ga., who holds the southern middleweight title, will meet a tough lad Friday night in the main bout at Jimmy Mayson's Ringside cauliflower shop, when the youngster from Gainesville compares punches with Peter Stamaty, the "Fighting Greek" of New Orleans.

It was two or more years ago that Attaway was discovered atop a power line pole working as lineman for the Georgia Power company. Further discoveries revealed that Attaway possessed a husky punch, so he was persuaded upon to quit climbing poles and begin climbing the frames of certain gentlemen engaged in the manly art of modified murder.

Punches Way to Top.

That he has met with fair success can be gleaned from the fact that he has won over 30 fights in the past two years—yes, he's lost some—and punched his way to the top of the southern middleweights in those two years.

Due to the fact that prize fighting in Atlanta has been what it has for some few years—up until the Ringside arena began operations—very few have been the times that young Attaway has performed for local fans. The times he has appeared here, however, the people have, apparently, been well pleased, so they'll probably turn out in considerable numbers next Friday night.

The fight between Attaway and Stamaty, a 10-round affair, is in itself enough to cause a large turnout of the fans. Stamaty comes up from the Crescent City with a record of 22 kayoes behind him. From his pictures, one would judge him to be something of a scrapper. Attaway is a good puncher. Usually, when two good punchers get together, a good fight is the result.

But to build up his main bout Mayson has a semi-windup bringing together two local lights, Casey Jones and Homer Reid, lightweights. Added to this will be three good preliminary bouts. Mayson will announce his complete card at a later date.

Leading Polo Stars Gather at Aiken

Aiken, S. C., March 5.—(United News.)—Thirty-five players and more than 1,000 ponies have arrived at Aiken for the March polo matches.

In a round robin polo game today, Baldwin Day Spillman was bruised painfully when his mount fell and broke its neck.

Cracker Dust.

The Crackers are arriving and they come in all sizes, most of them oversizes. Monday morning we were standing with Kid Clay in the grandstand at Spiller's field. He was looking toward the field when he suddenly said, "What's that black and white taxicab doing down there on the field?" And Kid Clay knows Tom Angley well, too.

But the mistake was natural, because we got a rear view of Tom first. He weighs just three pounds less than a bale of cotton and is nearly the same shape. You won't know him in another month, though. Now he weighs something like 215 pounds and then he will weigh about 190 or less. That is, he will if Uncle Bert has his way—and he usually does.

Mr. Rell Jackson Spiller, the boss of the whole shebang and the man who signs all the pay checks, could be seen Monday rubbing his hands in very apparent glee. And why not? The training season certainly started with one pretty day if it never sees another. And the boys are all showing up in pretty good shape.

"That Chilton boy," for instance. He informed us that he had "turned 200 acres of ground in the past two weeks" and showed us calloused hands to prove the assertion. And "that Chilton boy" is going to put his name on the regular rolls before many a year. In fact, he is quite likely to be seen in his regular turn this year. You will remember that he is the boy strikeout wonder of Cedartown. And he is a wonder despite the fact that his few chances at the last of last season didn't prove much.

Bert Niehoff is a pretty good judge of material, this being the twenty-first time he has started a season of baseball in the leagues. Bert believes that old Sherrod Smith will be a great help to Frank Chilton and while Bert makes no predictions this early in the season, it is not hard to believe that he plans on having Chilton on the staff throughout the summer. The boy has the stuff. Lots of it, and all he needs is experience plus good instruction. He should get both this season.

Another cause for joy on the part of Mr. Spiller is the attitude assumed by Ray Francis, the veteran southpaw, who donned his uniform on the first day of practice. Ray is in earnest this season and any time Ray is satisfied and wants to pitch he can win a lot of ball games in this league.

It is not all smiles with Mr. Spiller, however. Monday morning Bill Stickney made his way to the dressing room and was greeted with but one question. The boys all love Bill, but before kissing him they yelled in chorus: "Where's our meal money?" Such appetites, and the worst is yet to come.

Frenchmen Lead 6-Day Bike Race

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Thirty laps were stolen during wild and sensational riding in the evening sprints of the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden tonight, bringing the total of stolen laps in the contest thus far to 79.

The French combinations of Faudet-Marcillac and Letourner-Brocardo continued to set the pace for the pack of pedallers with a score of 415 miles, six laps, at 10 p. m.

Farrell Medalist In $5,000 Tourney

Nassau, Bahamas, March 5.—(United News.)—Johnny Farrell returned the low card at the end of the first 18 holes in the $5,000 golf tournament which started here today. His 65 was just one stroke better than Gene Sarazen's effort.

Willie Cruickshank and Demane were tied for third with 67. Bill Mehlhorn placed fifth with 70, while Jock Hutchinson and Abe Espinosa came next with 71.

The finals will be played Tuesday morning.

Louisville Given 1928 Net Meet

BY WHITNER CARY.

Courts of the Louisville Boat club will be the battleground the week of July 9, for those Dixie tennis stars seeking the title of southern champion.

This announcement was made Monday by Frank (Hop) Owens, southern member of the executive committee of the American Lawn Tennis association, who returned from an executive meeting of the association, held at the University club in Memphis Sunday.

It is understood that invitations from several southern cities were received at the meeting but that after careful consideration by the executive committee, consisting of the president, two vice presidents, secretary and treasurer and national committeeman, the Kentucky city was chosen.

The selection of Louisville for the 1928 tournament marks the second time within five years the event has gone to that city. In 1923 the Dixie classic was held there, Jeff Hunt, formerly of Atlanta, winning the singles and, paired with Frank Owens, annexing the doubles.

The announcement that Louisville will get the annual championship insures a full attendance of players from this section. The overnight trip, plus the delightful entertainment that is always a part of the event when held in the Kentucky city, will be too strong a factor to keep many of the Atlanta stars away. This also holds good for those residing in the Carolinas and Tennessee.

From early indications it appears that the 1928 fixture will see an even larger attendance than marked the event last year at Memphis. It was at this latter championship that Bryan Grant's name was blazed across the southern tennis map when he galloped through to take the singles crown. Bryan will go to Louisville to defend his title.

Other Atlanta players who are practically sure to be among those present when the opening round starts are Jack Mooney, number two ranking player in the south; Hop Owens, number three; Malon Courts, number seven, and Berry Grant ranked well up in doubles in the 1927 Dixie rankings.

Antley Wins by K. O.

Mobile, Ala., March 5.—(AP)—Boots Antley, of Columbus, Ga., 137, scored a 6-round knockout here tonight over Moxie Miller, of Cleveland, 134. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds. Ray Shaffer, 134, of Biloxi, won an 8-round decision from Carl Miller, of Cleveland, 133 1-2.

TWIN APARTMENT BUILDINGS BOUGHT

Purchase of the Ivanhoe and Kenilworth twin apartment buildings on Ponce de Leon avenue, from Soloman Molsman, of New York, by Norman I. Miller, Atlanta attorney and large property holder, was announced Monday by J. H. Ewing & Sons, agents. The consideration was said to be approximately $150,000.

The two structures are located on a site having a 150-foot frontage at 934-42 Ponce de Leon avenue, and extending back 200 feet. The purchase, which was said to have been made for investment purposes, also includes a parcel of vacant property in the rear of the apartments. The buildings each contain 12 six-room units and have an annual income of approximately $23,000 in rentals.

CHICAGO KIWANIANS MAKE MACON VISIT

Macon, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—A delegation of 40 Kiwanis club members of Chicago, arrived here Monday to be Macon's guests. They were met at the station and entertained at breakfast and many of them were carried to the Idle Hour club for a round of golf. They spent all of the day in Macon. leaving at midnight on their way home. They are traveling in special Pullmans.

The ladies in the party were given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Hay here. An automobile ride over the city was given in the afternoon and a dinner-dance was tendered at the Idle Hour Country club.

THREE CHARLESTON RESIDENTS NAMED IN WILL OF O'DELL

Savannah, Ga., March 5.—(AP)—Micheal O'Grady and William J. O'Dell Hayes and James M. Hayes, all of Charleston, S. C., receive legacies from the estate of the late Charles J. O'Dell, who died instestate in Savannah some months ago. The report of the appraisers are filed in the court of ordinary here today, and the nine heirs approved the partition as set forth in the report. ,

Michael O'Grady receives $70,00 in cash, and an interest in deeds to secure debt. The Hayes boys are awarded a secured debt of $51,000 owed the estate by John P. Grace, of Charleston, other secured debts certificates of deposit totaling more than $51,000, and jewelry worth $3,500.

Young Boy Hurt.

Social Circle, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—L. D. Meeks, 10-year-old son of a local farmer, climbed on a stalk cutter when an older brother momentarily had left the field where he was working.

The mules became frightened and moved off, throwing the lad to the ground and the flesh of his left arm was flayed severely by the revolving blades. It is feared the boy may lose the arm.

EMORY HEAD PLANS VISIT TO VALDOSTA

Valdosta, Ga., March 5.—J. R. Dasher, chairman of the building committee of the Emory University Junior college, has been notified that Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory university, will be here during the week, probably on Thursday. He will be accompanied by Dr. Lovett, a member of the university staff.

Dr. Cox has not been in Valdosta since the south Georgia annual conference in November, when the cornerstone of the administration building of the college was laid. Since that time the work on the building has advanced rapidly and in a few days more all of the slate roof will be completed. In the meantime the tower on the building is rearing its head upward, and will be completed in a short time.

It will be but a short time before work will be started on the inside finishing of the building.

Dr. Cox will confer with the building and finance committees while in this city, and Valdosta will begin taking the last steps to close up the negotiations with Emory. This city agreed to furnish the 40 acres for the college plant, erect the administration building at a cost of $150.000 and provide a cash endowment of $200.000.

During the summer all this is to be turned over to Emory and that institution will operate it as well as provide for all additional buildings that may be needed from time to time. The conference this week will be preliminary to the closing up of business, as the faculty for the institution must soon be secured for the opening of the college in September.

Realtors Warned For Delinquency InLicense-Buying

Although the number of 1928 licenses applied for by real estate brokers and salesmen to date has surpassed the total for the same period last year, J. B. Everett, inspector of the Georgia Real Estate commission. Monday issued a warning to all real estate men delinquent in obtaining licenses, as required under the state law, that warrants would be served without further delay.

Inspector Everett reported that in the five counties affected by the real estate licensing law, 292 brokers and 430 salesmen had applied for licenses until March 1, as compared with 289 brokers and 395 salesmen applying during the same period in 1927. The increased efficiency in enforcing the law, Mr. Everett stated, is believed to be due to the policy of stringent enforcement announced by the commission at the beginning of the year.

"This policy will not be relaxed," the inspector asserted, continuing: "Warrants will be taken out against those attempting to dodge the law. The state law is effective in the counties of Fulton, Bibb, Chatham, Muscogee and Richmond, and calls for a license fee of $25 for brokers, $10 for associate brokers and $5 for salesmen.

The inspector stated that this law has been confused with the state occupational tax of $50, to which real estate brokers are subject and against the evasion of which the local real estate board has been waging a campaign. There is no connection between this law and the one being enforced by the commission, Mr. Everett explained. The commission invites the cooperation of real estate boards, realty dealers and the public in enforcing the licensing law, the inspector said.

RUNAWAY YOUTHS ARE BELIEVED SEEN IN SOUTH GEORGIA

Waycross, Ga., March 5.—(Special.) Two boys, answering the general description of a couple of East Point lads who ran away from home recently, were reported to have been seen on March 1 on the Dixie highway, according to a letter received by The Constitution Monday.

The East Point boys, Timothy Ladin and Richard Peacock, both 15 years of age, left their homes last Monday. Both were freshmen at Fulton High school.

Paul Loska, an employee of the Atlantic Coast Line shops at Waycross, wrote that he had seen two young lads about the age and appearance of the East Point boys "on the Dixie highway going in the direction of Florida."

One wore a brown suit and held his cap in his hand, the letter said, while the other boy wore a light suit and light cap. Both were young "and had a cheerful expression on their faces," Loska writes.

LOCAL OFFICE LEADS C. OF GA. FREIGHT LIST

The Atlanta freight agency of the Central of Georgia railroad led all other agencies of the company for efficiency in loading and forwarding freight as measured by the yardstick of tons-forwarded-per-exception-reported, in 1927, E. J. Robinson, executive general agent Central of Georgia railway, Atlanta, stated in a talk before the Traffic club luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Monday at the Athletic club.

Mr. Robinson gave a brief history of the railroad from the time of its organization until now. It did the largest intrastate business in 1927 of any railroad in the United States, Mr. Robinson said.

Women are Learning the Right Way

Pimples on the face and other parts of the body are warnings from within. Sometimes they foretell eczema, boils and other skin disorders that burn like flames of fire.

IF you are unfortunate in having skin blemishes, pimples, boils, eczema, you owe it to yourself and friends to remove the cause. Nature will then provide the complexion which is so much desired.

Thousands have been enabled to free themselves of unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

Red blood cells are Nature's way for building and sustaining the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful healthy women.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause—through the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

S.S.S. is Nature's own tonic for restoring the appetite—building strength—and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles.

"I was troubled with pimples and blackheads. I took a course of S.S.S. It cleared my face and back. I think S.S.S. is wonderful. I have told many friends about S.S.S., and they are getting as much benefit as I did." Miss Ruth Gahm, 1134 Elden Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

To My Friends and Fellow Citizens of Fulton County

Assurances from every section of our county convince me that the principles upon which I have made my race for county commissioner will be overwhelmingly endorsed on March 7th.

It is your victory, and I want to take this opportunity of letting you know that my heart is full of gratitude for the magnificent support which you have given me, and I promise, when I am elected, I will always have in mind my obligation to you.

The teachers, firemen, police, school and charities of our county need aid. It is my purpose to stand four-square behind them.

I have found that, in this, my first political race, many things quoted as having been said by me were never mentioned, but were distorted and changed. I have no unkind feeling against any candidate. I have tried to meet every issue face to face, and if, in their discussions, I have offended anyone, please be assured that as the race nears its end, I close my campaign with ill will toward no man and with a heart full of love for those loyal friends who have stood by me so faithfully.

I wish to call upon all of my friends and supporters to go to the polls and vote their convictions. We will have better government and our victory will be overwhelming.

Permit us to call your attention to the following facts about A. M. CORRIE in the SHERIFF'S RACE

He is a man large of stature, of strong and positive convictions, yet one whom Providence has endowed with the virtues of kindness and tenderness. He is naturally a leader of men, a man among men. Unschooled in the science of politics, his race for Sheriff will either stand or fail on his and his deputies' strength as sober, upright, courteous and honest citizens.

Mr. Corrie has lived in Fulton county thirty-five years or more; pays his taxes and votes in Fulton county. He is connected with the Southern Railway company, from which his opponent came. He stands for a righteous and efficient administration of the sheriff's office. He is a man of action and of excellent ability; not a rich man, but living comfortably. What he has accumulated, however, of this world's goods was by hard labor, and economy, and not by inheritance or from public office.

The encumbent has enjoyed the trust, confidence and respect of Fulton county voters for three terms consecutively. A new broom sweeps clean. We believe Mr. Corrie will make a more active and better Sheriff. We will appreciate the vote and help of every citizen in the county. Mr. Corrie will improve and better the service in every point and particularly where it can be done. VOTE FOR HIM.

Mrs. F. L. Pratt Feted Honor Guest At Party Series

Mrs. Frederick Livingston Pratt, of New York and Paris, the guest of former Governor and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, is being delightfully entertained.

Thursday evening, March 8, Mr. and Mrs. John Grant will entertain in honor of this attractive visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Smythe wil lentertain Sunday evening, March 11, at their home on Fifteenth street, honoring Mrs. Pratt.

A number of other parties have been previously announced. This afternoon Mrs. Don Pardee will honor Mrs. Pratt at luncheon at the Georgian Terrace hotel. This evening Mr. and Mrs. Slaton will entertain at dinner at their home "Wingfield," on Peachtree road. March 7 Mrs. Pratt will share honors at the luncheon to be given by Mrs. John Dozier Little at her home in the Biltmore apartments, the other honor guest being the hostess' sister, Mrs. Louise Stevens, of Macon. Friday evening, March 9, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. McBurney will entertain at dinner for Mrs. Pratt. Saturday, March 10, Miss Mattie Slaton will be hostess at luncheon at the Piedmont Driving club. Saturday evening former Governor and Mrs. Slaton will entertain at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club in honor of their guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson entertained in honor of Mrs. Pratt Monday evening at "Broadlands," their home on North Side drive.

A combination of sweet peas and delicate white heather, which formed the centerpiece of the table, was surrounded by silver candlesticks holding slender white lighted tapers, which cast a soft glow over the scene. Mrs. Richardson received her guests in a charming model of black velvet.

'An Evening in Dixie' To Be Sponsored By Agnes Lee Chapter

Mrs. Joel S. Aiken, gifted dialect reader and impersonator, will give "An Evening in Dixie" in the chapel of Agnes Scott college Tuesday evening, March 6. Mrs. Aiken appears under the auspices of the scholarship committee of Agnes Lee chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The following ladies will be hostesses for the evening: Mrs. C. M. Candler and Mrs. William Alden, after whom the Agnes Scott scholarships are named; Mesdames R. B. Cunningham, Jennie D. Finley, W. A. Ozmer, president of the chapter; C. L. Weekes and Guy Webb, vice presidents; Mrs. W. S. Smith, secretary; Mrs. Charles Bothwell, Mrs. J. Davis Camp, Mrs. F. H. Gaines, Mrs. T. R. Crown, Mrs. E. G. Wilson, Mrs. A. J. Woodruff, Mrs. J. A. Hall, Mrs. C. D. McKinney, Mrs. A. E. Stead, Mrs. Ralph Gordy, Mrs. John Goss, Mrs. J. C. Johnson, president of the Children of the Confederacy, and Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, chairman of the committee.

Eight charming young girls from the membership of the Children of the Confederacy, Anna S. Fulton chapter, will serve as ushers and Mrs. Aiken will be supported by some of the splendid musical talent of Decatur.

Mrs. Aiken is a close student of the old-time southern negro and is a sympathetic interpreter of the legends, folk lore and spirituals of this fast-disappearing type of negro.

Some of the selections Mrs. Aiken will give include "The Excursionists," "Bandanna Songs," "A Character Sketch of Yesterday and Today," "Liza at the Telephone," "Dr. Snowball's Lecture on Womanism," "Dinah's Trip Up North," "Dreaming in De Twilight" (musical reading by Lytton Cox), "Knights and Ladies of the Rising Star" (a lodge meeting, Dungee), "Dancing at the Flat Creek Quarters."

Mrs. J. G. Addy and Mrs. C. S. Hamilton will open the program with "Funeral March of a Marionette," from Sweet Burlesque, by Gounod, and "Andante," by Chaminad. Walter Herbert will sing negro spirituals, and Mrs. Aken, a new member of the musical contingent of Decatur, will close the evening by singing "Old Folks at Home" and "Dixie."

Miss Phyllis Bodeker Weds Mr. Riley.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Phyllis Bodeker and A. H. Riley, both of Atlanta, which took place March 3 in Gainesville, Ga., in the presence of a few close friends who motored from Atlanta for the occasion, Rev. W. J. Crawley officiating.

Mrs. Riley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Bodeker. Mr. Bodeker is an executive engineer for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company, having held that position for the past several years.

Mr. Riley is a graduate of Auburn, class of 1925, and is a member of the Phi Delta Gamma fraternity. He is now assistant engineer on the new viaduct construction and has until recently been with the Georgia Power company. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Riley will be at home at 97 Druid circle.

Mrs. Ashby Given Birthday Party.

Music was furnished by Charles Hansen, Mr. Holder, Hendon Maine, Mrs. Kate Massey and Miss Bertha Banks.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Massey, Miss Bertha Banks, Mrs. E. J. Marchman, Mr. and Mrs. Red Garner, Mrs. J. W. Pitman, Mrs. Kate Parham, Mrs. Essie Zimmerman, Mrs. Tom Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bethea, Mr. and Mrs. James Gaston, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hansen and Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby.

Miss Ruth Evans Weds M. Larimore.

Fort Valley, Ga., March 5.—Miss Ruth Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert James Evans, became the bride of Dr. Joseph William Larimore, of St. Louis, Thursday evening, March 1, at a lovely home ceremony. Miss Mary Evans, young sister of the bride, was maid of honor and only attendant. Albert J. Evans, Jr., acted as best man. Little Miss Evans was a dainty figure in bouffant blue taffeta brock, and her flowers were a shower bouquet of pink sweetpeas.

The bride was gowned in white satin. Her real lace wedding veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried an armful of lilies of the valley. Miss Ann Heyes, cousin of the bride, presided at the piano. Dr. M. H. Lichliter, pastor of the First Congregational church, of Columbus, Ohio, brother-in-law of the groom, read the nuptial vows.

Following the ceremony there was a reception. Mrs. Albert J. Evans wore a green satin gown with rhinestone trimmings. Mrs. Edwin Murray, sister of the bride, was gowned in pink georgette with crystal beads. Mrs. M. H. Litchliter, sister of the groom, was charming in a flame chiffon gown. Their flowers were shoulder bouquets in pastel shades.

The bride is a member of a prominent Georgia family, her father being one of the leading peach growers in the south. She is a graduate of Agnes Scott college, and studied at Columbia university following her graduation. Since leaving Columbia, she has traveled extensively in Europe and America. She was the popular queen of the famous peach blossom festival in 1925.

Dr. Larimore is identified with the leading hospitals of St. Louis, and is an instructor in the Washington Medical university. He is a member of the American Gastro-Enterological association. He received his academic education in Depauw university in Indiana and graduated later from Washington Medical university. His family, descendants of the French Huguenots, of North Carolina, were among the pioneers of the west. He served 26 months in France during the world war. He was connected with the American base hospital at Rouen, France, and also with medical interests in Paris.

Dr. and Mrs. Larimore left for St. Louis, following the reception. In a few weeks they sail for Europe, where they will spend seevral months, returning to St. Louis to make their home.

Atlantans Appear At Costume Ball At Palm Beach

The Palm Beach Times of March 2 published an interesting account of the Everglades club costume ball, being regarded as the most brilliant social affair given during the season at this famous resort, and the costumes of Miss Katherine Murphy and Mrs. John E. Murphy, of Atlanta, were inspiration for a very lengthy description.

Miss Murphy represented a "Lady of Mirrors," in a gold lace gown over flesh crepe satin, with bodice of solid mirrors and rhinestones. Short, tight fitting sleeves of mirrors and solid rhinestones and long flounces of gold lace made a very effective costume with which she wore a fan-shaped head dress of gold lace with mirrors and rhinestones.

Mrs. Murphy was an "Orchid Lady," costumed in orchid chiffon with which she wore an orchid wig and a shoulder bouquet of orchids. She was the guest of the Countess of Lauderdale and her brother, Captain Vaughan Williams.

The Everglades club in itself furnished a setting of remarkable and appealing beauty for the event, and the spacious halls of the club, with arched loggias, beautiful patio and exquisite orange gardens flooded by moonlight and surrounded by tropical verdue and palms, lend themselves to the glorious and kalediosropic riot of costume and color and beauty, making the most wonderful background imaginable for this event, which is the outstanding ball of the season.

The same issue of the paper carried a paragraph revolving around Mrs. Conkey Whitehead's attractive appearance on the beach, wearing "a frock of rose-colored jersey, fashioned on the accepted two-piece sports lines, and a large hat of rose Milan straw."

Mr. Gos To Deliver Illustrated Lecture.

Charles Gos, son of Albert Gos, famous Swiss painter, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "The Painters of the Alps," before the members of the Atlanta Art association at the High museum at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Gos' lecture will be one of remarkable brilliancy as he is not only a lecturer of marked ability but, like his father, a deep student of the rugged Alps.

J. Carroll Payne, president of the association, requests all members to be present promptly at 3 o'clock. Admission will be by membership card and a special invitation is extended to members who have recently enrolled.

Engagement Party Is Given Mr. Space And Miss McGowan

The formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret McGowan and Julian Space, which was paradoxically a most informal occasion, was made last evening at the Country club, when Stewart Walker had a group of close friends at supper. Supper was served at a table handsomely appointed and beautifully adorned with fragrant pink carnations and ferns placed in a silver basket. Graceful silver candlesticks held slender pink candles, and the place cards were cunning little Cupids in their well-known poses. Later dancing was enjoyed.

Mr. Walker's guests on this very delightful and interesting occasion were Miss McGowan with Mr. Space, Miss Catherine Jack with Mr. Varnadoe, Miss Peggy Bothwell with William Morris, Miss Caroline Brown with Pete McCreary, Miss Frances Parker with Lamar Burford, Miss Martha Culley with Mr. Walker, Bill Fulcher and John Kilpatrick.

Why Is Fat So Rare?

There's a reason

Do you realize how uncommon are the people with excess fat? At one time there were many times as many. But men and women came to realize that fat blighted beauty, efficiency and health.

One great factor in this change is a discovery made some two decades ago. Research men found a cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of some elements which turn food into fuel and energy. They found a way to supply those elements.

Twenty years ago that discovery was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People began to use them back in 1907 They told others the results. Thus the use has grown to millions of boxes. You can everywhere see the slender figures which today prevail.

Users of Marmola are not forced to abnormal exercise or diet. They combat the cause of obesity They simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. And they gain at the same time new health and vitality.

The formula of Marmola comes in every box. Also the reasons for results. We do this to ward off any fear of harm. You know what you are taking, and why.

Excess fat blights beauty and health and efficiency If you suffer from it, learn the right way to combat it. Do this now Order a box of Marmola and let the results tell you how long to continue. You will be amazed and delighted in many ways. And you will learn that excess fat is inexcusable today

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out he will get them at once from his jobber.

Moriarty-Keith Wedding Rites Are Solemnized at Home

Characterized by beauty and dignity the marriage of Miss Katherine Gertrude Moriarty, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Moriarty, and Harry Eugene Keith, was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Monday evening, March 5, at the home of the bride's parents, on Piedmont avenue. Rev. Father Michael Cotter, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a representative gathering of friends and relatives. Preceding the marriage service a program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Mae McAlpin, violinist, and Dr. Arthur J. Daniels, pianist. Miss Catherine Jentzen sang "Because" and Schubert's "Ave Maria." The wedding march from Lohengrin was played for the entrance of the bridal party.

Exquisite Decorations.

The home was exquisitely decorated with palms, ferns and large clusters of fragrant flowers in pastel shades. The stairway was garlanded with graceful smilax and dainty bunches of lilies were caught along the balustrade and to the ribbons which formed the aisle from the stairway to the improvised altar at one end of the long living room. The altar was formed of a semi-circle bank of palms and foliage plants. Tall baskets of calla and Easter lilies stood on white columns occupying the center of the bank of palms. Seven branched candelabra with cathedral standards on each side cast a soft glow over the lovely scene. White wicker floor baskets filled with Easter lilies were placed at artistic intervals.

The Bride's Attendants.

First to enter were the ribbon-bearers, Misses Helen Engelhart, Ida Engelhart, Annie Ruth Perry and Jennie Lovett. They were followed by the groomsmen, J. Welsby Honour, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla.; William McAlpin and Albert Moriarty. Randolph Perry and Andrew Ferland were ushers. The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Murphy, Miss Katie Sue Whitehead, Mrs. J. Welsby Honour, Jr., sister of the bride, and Miss Patricia Collins, maid of honor, came next in order. They wore exquisite Louiseboulanger models of taffeta of soft pastel shades, fashioned with tight-fitting bodices and full skirts falling in soft uneven hemlines. They carried shower bouquets of pink roses and delicately tinted sweet peas.

Miss Murphy's gown was of delicate green taffeta with green satin slippers and hose to complete the lovely costume. Miss Whitehead was similarly fashioned in pale orchid. Mrs. Honour made a striking picture of brunette loveliness in yellow. Miss Collins, maid of honor, was lovely in flesh taffeta with slippers and hose to match.

The little flower girl, Katherine Anne Honour, neice of the bride, was exquisite in a dainty frock of pink georgette, and carried a basket of pink roses and sweet peas. She preceded the lovely matron of honor, Mrs. D. J. Moriarty, mother of the bride, who was beautifully gowned in a Vionnet model of silver blue. She carried a bouquet similar to those of the bridesmaids.

Beautiful Bride.

Elaborate Reception.

Following the ceremony an elaborate reception was held. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Moriarty were Mrs. William Keith, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Sydney Durham, sister of the groom. Mrs. Keith wore a draped model of black lace, caught at the side with a rhinestone buckle. Her corsage was of Ophelia roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Durham wore a peach colored chiffon becomingly fashioned with a shoulder bouquet of pink buds.

Miss Jennie Lovett, Miss Alice Minahan and Miss Gertrude Minahan served coffee. Punch was served on the enclosed porch by Misses Helen and Ida Engelhart from a beautiful silver punch bowl surrounded with sweet peas. The bride's book was kept by Miss Anna Ruth Perry, wearing a gown of yellow georgette beaded with rhinestones.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith left for a wedding trip to Florida and will make their home in Atlanta upon their return.

Among out-of-town guests were Mrs. L. T. Roberts, Miss Clyde Matthews, and Mrs. Paul Roberts, all of Fayetteville, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Keith, of Augusta, Ga.; Miss Ida Lawton, of Akron, Ohio ,and Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Perry, of Dalton, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith were honor guests at the buffet supper of which Mrs. D. J. Moriarty, mother of the bride, entertained following the wedding rehearsal Sunday evening.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 2, 4 and 5 years. A 4-year size will require 2 3-8 yards of 27-inch material together with 1-4 yard of contrasting material for facings on collar, cuffs, leg bands and pockets.

A STYLISH GOWN.

The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress as illustrated for a 38-inch size will require 1 yard of 32-inch lining for the underbody, and 4 1-8 yards of 35-inch material, together with 1-2 yard of contrasting material for collar, cuff, and revers facings, and for the sleeve extensions. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 1 3-4 yard.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our UP-TO-DATE SPRING AND SUMMER (1928) BOOK OF FASHIONS.

In ordering patterns write name and address plainly on a sheet of paper. Order by number and include price in silver or stamps. Do not mail letter to The Constitution building in Atlanta, but address as follows: Fashion Department, The Constitution, 11-13 Sterling Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hugh Hodgson Gives Concert At Morning Musicale

Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Atlanta Music club, announces an important business session at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Woman's club, preceding the morning musicale, which begins at 11 o'clock.

Hugh Hodgson, well known pianist, teacher and composer, has arranged an all-Bach program and will be assisted by Mrs. Hodgson, soprano and teacher, and several of his artist pupils. Mr. Hodgson will give an informal talk on Bach, prefacing each number with a unique sketch of the composition. One of the unusual presentations is the Concerto in D for three pianos, Mrs. Harriet Hirsch, Miss Lucy McDermed and Miss Irene Leftwich playing. Miss Caroline Gray will appear twice, first playing a piano solo, "Partita," and afterwards a violin solo, "Air for the G String." Miss Lucy McDermed will open the program with the "Concerto in D-minor," Mr. Hodgson playing the orchestral part at the second piano. Mrs. Hirsch will play the "Prelude and Fugue in C-sharp Major." Mrs. Hodgson will sing "Bis du die mir" and "Patron das Macht der Wind.' The gray card of membership must be presented at the door, and guest cards may be secured at the door at a small fee.

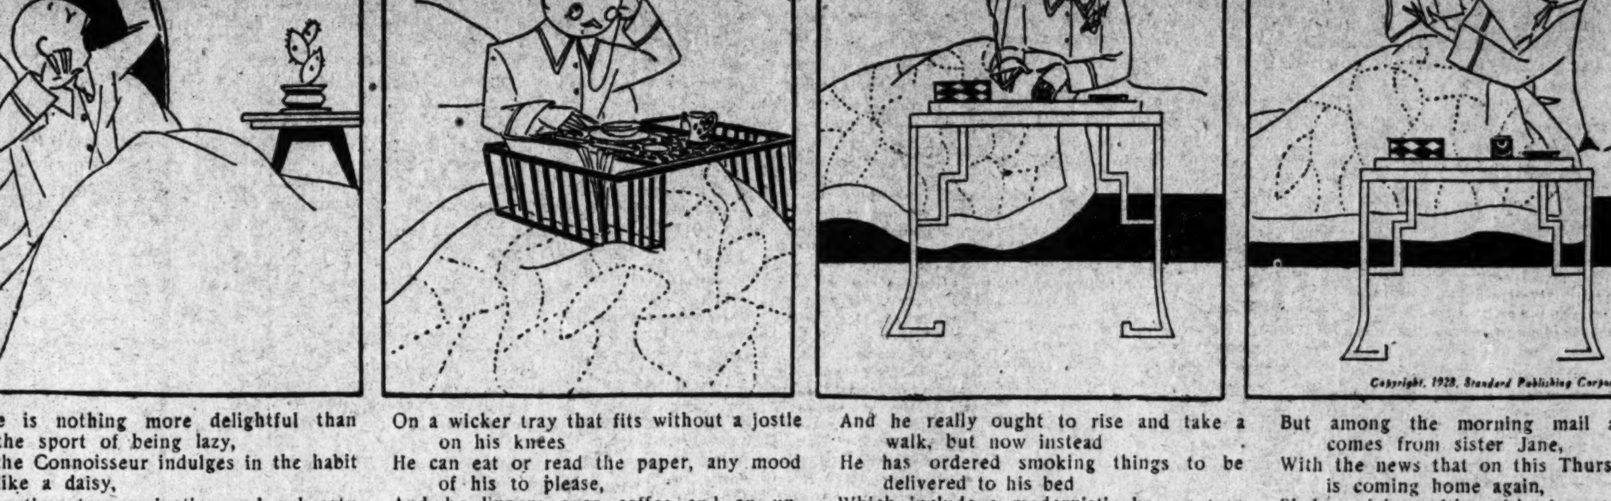
THE CONNOISSEUR

Mr. Van de View Hears From His Sister at College



There is nothing more delightful than the sport of being lazy,
And the Connoisseur indulges in the habit like a daisy,
Taking time for rumination and a hearty stretch or two Till he rings to get his breakfast—lucky Mr. Van de View.

On a wicker tray that fits without a jostle on his knees
He can eat or read the paper, any mood of his to please,
And he lingers over coffee and an uppetizing waffle
With procrastinating laziness that ought to be unlawful.

And he really ought to rise and take a walk, but now instead
He has ordered smoking things to be delivered to his bed
Which include a modernistic box, a tray and lighter too,
On a table with a mirror top—the newest of the new.

But among the morning mail a letter comes from sister Jane,
With the news that on this Thursday she is coming home again,
She's arriving with a friend or two who need a little "rest"

Mrs. Whitefoot Approves and Disapproves.

Peculiar is the female mind;
What'ere you do is wrong, you'll find.
—Whitefood the Wood Mouse.

Whitefoot was a very proud mouse when at last he led Mrs. Whitefoot into the new home he had so carefully prepared in one of the beehives of Farmer Brown. "There, my dear," said he, "did you ever in all your life see such a wonderful place to spend the winter? And I've taken the greatest pains to make one of the nicest nests. I worried very hard, my dear. I had to cut away a lot of comb to make room for this nest. Don't you just love it?"

Little Mrs. Whitefoot was very busy munching a dead bee that had fallen from the swarm at the top of the hive. All the time her bright little eyes were taking in everything. It was much better than she had expected it to be. Yes, indeed, it was much better than she had expected it to be. But not for the world would she have said so.

"It—it will do, I guess," squeaked little Mrs. Whitefoot. "I mean, this place will do very nicely for a winter home. It seems to be warm, and if all you have told me is true about the food supply we shall spend the rest of the winter very comfortably. But this nest won't do at all. Goodness, no! I never could be satisfied with a nest like this. Where under the sun did you get all this stuff that you have made it of?"

Whitefoot looked a little hurt. He explained where he had gotten all his material, including the cotton waste which he had brought from the little wrenhouse where he had lived for a while.

"The material is all right," squeaked Mrs. Whitefoot, "but we shall have to build this nest all over. I should have been here when you started building. Now we must get busy at once." Suiting her action to the word, she began to pull that nest all apart. Poor Whitefoot! He didn't know what to say, so he said nothing. He sat around and watched Mrs. Whitefoot pull that nest apart. She was a very busy small person and she seemed to be having a fine time undoing what Whitefoot had taken so much pleasure in doing.

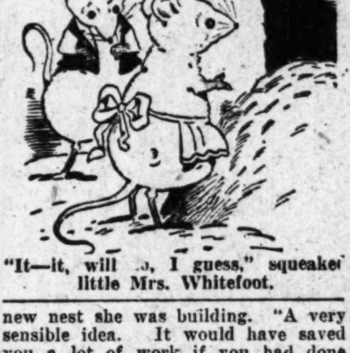
"Why don't you get busy?" she squeaked sharply. "We want to get this nest so we can live in it."

"I didn't see anything the matter with the nest as it was," Whitefoot ventured. "It seemed to me like a very nice nest."

"Oh, it would do for one who was not very particular," replied Mrs. Whitefoot carelessly. "But if I'm going to have a nest I want it to suit me. I never could live comfortably in a nest that didn't suit me."

"Of course, my dear, I want it to suit you," replied Whitefoot. "I thought I had built it just the way you would like it. Next time I'll leave the building until you come."

"A very sensible idea," replied Mrs. Whitefoot, as she scurried back and forth arranging the material in the new nest she was building. "A very sensible idea. It would have saved you a lot of work if you had done so this time."



"It—it, will do, I guess," squeaked little Mrs. Whitefoot.

"Yes'm," said said Whitefoot meekly. And for the life of him he could not see that the nest that Mrs Whitefoot was building was going to be one bit better than the one he had built. But if she thought it was that was sufficient.

Miss Battle Sings With North Avenue Choir in Augusta

The Sunday issue of the Augusta Chronicle contains a lovely photograph of Miss Margaret Battle, of Atlanta, who sang Sunday afternoon with the North Avenue Presbyteran church choir of Atlanta, at the First Presbyterian church of Augusta. Miss Battle was a former well-known Augusta soloist.

"The famous choir of the North Avenue Presbyterian church in Atlanta has come to Augusta to give a musical service this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church in response to a request from Dr. Morgan, pastor of the Augusta church, who wished to give his congregation and the Augusta public the pleasure of hearing this choir and once more to enjoy the beautiful voice of Miss Margaret Battle, for a number of years soprano of the Presbyterian church.

"Joseph Ragan, organist and director; Miss Battle, soprano; Mrs. Harold N. Coolidge, contralto; Edward Kane, tenor, and Edward Werner, baritone, compose this quartet choir, which is considered one of the finest quartet choirs in the country Augusta needs no comments on Margaret Battle's magnificent soprano, which has been admired and enjoyed so long in Augusta, and the opportunity to hear her again will be eagerly seized by hundreds of music lovers here. Mr. Ragan is a noted artist on the pipe organ and all of the members of the choir are noted singers."

Miss McCormack To Be Honored At Luncheon Today

Miss Lenore McCormack, a charming visitor in the city from New York, will be honor guest at an informal luncheon given Tuesday by Mrs. Ira Farmer at Rich's tea room. Miss McCormack is quite an important personage, ranking among America's foremost dress-making demonstrators, coming direct to Atlanta from the dress-making department of M. C. D. Borden and Sons, of New York city, to demonstrate her subject at the spring fashion show and dress-making contest staged by A. M. Robinson company, on Pryor street, which began Monday and continues through Saturday, March 10.

Subjects of vital interest will be discussed daily, meriting the attention of retailers, and the merchandise will be displayed on living models, wearing the latest models of dresses and coats. Prizes will be awarded Wednesday, March 7, in the Borden dress-making contest, the dresses being made by ladies and girls in this section of the country, vieing with each other as to the making of the most stylish dress from Borden's fabrics.

Miss McCormack is an authority on the art of dress making and her demonstrations will prove invaluable to visiting merchants.

Better Homes Chairman Honored in Augusta.

Mrs. Newton C. Wing, Georgia chairman for better homes in America, will be the honor guest today at an elaborate better homes luncheon given by the Augusta Woman's club at the clubhouse in Augusta.

Mrs. Martha Wall Andrews is the Augusta chairman for better homes, and that city's splendid showing in the 1927 campaign was due largely to her efforts and to the Augusta Federation of Women's Clubs, which sponsored the movement. Important plans for the 1928 campaign will be discussed at the luncheon Tuesday.

I HAVE SAID IN MY HEART

BY IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON.

JUST A BIT CONTRARY.

"I wonder if every young person has the same feelings on this subject as I," said Annabelle Lee "or if I am a little different, a little more subborn than other girls of my own age and environment.

"I hate to be commanded to do something. I will do anything for anyone who asks it as a favor, but to have someone say 'do thus or so' is like shaking a red rag at the proverbial bull.

"You know, Mrs. Gibson, that I have the dearest little mother in the world, but she never asks me to do anything for her with what I call a 'pretty please,' although she expects me to thank her profusely when she does for me what I have asked.

"Come and set the table she calls from the kitchen. When she says this she expects me to drop everything I am doing at the time and start for the dining-room with the regularity and dispatch of a drill sergeant at command of his higher officer. I may be in the middle of a most interesting conversation with dad, a conversation that I hope will end in his giving me five dollars to buy one of the new felt hats, but whatever it is I must start almost before the echo of the last word dies away.

"I hate most awfully to feel that I am ever at anyone's beck and call. I always know that I have to set the table and I know I will do it before mother has the food ready. I always have done this since I was old enough to do so without breaking the dishes.

"Mother knows that but she never fails to call me in a most peremptory tone of voice long before there is any need of it being done. As it is I usually leave it much longer than I would if she had not issued her commands. Mother seems to think I would not, but she has never given me a chance to show her that I would. Do you think I am an unruly child, Mrs. Gibson?"

"Yes, dear," I answered.

"In the first place you, knowing that your mother is always impatient about the table being set, should go as soon as she goes to the kitchen and get it over as soon as she begins the meal. But having waited until she asks, it would be no more than the politeness you would give a stranger who asked of you a favor to do it immediately."

WITH THAT JOYOUS FLAVOR

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

RED NOSES.

A. is incensed at his family doctor who tells him to forget his nose, which gets red in cold weather. How can he forget it when it is so embarrassing? He is an office worker, and meets many people during the day. What is the trouble, and what is the remedy?

• • • •

If your family doctor has given you a complete physical examination, and has found you are in good physical condition, and your habits are good, it is probable that you are super-sensitive to a very common condition during cold weather. A, I know that red noses are in disrepute because of their frequent association with alcohol indulgences, but most every one knows now that even total abstainers may support such a beacon.

A red nose may be manifested in one of feeble circulation and debility; and also in apparently just the opposite condition—the pletharic, or what we think of as a full-blooded, apparently over-robust person. Look to your whole hygienic program. A—your exercises, diet, 'n everything. Maybe you can improve it. If you are interested, we have an article on Balanced Diet. (See directions for obtaining it).

Acne Rosacea.

Excessive redness of the nose may be the beginning of a condition called Acne Rosacea. This is a chronic congestive disease of the face, most often of the nose and its neighborhood. The nose will be of varying shades of red; later there is an enlargement of the capillaries, and frequently more or less of a pimply condition. In some instances, the connective tissues of the part overgrow (hypertrophy), and an unattractive, bulbous-looking proboscis result. This form rarely occurs in women, thank goodness.

The immediate cause is considered a reflex dilation of the blood vessels. And this reflex in turn may be caused by different things—alcohol, especially, then over-indulgence in strong teas and coffees, constipation and intestinal upsets, some obstruction in the nose which might dam back the blood, exposure to weather in extreme temperatures, etc. In women, ovarian and uterine troubles may be factors. Formerly tight lacing had to be considered.

This condition should be persistently treated by a skin specialist. It is obstinate, and certainly is an unhappy affliction, even though it is not dangerous.

Jackson advises bathing the nose every night for ten minutes in as hot water as can be borne. This causes a dilation of the vessels which is followed by a contraction. The skin must be protected as much as possible from extreme cold, and soothing ointment applied at night. Calamine lotion, which is a standard skin lotion for inflammatory conditions, is recommended by both Stellwagon and Jackson. This is to be dabbed on freely at night, and allowed to dry on. A sulphur ointment acts well in other cases, and ichthyol ointment in the strength of 10 to 25 per cent, in some.

But if you are afflicted with Acne Rosacea, you should go to a dermatologist, because he will know which application to give you. He may use electrolysis and some other treatment, possibly some slight surgery.

The disease is obstinate, but is curable under persistent treatment.

C. W. TRIBBLE STRUCK BY AUTO ON VIADUCT

C. W. Tribble, of 125 East Lake avenue, narrowly escaped serious injury Monday when he was knocked down by an auomobile driven by R. S. Sloan, of 119 Feld avenue, on the Broad Street viaduct, according to a report by Patrolman J. C. Swinney. Tribble declined to go to a hospital, the officer reported.

M. C. Parsons, of 41 Forsyth street, N. W., was making a left turn from Angier avenue into Jackson street when John Rayford, negro, of 451 Houston street, who was cleaning out a trolley rail switch, moved to one side and was struck by a fender of the automobile, according to a report to police by Parsons.

STOCK YARDS ACT HEARINGS ENDED

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Hearings on the Capper bill to extend the stock yards control act to certain private yards were concluded today by the senate agriculture committee and Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, was assigned by Chairman McNary, republican, Oregon, to draft a committee print which will include proposed amendments.

The only witness today was F. G. Ketner, secretary-treasurer of the National Live Stock Producers' association, who concluded his opposition to such legislation on the ground that it would adversely effect the cooperative marketing of live stock.

Ketner renewed his assertion that the bill was intended to correct evils that existed, if at all, only at Kansas City, where the packer-owned Mistletoe yard is alleged to be operated to depress hog prices on the public markets. He insisted that this should be corrected locally and not through legislation of national scope.

Speaking for "eastern corn belt" hog raisers in Ohio and Indiana, the witness said 109,000 hogs had been marketed cooperatively through use of the same sort of facilities by the cooperatives as the packers used in the Kansas City area.

"But this bill, as amended, will not affect cooperative marketing," Senator Capper said.

"It would affect the machinery," Ketner answered, "and we do not want that. This is the wrong time for legislation that would undermine confidence in the marketing methods, as farmers are just getting together and cooperative marketing is making progress."

POLICE "SHOOT UP" WRONG MACHINE; APOLOGIZE AND PAY

The innocent bystander proved the victim Monday when Patrolmen S. C. Wallace and G. E. Caldwell shot the tires on the wrong car, according to a report at the police station. Officers Wallace and Caldwell reported that mistaking the roadster of C. W. Cruce, 82 Alabama street, S. W., for one which had forced their car into the sidewalk at Butler and Edgewood avenue, they shot the tires of the car.

On discovering their mistake the officers apologized and then paid for tire repairs, according to the report. The belief was expressed that the machine which forced the police car onto the sidewalk must have slipped down a side street in the excitement of the chase.

RADIO-ING The Air Waves.

BY WILL SMITH.

A trio of saxophones Monday night played their way into the Dial Twister's receiver, and thence into the heart of us with two selections which were as enjoyable as any heard in weeks.

The Riverside Trail Blazers brought them to us and we listened while they offered "The Swan" and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice." We had been trying for several minutes to get KOIL, or KMOX or WAIU for the new Columbia system feature which was scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Interference made it impossible to get any of these Columbia stations, so we drifted to KDKA for the Trail Blazers, having found them almost always enjoyable. And what a treat those three saxophones were.

We listened on, "The Beggar" coming next, and on until the wire system went out between the New York station of WJZ and the Chicago studio, where the program originated. After a very few moments a stringed trio in the studios of WJZ came on with "Slavonic Dance No. 3" and filled in the breach, very adequately, until the damage was repaired.

A new skipper is received aboard ship as the Rise and Shine program starts over KDKA. All hands are called to the topside and the skipper is piped up the gang-plank and onto the quarter deck.

We go to the General Motors hour over the red network. Here we found a veritable feast for music lovers, a banquet of innumerable courses, Gounod, Massenet, Mendelssohn, Herbert, Debussy, Godard; orchestra, band, string quartet, band and orchestra, and Miss Florence Easton, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Her first number was "Le Roi de Thule," from Faust. Miss Easton sang with a beauty of tone and a dramatic power of expression which was impressive. Her career as a portrayer of leading soprano roles at the Metropolitan has been most successful.

"Arabesque" by the orchestra was then followed by the string quartet which offered "Au Clair de la Lune" (Lully).

Miss Easton gave "Croon, Croon, Underneath the Moon" (Clutsam), in English, with male trio and orchestra accompaniment, which she followed with Herbert's "Heart of Mine," accompanied by piano and also in English. The beauty of her voice in these was evident even more than in her first number and both were more enjoyable to us than ever before.

"Marche Lorraine" (Ganne) was the opening band number of the hour, reflecting the continental spirit and more particularly France. Almost, we could see marching in review the blue of France's legions, mayhap for a soldier's honor on being decorated with a bit of ribbon and the inevitable French embrace.

And so we leave the General Motors family, with Miss Easton singing "Calm as the Night" (Bohm), accompanied by the band.

The Stromberg-Carlson hour at 7 o'clock tonight over KDKA and other NBC blue chain stations will bring gems of musical compositon as well as light and popular numbers. This hour is among the best on the air today. Tonight will be heard "The Dance of the Blue Danube," selections from "Rose Marie," "A Vision of Salome," "Did You Mean It?" and dance numbers, with other classical, semi-classical and popular numbers, two of which will be sung by the quintet, one to a 'cello solo and the others orchestra numbers. KDKA at 7 o'clock tonight, folks, and we will join you on the air.

The Brunswick weekly broadcast over WSB at 5 o'clock this afternoon will bring "My Blue Ridge Mountain Home," sung by Dalhart and Robinson. This number of one of the best recordings made in a long time. Others will include "Roses of Remembrance," by the famed Anglo-Persians, "Is She My Girl Friend" and "On a Good Time Straw Ride."

* * * *

Chain features tonight will bring us the ever popular Eveready hour over WSB at 8 o'clock in a melody program. Then the Voters' Service will be on at 6 o'clock over WSAI and the red chain. The Seiberling Singers, now a quartet, will be heard at 7 o'clock over WSB. Auction bridge will come, as usual, at 9 o'clock with two Boston ladies playing with Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead, and over DSB. Old melodies and new will be heard at KDKA at 8 o'clock. The Air Weavers will come to us at 7:30 o'clock from WSAI.

And that's that.

SUPREME COURT GIVES SAVANNAH CO. REVIEW

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—The John W. Gleason Cotton company, of Savannah, Ga., was granted a review by the supreme court today in a suit to recover $10,000 from the Seaboard Air Line, lost on a fraudulent bill of lading.

The cotton company asserted that the railroad had at its terminals at Savannah and employee named McDonnell, authorized to give notice of the arrival of cotton, and that upon a report from him of the arrival of a shipment of cotton it paid $10,000 to a local bank on a draft attached to a bill of lading supposed to cover the shipment.

It subsequently developed that McDonnell had himself sent the fraudulent bill of lading and draft from Charleston, S. C., and had subsequently gone there to get the mony after the draft was paid. The circuit court of appeals held that the railroad was not liable for the fraudulent acts of its employee.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO CUT AIR POSTAGE

WARMER IN WINTER

Modern house-covering has to shed the sizzling heat of the summer sun as well!

And it has to keep the warmth in in winter!

In short, it has to be heat-insulated . . . any architect or builder will tell you that.

So you'll be glad to know that Carey Cork-Insulated Shingles carry their own insulation, for they are weatherproof slate on the outside and heat-proof cork on the under side!

Which means that, for one price, in one operation, and at one labor cost, you can have a beautiful, weather-tight roof that is climate-tight, too.

Come in and let us show you these thick, rugged shingles in a variety of colorings. Next August, when the sun is hot and your bedroom cool, you'll be glad you did.

PICTURE THEATER IN HOT SPRINGS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Hot Springs, Ark., March 5.—(AP) Fire which broke out in the Princess theater, a motion picture house in the center of the business district, shortly after noon today was brought under control two hours later. A strong breeze was blowing and for a time it was feared the blaze would spread. Damage was believed to have been confined principally to the stage and interior work. The fire originated in the rear of the building from undetermined causes. The theater had not opened for the afternoon.

Will the Bills be covered by an EQUITABLE CHECK

. . . not merely once, but year after year as long as you live or as long as your wife survives you?

Equitable life insurance primarily protects your family in the event of your death. But the Equitable interpretation of life insurance is to make it of lasting value—to you in your own old age, to those who survive you, and for such other definite purposes as you may desire.

The Equitable way is the modern way—a well planned budget for your life's objectives. Here are two typical examples:

"The first day of the month my income check is at the door, the first mail. The absolutely unfailing regularity, and the realization that it will never fail, seems too good to be true. It is not only the financial aid, but it is a monthly reminder of my husband's thoughtfulness and kindness".

"An endowment policy taken out years ago gave me funds just when I needed them to buy a house. Today my present insurance protects my mortgage, will give an income to my wife, and insures school and college for my children, whether I live or not. My insurance is my best investment and means of saving."

Your Equitable representative can help you plan your own insurance, and if you wish to study out your problems in advance we have prepared a booklet, "Every Month of Every Year", which will be sent to anyone upon request.

JUGGERNAUT

By Alice Campbell

Esther Rowe, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to Cannes on the Riviera, is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and doctor's assistant and she decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in Cannes.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius, Esther treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel Esther finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius and Esther learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later her husband, Sir Charles Clifford, is stricken with typhoid fever and Dr. Sartorius gives up his practice and laboratory work to devote himself exclusively to Sir Charles. Esther is taken on the case as day nurse.

Roger Clifford, Sir Charles' only son, arrives in Cannes. Sir Charles tells his son that he has changed his will to the extent of making him executor and trustee of the whole estate. Roger is attracted to Esther and invites her to dine and dance with him. They go to one of the fashionable restaurants in Cannes.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.

FURY.

It was a little after one o'clock when Roger tucked Esther into the Citroen. He drove slowly towards la Californie, reluctant to put an end to the evening, and intensely conscious of the girl beside him, wrapped in her velvet coat, warm and glowing in the darkness.

"I'm sure we ought to have left sooner," she said, a little conscience stricken, "only it was so heavenly! I had the bad luck to oversleep this morning; it would be dreadful to repeat the offense."

"Why should you care?"

"How like a man! Don't you grasp the fact that my living depends on what doctors think of me?"

"In that case, you'll never be out of work."

She laughed.

"No, seriously, I was in the doctor's bad graces this morning. Not only was I late, but I dropped a basin of water on the floor. Wasn't it stupid? He looked at me as if he thought I was weak minded."

"Pooh! I shouldn't let that worry me."

"I don't, much, only—do you know, that man has a curious effect on me, something sort of paralyzing—I can't explain it, quite."

"Does he? How do you mean?"

"It sounds silly, but it was really quite horrible," she ended with a little laugh, "to feel I was in the creature's power, and that it didn't care, it had no feeling—I was simply something to be crushed, annihilated."

When the car turned in at the drive Roger fancied he saw a thread of light from one of the drawing room windows. The next instant it was gone, and he decided he had been mistaken, it must have been a trick of the moonlight. The house loomed dark before them. He garaged the car and escorted Esther upstairs parted from her at the end of the short passage leading to her room.

"Thanks for a georgeous time," she whispered, careful not to make a noise.

"If you've really liked it," he said detaining her hand a little longer than was necessary, "you'll come with me again."

She smiled and was gone, the brief adieu leaving each of them to wonder how much more was meant than the polite commonplaces uttered.

Roger leaned out of his own window for ten minutes smoking, his mind full of a pleasant excitement. Something, the champagne perhaps, had made him very thirsty. Finding his bottle of Evian water almost empty, he decided to explore the kitchen region below to secure another. He sallied forth and descended the back stairs very quietly, in order not to disturb any one. After poking about for a few moments he found what he wanted. Wrenching off the metal cap from the bottle he turned to go back the way he had come. All at once he stopped stock still and listened. Then he glanced towards the door that led into the drawing room. Had he heard whispered voices?

For thirty seconds he remained rooted to the spot, his ears strained to catch a repetition of the fancied sound. It had been only a faint murmur, he might have been mistaken—yes, there it was again, a sort of choked, sibilant whisper coming from the adjoining room. Hardly had he made sure of it when there fell on his ears a small crash, as of some object dropped on the parquet. It was followed by a smothered exclamation in a man's voice, brief and profane.

With but one idea in his mind—burglars—he crossed to the drawing room door and flung it wide. That he was unarmed did not enter his thoughts.

The drawing room was in utter darkness. He reached for the near-by switch and flooded the room in a blaze of light.

It was one of those moments when there is simply nothing whatever to say. To offer explanations would only aggravate a situation already impossible. Utterly confused Holliday automatically straightened his tie, while Therese, seated, smoothed her tumbled hair and stared at the intruder with horror stricken eyes. For several seconds no one spoke.

Roger, indeed, felt powerless to make any comment. After the first shock of discovery he was dumb from sheer fury. Indignant beyond words at what seemed to him a rank insult to his father, the emotion he felt struck to the very root of his being. For the moment he saw red. At last he addressed Holliday.

"Steady on. What right have you got to order me out of this house?"

He made a faint show of standing his ground, then with a contemptuous shrug went out through the garden doors. Roger took three strides after him and closedthe doors, bolting them quietly. When he turned he saw a change in his stepmother. Her eyes regarded him with a Medusa-like stare, a spot of dull red smoldered in each cheek. Her lips seemed suddenly thin, were working slightly. He knew that her anger was even greater than his own, though she might express it in a different way.

"And now perhaps you will explain what you mean by coming into my salon and ordering my friends to leave my house?"

"See here, Therese," he said. "I don't intend to discuss the matter of my right to do anything in this house. I am simply going to tell you something I want you to bear in mind. It makes no difference to me what lovers you have, or how many you have, it is not my affair, so long as you conduct your liaisons with discretion. But while my father is ill and I am here to protect his interests I shall make it my business to see that this sort of thing doesn't happen under his roof."

"You know as well as I that anyone might have come in that door just now—my aunt, the nurse—one of the servants. You may not care yourself, but you've got to have respect for my father."

Her breath came hard, the spots of red throbbed like wounds, while all the time her eyes remained glued to his face with a stare of fascination. He thought she seemed torn between hatred and a reluctant fear.

"Now listen to me. I shall not say it again. From now on Arthur Holliday is not to come inside this place until my father is well again. Is that quite clear?"

"Must I remind you that I am at liberty to do as I like in my own house?" she said, monotonously.

"I don't think I have made myself clear, Therese. I am not arguing; I am telling you that Holliday must keep away."

"And suppose I do not choose to do as you say. What then?"

"I'm sorry you asked that, but of course I'll answer it. If I catch Holliday here again I shall quite simply tell my father all that I know about you and him. You may be sure he will divorce you."

"That is a threat, is it not?"

"Of course it's a threat. It is the only way one is able to deal with a woman like you," he retorted, too irate to soften his words.

High Lights in the Cotton Market

BY THEO. H. PRICE
Editor of Commerce and Finance

New York, March 5.—Last week's cotton market was a highly technical affair. There is little or no speculation in cotton. The public interest in the market has been somewhat alienated by the attacks that congress have made upon it, and those who might normally be buyers or sellers of contracts are waiting upon the investigations now being held in Washington.

If, as in the past, these investigations shall prove to be resultless there may be some quickening of activity as the crop develops. But for the present there is nothing in sight that would indicate any immediate change in the price level.

The supply is dwindling, some increase in exports seems probable, the carrying over in the United States at the end of the season will be relatively small and by the time planting is completed the market will probably be acutely sensitive to the news from the cotton fields. As long as it is favorable an advance may be deferred, but when and if it becomes unfavorable higher prices will probably be seen, for the world is very much alive to the need of a sufficient yield and anything that suggests insufficiency will promote much precautionary buying for consumers' account.

A good many European spinners have in fact bought quite liberally of new crop deliveries already and additional orders for the distant positions await execution of any decline. The chance of any substantial recession is therefore small, and if the improvement in the American dry goods market continues it may be reflected by an advance in the nearer positions which would carry May to an increased premium on July.

The New York stock is, however, still large, and unless a substantial portion of it is moved out anything like a serious squeeze in May would seem to be improbable.

The news from Europe indicates a distinct improvement in both trade and industry. Great Britain is increasing her exports; Lancashire is more cheerful, East India is buying American cotton and France appears to be very prosperous. Economic conditions in Canada are exceptionally favorable and in the United States stocks are very small as a consequence of the hand-to-mouth buying that has now been the fashion for so long. As a result the stage is set for an upward movement in cotton whenever there is any justification for it, and the curtain will probably rise with the first of the two or three crop scares that we are certain to have unless the coming season is to be an exception without a precedent.

Less is heard of an increase in acreage. The weather in the south has not been propitious, and while it is too early to prophesy, there is nothing in sight to warrant confidence in a yield that will exceed the world's minimum consumption now conservatively estimated at 15,000,000 bales.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, March 5.—The Texas corporation, which recently announced that more than 51 per cent of the stock of California Petroleum corporation had been deposited for exchange, making the merger plan operative, has extended the time for additional deposits until March 31.

New York Air Brake company earned $3.65 a share in 1927 against $5.10 a share on the common stock in 1926 after class A dividends. The A stock has been retired. Net income was $1,096,666 against $1,593,934 the year before.

January operating income of the Pullman company rose to $1,005,436 from $959,139 in January, 1927, although gross revenues declined to $6,963,418 from $7,086,331.

John E. Aldred, chairman of the Gillette Safety Razor company, said on his departure for Europe that the company continued to show its normal increase in sales and production and first quarter earnings should show a gain of 10 to 15 per cent over a year ago.

Loss of $68,797 is reported by Pandem Oil for 1927, before depreciation and depletion charges, in contract to profit of $332,867 in 1926, also before those charges.

Gold Dust corporation is reported to be negotiating for distributing rights in America for Crosse & Blackwell, English makers of jams, marmalades and other specialties. Christie Brown & Co., which is controlled by the same interest as Gold Dust, recently bought a 50 per cent interest in Crosse & Blackwell. Acquisition of this business, it is said, would be in the line with Gold Dust's policy of expanding as a distributor of trade marked grocery products.

Lehigh Valley Coal company reports net income of $2,205,197 for 1927 after taxes and charges, and carrying charges of reserve coal lands, against $3,526,813 in 1926. This is equal to $1.82 a share on 1,212,160 certificates of interest, against $2.90 the year before.

Estimates of the unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation at the close of February, to be made public next Saturday, indicate a nominal decline, as incoming orders the first three weeks of the month and said to have been below the volume of shipments. Covering orders usually develop the last week of the month against optional contracts, as well as adjustments, chiefly in times of rising prices. It is expected the total will be around the 4,271,947 tons reported at the end of January.

Stocks of silk on March 1 amounted to 41,677 bales, against 47,528 on February 1, the Silk Association of America reports. Imports in February were 44,828 bales. The total amount available during February was 92,356 bales and approximate deliveries to American mills in the month were 50,679 bales.

Benefits totaling $845,614 were paid during 1927 to sick and disabled employees and dependents of deceased employees of Bethlehem Steel corporation under the company's relief plan. In the 12 months $411,462 was paid in death benefits on account of 670 deaths and $434,152 in disability benefits to 7,659 participants on account of sickness or non-industrial accidents. Since the relief plan was inaugurated June 1, 1926, benefits of $1,290,361 have been paid.

MAJOR VAN NOSTRAND DUE TO RETURN TODAY

6 B. Y. P. U. MEETS SLATED FOR APRIL

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Dates and speakers for six regional conventions of Baptist Young People's Unions of Georgia, to be held during March and April in Waynesboro, Griffin, Elberton, Brunswick, Calhoun and Sylvester, were announced here recently by Georgia Baptist headquarters.

The Waynesboro convention, covering the central-eastern section of the state, has been scheduled for March 19 and 20, with the following as speakers: Dr. John E. White, pastor First Baptist church, Savannah; Pastor E. C. Sheridan, of Curtiss Baptist church, Augusta; Dr. Roland Q. Leavell, Gainesville, and Louie D. Newton, Atlanta.

Griffin's meeting, designed to embrace the central-western region, was set for March 22-23, with speakers as follows: Dr. Spright Dowell, president-elect of Mercer university; Dr. W. H. Major, Atlanta, and Carlton W. Binns, Atlanta.

Elberton's convention, covering the northeastern section, is to occur March 26-27, the announcement said. The speakers listed were Dr. T. W. Ayres, Atlanta; Dr. L. M. Latimer, Griffin; Louie D. Newton, Atlanta, and Dr. John D. Mell, Athens.

Brunswick was slated to entertain the meeting for the southeastern district March 29-30, with the following listed to speak: Dr. Aarch C. Cree, Atlanta; Dr. John E. White, Savannah, and Pastor Z. E. Barreu, Baxley, Ga.

Calhoun, in the northwestern region, was listed for a convention April 2 and 3, with Dr. W. H. Faust, Dr. L. R. Christie, Louie D. Newton, all of Atlanta, and Dr. John D. Mell Athens, as speakers.

Sylvester will be host to representatives of the southwestern district April 5-6, said the announcement, which named as speakers the following: Pastor T. F. Callaway, Thomasville; Louie D. Newton, Atlanta, and Dr. O. P. Gilbert, Brunswick.

Attendance at the various conventions over the state totaled 4,400 last year, Batist officials reported, predicting another display of general interest for 1928.

The meetings are promoted, it was explained, by Edwin S. Preston, state secretary of B. Y. P. U. work, in cooperation with Georgia Baptist headquarters.

DR. JONES TO CONDUCT KNOXVILLE REVIVAL

Dr. Carter Helm Jones, pastor of the Second Baptist church, left early Tuesday morning for Knoxville, Tenn., where he will conduct a series of meetings for a week. Rev. W. O. Carver, D. D., LL. D., of Louisville seminary, will supply for him next Sunday. The twilight service will be broadcast on that date. Dr. Jones will return Wednesday, March 14, and lead the prayer service.

The Day in Finance

BY
R. L. BARNUM

Reserve report shows trade waiting on spring. Stock market reaches boiling point with General Motors and Steel common chiefly responsible.

New York, March 5.—Over the week-end reports from all twelve of the federal reserve districts indicated that general trade continues to mark time awaiting the general spring improvement. There was more than the regular calling of loans today by the Wall street banks. It is understood that at least three of the federal reserve banks now favor an increase in the rediscount rate to 4 1-2 per cent as soon as the March government financing is out of the way with sentiment in favor of a higher rediscount rate growing. The stock market, however, ignored the general trade and money situation and outlook, fairly boiling at times under the leadership of General Motors with Steel common and other leaders again coming back to life on the constructive side.

In the first hour no less than 400,000 shares of General Motors changed hands with the price up over $3 a share to a new high record for all time, allowing for only the last capital split up. If all of the General Motors split ups are considered today's high price for the stocks are equivalent to around $4,000 a share. DuPont, which owns a quarter of General Motors outstanding stock, opened this morning with a gain of $7 a share, compared with Saturday's closing.

There were two factors explaining today's active and strong stock market. When Ford brought out his new model late last autumn a very large outstanding short interest began to accumulate in General Motors. In recent months a large outstanding short interest has accumulated in Steel common, Radio and other stocks active in the bull market of last year and the early part of 1928. Recently it has become increasingly plain that Ford has been unable to get his old stride in turning out the new model, despite the favorable reception given by the public to his new car. Ford officials are not talking but the best information is that production of the new Ford car has been held up by brake changes required in the law of some ten states. But whatever the cause may be for the delay by Ford in filling orders it is plain that General Motors is making the most of it.

Officials Optimistic.

Wall street men returning today from Detroit tell of the enthusiasm of General Motors officials over the outlook for high record earnings for the first half of this year. According to this gossip General Motors is expected to show $8 a share for its common stock for the first six months of 1928, which on the existing stock will be a new high for earning power. Wall street is confident that General Motors directors will declare an extra $2 dividend when they meet in May. Hence the increasing nervousness on the part of large outstanding short interest in General Motors.

As a result of the stock market action of General Motors the closing days of last week a concerted drive was made today on the outstanding short interest in other stocks. This drive against the shorts was helped along by the other big factor in today's stock market. Over the week-end sentiment appears to have crystallized in Wall street to the effect that while Coolidge may have decided that he does not choose to run for president he will ride into office, no other republican having displayed any ability to arouse widespread interest or attract a following. Wall street was full of talk today to the effect that Coolidge would be drafted and reelected.

If today's stock market pace is continued there is no doubt but that the weekly brokers' loans statement to be published after the close of the market Thursday will show an increase. For the past three weeks the decreases have been $15,000,000; $91,000,000 and $6,000,000 respectively using only round figures. A resumption of weekly increases in brokers' loans might make a change in speculative sentiment. However, those in Wall street who welcomed the drive that was made against the outstanding short interest seemed willing to let Thursday's brokers' loans statement take care of itself. Predictions were confidently made that between now and Thursday many bear hides would be hung up for spring drying.

Good Dividends Due.

Directors of Rock Island and Pere Marquette meet this coming Wednesday to act on dividends. It would not surprise well-informed Wall street if both roads declared something more than regular dividends. Rock Island is paying 5 per cent dividends and last year earned $12.50 a share for its common stock. Frisco controls Rock Island through ownership of common stock and has been paying extra dividends from the income received on this investment. Some Wall street people are expecting Rock Island to increase its dividend Wednesday from 5 to 6 per cent. Pere Marquette is paying 6 per cent and last year earned $13.30 a share for its common stock. A stock dividend declared by the directors was held up by the interstate commerce commission. It would not be surprising to some if Pere Marquette directors declared an extra quarterly of 50 cents, day after tomorrow.

American Telephone's cash position is the lowest since 1924, according to the annual report just issued. Working capital is the smallest since 1923.

The company has improvement and addition plans calling for the expenditure of $400,000,000 a year for the next five years, shareholders were told in the annual report. All of which means that an offering of stock with the usual rights may be expected almost any time this year.

Pennsylvania has plans calling for the expenditure of a large amount of money this year and rumors are being heard that to raise this money and refund advances already made for improvements and betterments there will be an offering of new stock with rights in the not distant future. Pennsylvania was generally expected to make a stock offering last year but the feeling is that New York Central and others got in ahead. Pennsylvania's gross decreased $45,000,000 last year, but by reducing expenses more than that amount net income was increased $600,000 to a new high record. Pennsylvania's operating ratio at the end of government control was 86 per cent of gross. Last year only 77 per cent of gross was required to pay operating expenses. This, however, was brought about by reducing maintenance of way appropriations last year by $4,432,000, transportation costs by $14,763,000, maintenance of equipment appropriations by $21,000,000.

Jascha Heifetz Sale of Tickets To Start Today

Tickets will go on sale this morning at Cable Piano company, North Broad street, for the violin recital to be given next Friday night at the auditorium by Pascha Heifetz, the sensational young artist.

Heifetz comes to Atlanta as one of the Artist Series attractions sponsored by the Southern Musical bureau. He has just returned from a two-year concert tour of the world and critics declare that his playing, if possible, is even more remarkable, even greater than it was two years ago.

When he gave his first concert in New York recently, after his return to America, so great was the demand for seats that his management was forced to present him on three nights, instead of in the single performance first arranged.

There has been a heavy demand for seats from out of town and it is expected that one of the largest crowds of the current concert season will attend the concert here.

FARMALL
The One Tractor for Planting and Cultivating
Besides All Other Farm Power Work

He is cultivating 4 rows at a time.

NO wonder the Farmall has been more and more popular in the corn belt. It finally solves the riddle of corn crop power. It is designed to plant and cultivate the corn on a generous scale, 2 or 4 rows at a time, cleanly and evenly done, at a rate of up to 50 acres in an 8-hour day. It is the first tractor to make it possible to do away with horses on the row-crop farm.

Special equipment developed to work with this tractor adds to the speed and the perfection of crop handling with the Farmall. Two and 4-row planters and cultivators, mowers, sweep rakes, middle busters, 4-row lister cultivators, beet tools, and potato machines---all are made to use with the Farmall. Farmall is equally efficient with tillage tools and drills, with the plow, and in all belt operations.

Have cultivated 50 acres of corn in one day of 16 hours (2-row cultivator). Have also harrowed 40 acres of ground in 3 hours and 35 minutes with 20-foot harrow. Have picked 54 acres of corn in 6 days, pulling picker and also wagon.

Cultivated twenty 80-rod rows of corn per hour, first and second over. (This is 34 acres in 8-hour day, 4-row cultivator). Cultivated 30 to 35 rows per hour third and fourth time. (Over 52 acres a day).

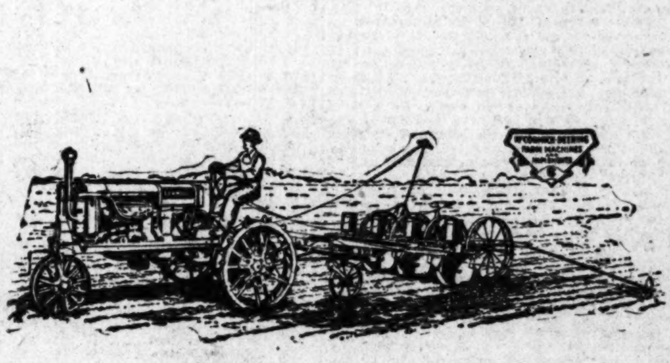
McCORMICK-DEERING FARM MACHINES AND IMPLEMENTS

Farmall with 7-foot power-driven Farmall mower will cut 25 acres of the heaviest hay in an 8-hour day. By adding a 7-foot trailer mower, as shown here, you can cut up to 50 acres a day.

You can use it with two mowers, two rakes, a mower and rake, a mower and side delivery rake, hay loaders and sweep rake.



McCORMICK-DEERING FARM MACHINES AND IMPLEMENTS

Use Farmall with the 2 or 4-row planter and you will put in 25 to 60 acres of corn in an 8-hour day and do it easily and well.

The Farmall and 4-row Farmall cultivator in early cultivating cleans the rows at a rate of 35 acres in an 8-hour day, and over 50 acres a day in later cultivatings.

Come in and see the Farmall. We will demonstrate on any crop

New York, March 5.—(AP)—The cotton market was higher today on covering by recent sellers, together with trade and commission house buying influenced by the failure of weather reports to show as much rain as expected in the southwest and continued favorable trade advances from Manchester. May contracts sold up to 18.68, or 28 points net higher, and closed at 18.58, the general market closing barely steady, but from 13 to 22 points net higher.

The market opened 3 points higher to 2 points lower, but almost immediately firmed up on covering by some of Saturday's sellers who appeared to be disappointed by the over-Sunday weather news. Active months soon showed net advances of about 15 to 19 points. Realizing was attracted by these figures, but was absorbed on comparatively light setbacks, and the market firmed up again during the afternoon. The renewal or buying evidently was promoted by a comparative scarcity of contracts which suggested absence of selling pressure in the south, while there also were reiterated reports that many boll weevils had survived the winter.

March advanced to 18.49 and October to 18.19, or 27 to 29 points net higher and within 8 or 12 points of last Thursday's high prices. Realizing checked this upturn and caused reactions of about 10 to 25 points from the best in late trading, except for March, which closed within 5 points of the top. The firmer tone of the stock market may have contributed to the early advance when there appeared to be some Wall street buying, but trading generally was quiet. Reports reaching here during the afternoon said the conference of spinners with operatives on costs of production ended in a deadlock, but favorable advices were received as to good trade, one cable reporting marked improvement in business with both India and China last week.

Private cables from Liverpool said there had been hedge selling and liquidation on an early decline there, with the market later steadied by trade calling and local buying.

Exports today 3,387 bales, making 5,355,694 so far this season. Port receipts 11,744. United States port stocks 1,997,213.

DRY WEATHER KEEPS COTTON UP.

New Orleans, March 5.—(AP)—Continued dry weather in the western belt kept the cotton market on the upgrade today in rather dull trading, despite the bearish character of Secretary Hester's fertilizer statistics. Following a slight opening decline prices started upward and continued in that direction for most of the session with but a few minor reactions.

May contracts sold up from 17.98 to 18.33, but eased off in final trading ando closed at 18.23, 20 points, or $1 a bale net up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 16 to 20 points.

Liverpool cables were 4 to 5 penny points lower than due and first trades showed losses of 4 to 7 points. From these low levels the market gradually advanced under moderate demand inspired by the continued lack of moisture in the west as well as by reports of too much precipitation in the central and eastern portions of the belt.

The highs of the sessions were made in the early afternoon trading when July reached 18.18 and October 17.85, 22 to 30 points up from the lows. Prices eased off 8 to 10 points from the highs in the final trading and July closed at 18.08 and October 17.77, 16 to 17 points net higher.

HESTER REPORTS MORE FERTILIZER USED FOR COTTON

New Orleans, March 5.—(AP)—Secretary H. G. Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, today reported an increase of 369,305 in sale of fertilizer tags in ten cotton-growing states from August to February, inclusive, compared with the figures for the same period last year.

Total tonnage for the ten states was reported at 1,688,152 compared with 1,298,847 last year. A decrease of 183,949 is shown in comparison with the 1926 report when the total tonnage was 1,852,101.

The statistics were compiled from reports to agriculture bureaus and state boards of the number of fertilizer tags sold by those states as taxes.

State.	1928. Tons.	1927. Tons.
Georgia	351,527	247,978
North Carolina	438,725	367,135
South Carolina	333,129	293,136

Cottonseed Oil.

New Orleans, March 5.—The market for cotton oil futures was firmer today owing to the advance of cotton on unfavorable weather and firmness of lard. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 8.85, up 10 points and prime crude closed at 8.00. Futures closed firm: March 8.90; May 9.10; July 9.44; September 9.62; October 9.44.

New York, March 5.—The cottonseed oil market was quiet but firm today, closing at net advances of 10 to 16 points. Steadiness was due to covering and buying by commission houses promoted by the advance in cotton and lard and the strength of outside markets generally. Sales, 11,200 barrels. Prime crude, 8.00; prime summer yellow, spot, 9.40; March closed 9.40; May, 9.70; July, 9.96; August, 10.05; September, 10.15.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, March 5.—Cotton spot good business done; prices lower; American, strict good middling, 10.89; good middling, 10.69; strict middling, 10.54; middling, 10.44; strict low middling, 10.34; low middling, 10.29; strict good ordinay, 10.04; good ordinary, 9.74.

Salese 8,000 bales, including 6,100 American; receipts 11,000, American 5,00.

Futures closed steady: March, 9.94; May, 9.86; July, 9.78; October, 9.53; December, 9.49; January, 9.47; March (1929), 9.45.

Dry Goods.

New York, March 5.—Cotton goods, unfinished, were in light demand today, with prices about steady. Printed goods sold steadily for spring. Raw silk deliveries in February were 50,679 bales, about 2,000 less than in January; storage in warehouses, 41,577 bales, or 6,000 bales less than in January, and imports for the month, 44,828 bales compared with 46,408 bales in January. Silk goods sold steadily, but some of the lower grades are accumulating. Four new lines of dress goods for fall were opened on about the price levels of last season.

WOULD ELIMINATE WHEAT SHIPMENTS FROM K. C. TO GULF

Chicago, March 5.—(AP)—Elimination of Kansas City as a shipping point in the movement of southern Kansas wheat to the Gulf of Mexico for exportation was suggested to the interstate commerce commission today.

G. G. Moffitt, Wichita, representing Kansas milling interests at the commission's export grain rate hearing, proposed a rearrangement of rates from southern Kansas to the Texas ports and the doing away with the Kansas City transit privilege.

Moffitt's suggested rate from Wichita, Caldwell and Arkansas City is 39 1-2c for each hundred pounds and other rates for southern Kansas run upward to 42 cents at Liberal. These would be 4 to 5 cents under present tariffs.

Silk.

New York, March 5.—Raw silk steady; prices per pound: Japanese extras, 5.16 @5.15; Japanese, crack double extra, 5.25 @5.35; Japanese, grand double extra, 5.55 @5.65; Japanese, double extra, 5.17@5.22; Italian, ex-classical, 5.55; Shanghai, steams three-dancers, 5.35; Canton, double extra A. 14-16s, 4.25.

Cotton Letters.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

Notwithstanding easy cables, cotton, while quiet, moved very firm today on covering by sellers of late last week on forecast for rains in southwest which failed to materialize over the week-end. Contracts were relatively scarce and the result of the trading was the recovery of practically all of Saturday's loss. There appears nothing to warrant any decided move in either direction and in the immediate future or until developments in connection with new crop prospects shall become a potent influence. Weather today unfavorable as eastern belt had heavy rains and the west continued dry. Hester's estimated the fertilizer sales for the seven months thus far at 380,000 tons more than during the same period last year, but 200,000 tons less than 1926.

H. & B. BEER.

Unusually low temperatures for this season of the year inland, below freezing in Oklahoma, freezing in the Memphis district and near freezing in the northern portion of the eastern belt with general rains in the eastern half of the belt over night, made for a higher market today after opening.

Indications are for the continuance of rather unsettled, warmer weather for the southwest, clearing but colder for the eastern belt.

Since there is ample moisture in the surface soil for plowing in preparation for the next cotton crop and for planting in the early producing districts, a period of dry warm weather is desired in nearly all sections of the belt to permit of favorable progress of farm work.

Instead, indications are for rather unsettled weather in the western belt, especially in the gulf coast region, the early planting district and while clearing is indicated for the eastern belt, prospects are for colder weather in that section.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, March 5.—Much to the surprise of everybody after the weakness displayed on Saturday, our market opened up despite poor Liverpool cables.

The market has a very steady undertone. Scattered buying lifted prices 20 points. At no time during the day was the volume of buying large, but contracts were scarce.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

New York, March 5.—Despite lower Liverpool cables the market opened slightly better with a strong undertone and an advancing tendency during the day, sentiment being helped considerably by the remarkably strong stock market. Towards the close prices eased on profit-taking by local traders and in sympathy with the easing of stock market prices.

Reports from Worth street are at variance. Fertilizer sales show a falling off compared with the same period of the 1925-26 crop year but with an increase of about 20 per cent as compared with last season.

Weather conditions continue favorable over most of the belt, but the continued lack of rain in west Texas has influenced traders to the buying side, particularly on dips to which the market has been subjected recently.

Advices from south Georgia are that an acreage increase of 25 per cent is looked for there, and at least 12 per cent in south Alabama, which would bring the acreage in these sections to slightly above the 1926 figures. As long as quotations remain at present levels or go higher we may expect to hear of intended increases rather than to look for acreage reduction.

We continue to advise a trading position with purchases on sharp dips for moderate profits. May Liverpool due 9.89.

FENNER & BEANE.

New Orleans, March 5.—Cotton had a good-sized advance today with some positions selling as much as $1:50 a bale higher.

The advance was due to a combination of events, none of which stimulated much buying, but which appeared to restrict short selling. Contracts were scarce at all times and the market advanced whenever a few buying orders appeared.

The weather over Sunday failed to come up to expectations. It was cool in the west, while the eastern belt had unneeded rains, such weather has created a fear that the crop may be getting off to a late start. Forecast was for generally clearing and warmer weather, but private map readers took the view that more unsettled and cooler was likely to develop in a day or two.

Mr. Hester reported sales of fertilizer tags in 10 cotton states from August to the end of February last year by nearly 370,000 tons or 1,668,000 tons vs. 1,298,000 last year. These sales are for fertilizers used for all purposes.

Lack of selling pressure is the chief feature in the market at the moment. If this continues values may work higher pending developments that will restore the market to its normal conditon of trading.

Stock Letters.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, March 5.—The market continued to improve during the afternoon with strength in General Motors spreading further through the list. At 2:30 stocks at their best prices showed in many cases remarkable recoveries from their recent lows. In the last hour, realizing brought a closing a little below the best levels of the day.

A little good selling in General Motors took place in the afternoon. This was natural after the recent advance.

One of the features of the market was the advance of steel to 143. Mail order stocks were in good demand at their best prices for the move. Rails on the other hand were quiet. The market gave a remarkable demonstration of strength today but we still think that a great deal of irregularity will develop in the near future. Consequently, on strength we would be inclined to take profits on a good many stocks and stay long of only those issues which act particularly well.

NEW YORK EVENING POST.

As General Motors continued to rise the short interest in many other stocks was taken in hand, first one issue and then another, bounding ahead sharply as the screws were turned down.

Gold Dust was an early feature in that respect and was followed in the course of the day by similar demonstrations in stocks like A. M. Byers, Bon Ami, Victor Talking Machine, Radio, Colorado Fuel, American Can, Montgomery Ward, Manhattan, American Smelters and Overland, the retreat in the last mentioned being accelerated by reports of distinct improvement in the company's business.

FENER & BEANE.

New York, U. Y., March 5.—Today's market on the surface showed greater vigor on the upside than has been seen for weeks. Volume approached 3,000,000 shares and advances, though in most cases of small dimensions were general throughout the list.

It is interesting to note, however, that substantially all the increase over the dull trading of recent days was accomplished by renewed activity for the advance in General Motors and Steel, largely in blocks of 1,000 shares or more. In both cases the advances had a good deal the air of a market maneuver against a disorganized short interest. From the standpoint of trade prospects it may be added General Motors seems to represent better values at present prices than Steel.

Under cover of the optimism created by the renewed activity of the two market leaders of last year, a fair amount of strength was displayed in other sections of the list. Specialty movements, however, were not particularly striking except for Victor, which advanced easily to a new high but has not yet even discounted the recent appreciation in the shares of its British subsidiary alone, not to speak of an exceptionally favorable trade situation.

Market action today indicated the approach of another critical point and the desirability of taking profits in the more volatile issues.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, March 5.—Stocks did better today. The buying in General Motors had the expected effect of both stimulating short covering and encouraging new buying. As has been the case practically uninterruptedly since last summer, the technical situation and the mood of the majority of traders determined course of prices. Indications in this direction suggest that before the current rally terminates, a series of three million share days, plus some radical advances in stocks with heavy outstanding short interests will be witnessed. It looks as if we should enjoy a good trading market. For traders who understand the basis of the current improvement, however, there would seem some good profits on the upside.

Among stocks which were well taken we particularly noted good buying in U. S. Steel. General Motors was strong in expectation of a turn in their advance orders. Victor Talking Machine, Radio, Gas, Montgomery Ward, Coca-Cola, Vanadium, American Can were among the stronger issues. There is an enormous short interest in Hudson which may get the same treatment as dealt to shorts in General Motors once the stock is through to new high ground. Paramount Famous made a new high and is an exception to the average run of stocks in that it is cheap, earnings, dividends, etc., considered. Harvester was stronger than it has been in some time. There is probably no corporation in the country with any brighter outlook for business than Harvester. On the Curb there was good buying in Newmont and on the outside market, Zenite advanced further.

GENERAL ADVANCE RECORDED ON CURB

New York, March 5.—(AP)—It was a day of wide upward movements on the curb market, speculative buyers boosting favorites 2 to 22 points. While the market eased off a bit in the final hour, early strength was rather well sustained. Numerous hitherto inactive issues advanced, many establishing record high prices. The gains appeared to be based upon isolated reports favoring special issues rather than upon any general good news.

Outstanding leaders in the advance were Hercules Powder, which moved up 22 points to a new high at 235, and Deere & Co., which advanced 19 points to 287, but closed off to 276. American Hawaiian Steamship touched a new high at 19, but closed at 18. Bancitaly, with a turnover of 25,000 shares, touched 198 1-2 after opening at 195 and closed at 197 1-4, up 1 5-8 net on the day. Spanish and General corporation moved up 5-16 on rather heavy buying inspired by reports of special developments to be announced shortly.

Artificial silks were irregular. Celanese common dropped 3 1-8 points, while the preferred gained about 2. Courtaulds touched high at 42, up 1-2, and Tubize rose to a new high at 529, then dropped to 520, closing at 525, off 5 points net. Chain stores similarly were irregular, Safeway dropping 12 points and Melville Shoe 4 after early strength. International Department and People Drug moved to new high ground. Weak spots included Bohn Aluminum, Evans Auto and U. S. L. Battery.

American Gas and Electric, Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern and United Light and Power B established new highs. Blackstone Valley and a few other industrials sagged.

Creole Syndicate sold off 3-8 and Vacuum Oil lost more than a point. National Transit and Eureka, Indian and Southwest Penn Pipe Lines touched new highs.

Rise in General Motors Again Features Stocks

New York, March 5.—(AP)—General Motors corporation common again today was the outstanding performer of the stock market, climbing nearly 4 points to a new high record at 148 on total sales of just under 660,000 shares, the second largest daily turnover of a single stock in the history of the exchange. December 21, 1926, the day of the so-called "leak" in President Wilson's peace message, 866,000 shares of United States Steel common changed hands in a declining market. Profit-taking forced the price down to 146 1-2 at the close. The general market swung upward in sympathy, with such oldtime leaders as United States Steel ocmmon, American Can, Radio and Paramount Famous Players again in the forefront of the advance. The total volume of business fell just short of 3,000,000 shares.

The spectacular rise in General Motors was accelerated by the urgent retreat of a trapped short interest, which is reported to have been built up to huge proportions since the announcement of the new Ford models, on the theory that Ford competition would materially reduce sales and earnings. Fresh buying also has been attracted to the stock by the establishment of new production records by three manufacturing subsidiaries in February, and by official prediction of record-breaking first-quarter earnings. The concurrent strength of Willys Overland common and preferred, which also reached new high records, was accompanied by rumors of Willys absorption by General Motors, but these lacked confirmation. Other motors moved within narrow and irregular limits.

Little News.

Except for the lowering of the call money renewal rate from 4 1-2 to 4 1-4 per cent, with reports of outside loans as low as 4 per cent there was little in the way of fresh news developments to influence the price movement. United States Steel common, after a slow start, climbed more than 3 points to 143 3-8 and then eased slightly on realizing. Colorado Fuel, Gulf States and Sloss Sheffield also advanced 2 points or so, but Youngstown Sheet and Tube dipped to a new low at 88 1-4, or nearly 20 points below the year's high.

Sharp advances took place in some of the high price specialties. Dupont jumped 9 points and reacted 2, Midland Steel Products preferred advanced 6 and lost 1. Heavy buying of Paramount Famous Players based on reports of expanding earnings, carried that stock above 120 for the first time since 1926. Pressed Steel Car advanced more than 3 points to duplicate the year's high at 26 7-8. Net gains of 3 points or more also were recorded by Brooklyn Manhattan Transit, Atlas Powder, American Zinc and Lead preferred, Hershey Chocolate, Freeport Texas, International Harvester, R. H. Macy, Mackay companies, Montana Power and Reynolds Tobacco B.

Rails moved up with the industrials, but the advances were not so large. Canadian Pacific closed 2 1-4 points higher at 207 1-4 and net gains of a point or more were recorded by New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson and several others.

All the leading commodity markets pointed upward. Wheat futures advanced nearly 2 cents a bushel on reports of smaller shipments from the Argentine and crop damage in the west. Cotton rallied 60 cent to $1.10 a bale on buying influenced by the failure of expected rainfall in the southwest. Coffee rallied 15 to 25 points and raw sugar futures displayed a slightly firmer undertone.

THE SMALL LOAN
—an investment opportunity

The small loan is traditionally the fastest yielding investment a man can make—and one of the safest. For this reason:

When a man goes after a small loan he needs the money RIGHT NOW. There's a butcher to be paid, or his wife is on the way to the hospital. He hasn't days to wait until a bank can act. He probably can't find endorsers on the minute.

He's willing to pay for the use of the money. When he gets it, he is honestly and sincerely grateful. He feels a sense of lasting obligation.

Thus, Industrial Banking is an investment opportunity. Let us tell you how we are handling small loans.

Total bond sales (par value) $10,726,000.

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Prices generally were steady in today's quiet bond market. A few soft spots appeared, but with no material change in the money market, there was little increase in offerings, and the recessions in the main were attributable to profit-taking.

The new bonds of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific continued to attract attention, changing hands in an amount close to $750,000 (par value) at fractionally better prices. The rush to liquidate Seaboard issues appeared to have run its course, for the moment at least, and some of them headed upward. Adjustment 5s rallied 2 5-8 points.

A few issues not ordinarily active displayed rather acute weakness, Norfolk & Western 6s dropping 5 3-8 points on the sale of a single bond, and recording a new low for the year, while Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg 4 1-2s fell back a point.

Pressed Steel Car 5s made up 2 points of their recent loss, and Brooklyn Union Gas 5 1-2s were a point higher. Few other convertible bonds, however, derived any stimulation from the strength of stocks on the "big board."

Mortgages of a high grade investment order appeared virtually at a standstill except for a little further realizing in St. Louis and San Francisco liens.

Fractional irregularity characterized the foreign group. Easing tendencies were shown by the Italian issues, but other groups failed to establish any definite trend. An issue of Bulgarian bonds, totaling $5,000,000, is expected shortly.

Sugar.

New York, March 5.—Raw sugar was firmer today and prices advanced 1-32 of a cent to the basis of 4.40 for spot Cuban. A better inquiry was reported but offerings were light, with holders asking higher prices. Sales were 12,000 bags of Cuban and 50,000 bags of Porto Rican for March shipment at 4.40; 14,000 bags Philippines for April-May shipment at 4.47, and 14,000 bags of Philippines for March-April shipment at 4.48.

Issuance of 100 March notices caused a little uneasiness in futures at the opening and initial prices were unchanged to 4 points lower, the March delivery showing the maximum decline under liquidation. The notices were promptly stopped, however, and the firmness in the spot market led to increased covering and trade buying, and all early losses were recovered. Prices rallied 3 to 10 points from the lowest, but met increased hedge selling on the advance. Partial reactions followed with final prices unchanged to 5 points net higher. Approximate sales 52,600 tons. March closed 2.73; May 2.68; July 2.76; September 2.;83; December 2.90; January 2.88.

No changes occurred in refined, trading again being confined largely to withdrawals on old contracts. Prices were quoted at 5.70 to 5.75 for fine granulated.

Dividends.

New York, March 5.—Common stock of Middle West Utilities company today was placed on an increased annual dividend basis of $7 a share, formerly $6, with a quarterly disbursement of $1.75, payable May 15 to holders of record April 30. Regular quarterly dividends of $2 and $1.50 on the preferred issues also were authorized.

PRICES OF WHEAT SOAR TO NEW HIGH

Chicago, March 5.—(AP)—Big buying sent the wheat market soaring today to the highest prices which March and May deliveries have attained since September 12 last. July wheat quotations reached a new top record for the season. Rye available for immediate use climbed to figures that for a parallel go back to May, 1925.

Broadening of wheat demand was credited largely to unfavorable domestic crop reports and to 4,168,000 bushels fall off in the amount of wheat ocean passage. Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 1 1-4c to 1 3-4c net higher, corn 1-4c to 5-8c up, oats varying from 1-4c decline to 3-8c gain. Provisions showed a rise of 10c to 20c.

Assertions of crop damage to domestic winter wheat were current and in some cases bordered on the sensational. Advices from some sections of Illinois, for example, indicated that abandonment of acreage would amount to as much as 80 per cent. Lack of rain, especially in the southwest, gave further impetus to buyers.

It was announced that the United States wheat visible supply had diminished 2,023,000 bushels for the week. Although selling on the price advances became heavy the market nevertheless held most of the day's gains.

Corn sympathized with wheat strength, but at times was influenced by heavy receipts of corn at terminals and by favorable weather for corn movement. There was also some selling of corn against purchases of wheat. The corn visible supply increased 3,062,000 bushels. Cash demand for corn was only fair. In the oats market September was under considerable selling pressure, but other months were firm.

Eastern buying of lard helped give strength to the provision market despite weakness of hog values.

Market Gossip

Furnished by Fenner & Beane.

NEW YORK SUN.

Stock market traders brought about the sharpest advance in about a month in brisk trading throughout all sessions. It seems quite probable that the general buoyancy of the list was due largely to the sudden spurt of General Motors, which did not run up as sharply today as it did on Saturday, but it opened between 144⅜ and 145, the lower price representing a new high for all time and gained three points more later.

Transactions in General Motors constituted about 30 per cent of the day's trading.

The influence of "General Motors" was particularly effective in the automobile group, where Hudson climbed three points and Hupp, Overland and other indepedents kept forging ahead. But the whole industrial list was finding that the line of least resistance was upward. The Stock Exchange rate for call money was the same as it was at the end of last week, 4½ per cent.

FENER AND BEANE CURB LETTER.

New York, March 5.—The curb market developed strength in the late dealings under leadership of several pipe line stocks and miscellaneous issues.

The movement in the pipe line group was led by Prairie, Indiana, Southwest and Southern shares, all of which were sharply higher, some at new highs for the year.

Oil stocks moved quietly over a narrow range.

STOCK OPINIONS.

WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Stocks advanced vigorously today under the leadership of the principal industrial stocks including Steel, General Motors, American Can, General Electric and American Smelters. Urgent short covering was induced by the impressive strength of these stocks and the buying movement gained increasing breadth and vigor as the session progressed.

With money conditions comfortable and the speculative leaders buoyant, aggressive demonstrations were staged in a long list of individual stocks.

Impressive strength in General Motors and Steel Saturday had a stimulating effect on speculative sentiment over the week-end. With these recognized leaders again performing satisfactorily, it was felt that the danger of further extensive losses in the main body of the stocks was materially decreased. Bears have learned from past experience that it is usually unwise to maintain a short position with the approach of spring when business normally begins to expand. Although the immediate future is still clouded with uncertainty, the development of active demand for the two principal industrial shares was taken to reflect a feeling of optimism in important banking circles.

Mack Has Brains-Plus On His 1928 Athletics

BY ALAN J. GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Brains vs. brawn. That's the main prospect in this year's American league race.

The Athletics have baseball brains-plus lined up for the tussle with the brawn of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and the rest of the Yankee clubbers.

So far the elemental forces of the Yankees have proved a little too strong for baseball's best minds. Babe Ruth's big bat has outwitted many a master mind, including that of John McGraw.

The Athletics combine more diamond experience, under one tent, this season that probably any club in history, not excepting the foxy old Orioles, the Cubs of Frank Chance's day or the Mackmen themselves of the 1910-14 era.

The two chief strategists alone aggregate 128 years. Connie Mack, oldest of major league pilots, is 66, and his first lieutenant, Kid Gleason, is still a kid at 62.

Then there is Jack Quinn, the veteran pitcher, 42, and the oldest player in either league, ready for his 25th year of baseball. Jack has spent 15 of these seasons under the big top.

The big three of the last quarter century of American league all-around stardom—Eddie Collins, Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker—and their wisdom and ability to the Philadelphia cast. Eddie is about gone out of the competitive picture. He is being groomed as Mack's successor. But Ty and Tris have many a bingle left in their bats.

All are 40 or over. This will be Cobb's 24th season, Speaker's 22d and Collins' 21st in the big show.

RICKARD WINS OVER MULLEN IN BOUT ROW

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Spirited bidding for a lightweight title match between Sammy Mandell, the champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, Irishman who bowled over Sid Terris in a single round, apparently ended today in a victory for Tex Rickard over Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter.

Eddie Kane, manager of the titleholder, will return to Chicago tomorrow bearing with his a "satisfactory" offer for Mandell to fight McLarnin in the Polo Grounds here on May 17. Rickard said he would announce Mandell's decision within a week.

In the meantime, Rickard said, Kane will endeavor to convince Mullen that there is no chance of the Chicago promoter's gaining McLarnin's services for a bout in Chicago. The latest sensation from the Pacific cost is bound by contract to fight for Rickard while Mullen has an agreement with Mandell for a title fight with McLarnin in the midwest in June. Kane assured Rickard that his contract with Mullen was not binding unless McLarnin was secured as his oppenent.

Although Rickard would not reveal the amount necessary to lure Mandell from Mullen, he said there was no difficulty in reaching an agreement as to terms. Rickard expects that the match, scheduled to open the outdoor season here, will draw a gate in the neighborhood of $200,000.

MULLEN CONFIDENT OF STAGING FIGHT.

Chicago, March 5.—(AP)—A contract calling for the services of Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in a match to defend his title on June 21 convinces Promoter Jim Mullen that Mandell will not sign with Tex Rickard for a title match in New York prior to that date.

"I still think I will get the Mandell-McLarnin match for Chicago," Mullen said. "We can match New York's gate receipts here and Mandell has assured me he would much prefer to defend his crown in Chicago."

Emory Quintets Close '28 Season

The Freshman Med team was crowned champion, having lost but one game of the 14 played The Freshman college team was second in the standing, far behind the winners.

Jack Lee, of the Junior team, led the scorers for the year with 140 points, an average of 10 per game. Crawford, of the Soph Meds, was next with 130, and J. L. Head was third.

The champions brought their season to a successful close by defeating the Juniors, 19-6. At the half the score was only 5-2. However, in the second half the champions got right and rung up 14 points. Hodges' guarding and the floor work of Dell and Boland were the features of the game.

J. P. C. Quint Wins Over Gulf Cagers

Winding up their 1928 basketball season, the Jewish Progressive club defeated the Gulf Refining company cagers Monday night on the club court, 39 to 21, before a large crowd.

Led by Hirsch and Rosenberg, the J. P. C. basketeers got away to an early lead in the first few minutes of the game and were ahead by 18 to 6 at the end of the initial period.

However, in the second half the Orange Disc boys found their range and had the Progressives on the jump most of the time. Bynum and Brock starred for the Gulf quint.

'Out --- Absolutely,' Is Statement Of Dempsey

San Diego, Cal., March 5.—(AP) Reiterating his statement made at the Tijuana race track yesterday, Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, today declared he is through with the game.

"I'm definitely through with the fight game," said Dempsey. "There is nothing more to be said, and there is nothing more I care to say about the matter. There is no need to amplify the statement."

"I realize Tex Rickard probably will need an opponent for Gene Tunney next summer, but it won't be me," Dempsey stated with finality in his voice. "Rickard has guaranteed Tunney a large purse for a match next summer, but I have no interest in the matter."

STATE CAGE MEET PAIRINGS MADE TODAY

Athens, Ga., March 5.—Pairings for the third annual state high school basketball tournament will be made Tuesday, according to Dr. J. S. Stewart, professor of secondary education at the University of Georgia.

The tournament will begin at Woodruff hall in Athens Thursday and the finals will be played Saturday night.

H. J. Stegeman, athletic director at the State university, will be in charge of the details of the tourney.

The entries are as follows: District 1, Midville; 2 Doerun; 3 Vienna; 4 LaGrange; 5 U. S. B.; 6 Griffin; 7 Chatsworth; 8 Athens; 9 Winder or Tate; 10 Davisboro; 11 Adel; 12 Perry.

These teams are subject to certain elegibility rules, such as financial requirements, before they can compete in the state tournament, states Dr. Stewart.

In the case of the ninth district, the district tournament was divided in two parts because of the distance between the parts. The two winners of their sectional tourneys, Winder and Tate, will play the earlier part of the week to determine which team shall enter the state tournament.

Mr. Stegeman has already received an invitation to the state high school winner to enter the national tourney in Chicago.

World's Medley Relay Mark Falls

New Haven, Conn., March 5.—(AP) The New York Athletic club swimming team broke the world's record for the 300-yard medley relay in an inter-mural meet in the Yale pool here tonight. The time was 3:09 4-5. Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A. set the previous time of 3:12 4-5.

Reigh Count Off To Derby Track

Chicago, March 5—(AP)—Reigh Count, leading western prospect for the Kentucky Derby, started for the scene of that historic race, Churchill Downs, tonight, accompanied by three other Derby candidates, Anita Peabody, Sea Rip and Reigh Olga. Trainer Bert Mitchell said he expected to put Reigh Count, the chief hope of Mrs. John R. Hertz for Derby honors, in but one race before the big event on May 19, testing him three or four days before the Derby. Sea Rip and Reigh Olga, the latter owned by Otto W. Lehman, will be pointed for the Preakness.

Fights

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Battling Levinsky, Philadelphia heavyweight, gained a judges' decision over Earl Blue, of St. Paul, in the feature six-round bout at the new Broadway arena in Brooklyn tonight. It was Levinsky's first battle here since 1922. The "old man" of the ring, who is 37, had an easy time in disposing of Blue.

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Eddie (Cannonball) Martin, former bantamweight king, stopped Johnny Huber with a right cross to the jaw in the second round of a main six-round event at the St. Nicholas arena here tonight. Martin weighed 128 pounds, his rival 124½.

Boston, March 5.—(United News.)—Roberto Roberti, Italian heavyweight champion, battered Jack Humbeck, of Belgium, for ten rounds to win an easy decision here tonight. Roberti weighed 220, just 20 pounds more than his adversary.

Memphis, Tenn., March 5.—Jack Gibbs, St. Paul, won a decision over Grover Mallini, New Orleans, in an eight-round go here tonight in spite of taking a knockdown in the final round. The men weighed 149.

Baltimore, March 5.—A foul in the sixth round cost Johnny Leonard, of Allentown, Pa., his bout with Sid Lampe, Baltimore, here tonight, in what was scheduled to be a 10-round go. They are featherweights.

Philadelphia, March 5.—K. O. Kaplan, slugging New York boxer, knocked out Vincent Forgione, of Philadelphia, in the fourth round of a 10-round bout here tonight. A hard smash to the jaw sent Forgione down for the count of nine shortly after the opening of the fourth round and a moment later a left hook to the same spot finished him. Kaplan scaled 150; Forgione 160 pounds.

Dies on Golf Course.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 5.—(AP)—Moses Pollard, 76, president of the Eagle Dye Works, Pawtuckett, R. I., died suddenly here today of heart trouble.

He was taken ill on the golf course and was hurried to a doctor's office. He died at 10:20 a. m. despite the efforts of the physician.

Hard To Be Longer.

Shots, of the variety common on the race track, are seldom any longer than that on Polly Timber, which finished ahead of the field in a race last month at New Orleans and paid 103 to 1.

N. C., VIRGINIA, FLORIDA PUGS GO TO MOBILE

Mobile, Ala., March 5.—(AP)—Universities of North Carolina, Florida and Virginia, 1927 winners of the southeastern boxing tryouts for the Olympic team held at Baltimore, notified officials of the Mobile Athletic club that they would send boxing teams here March 26, 27 and 28 when the tryout tournament will be held in Mobile. Entrance of those universities into the tryouts boosts the total number fo send delegates here to a high figure and furnishes indications that the event will be one of the most successful ever held. About 150 entries are expected.

The tryouts were awarded Mobile by the National Amateur Athletic association and is the first time in history the event has been held in the south. The Mobile Athletic club and other local organizations are supporting a movement to bring a record number of amateurs here to compete for honors. Winners in the eight divisions during the boxing here will be sent to Boston to compete with victors from other parts of the country.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

By The Associated Press.

Baseball's season of capitulation has set in, late contract signers of the major leagues Monday displaying a compromising attitude, according to managerial reports in circulation.

Waite Hoyt, Yankee hurler, who has been biding his time for a $20,000 salary clause, notified Huggins that he would be at St. Petersburg today to settle remaining differences.

Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn strike-out artist, has discussed his contract with Wilbert Robinson, Robin manager, for ten days now and announcement was made that the two are reasonably certain of coming to terms today.

Arrivals.

Carl Mays arrived at the Cincinnati training camp at Orlando Monday, while Donohue, another regular pitcher, is expected today. Manager Jack Hendricks said he expected both to sign shortly.

Manager Slattery, of the Boston Nationals, received a message at St. Petersburg from Luke Urban, catcher, that he would report today, thus indicating he was ready to start work.

The signing of these players would practically end the so-called "hold out" era so far as the ten major league clubs training in Florida are concerned.

No arrivals were added to three squads, the Robins, Yankees and Red Legs.

Dodgers.

Tyson, Taylor, Trumper, H. Hendricks, West and Rheil joined the Brooklyn team, while Mays, Kelly, Callahan, Walker, Zitzmann and Purdy were new arrivals at the Cincinnati camp.

The Washington Senators began training with a divided squad—one outfit working out in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

Battle.

The Cleveland Indians had a battle for second base honors in sight between Aarion Ward, recent addition, and Johnny Mann, Bill Hunnefield and possibly George Redfern. Mann and Redfern came from the Texas league.

The New York Giants engaged in a couple of workouts at Augusta, Ga., the rookies going through a five-inning practice game during the morning and the regulars taking the same turn in the afternoon.

At San Antonio, Manager Moriarity announced the Detroit Tigers would be ready for a practice game with the Minneapolis team by Saturday. Infield and batting practice took up most of today's session.

MRS. W. A. NEAL, 72, DIES AT HOME HERE

Mrs. W. A. Neal, 72, beloved Atlanta woman and at one time one of the city's most active workers in church and charitable circles, died Monday afternoon at her home, 197 Fourteenth street, N. E., following a brief illness. She had been in failing health for several months.

Funeral services for Mrs. Neal will be held Wednesday morning at a time to be announced later, from the home. The Rev. J. Sprole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which she was a devout member, will have charge of the services. Interment will take place in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Neal, a native of Anderson, S. C., had been a resident of Atlanta for 20 years. During her residence here she had been active in church work and until she lost her sight several years ago was a member of the board of directors of the Home for the Friendless and of the Joseph Habersham chapter of the D. A. R.

She is survived by eight daughters, Mrs. John G. Logan, of Knoxville, Tenn.; Mrs. Thomas H. Latham, of Atlanta; Mrs. Frank Gunn, of Macon, Ga.; Miss Martha Neal, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Marvin R. Boyce, of Clearwater, Fla.; Mrs. J. D. Hunt, Jr., of Columbia, S. C.; Mrs. H. H. Hirsch and Mrs. Alton F. Irby; two sons, W. A. Neal, Jr., of Arcadia, Fla., and B. T. Neal, of Columbia, S. C.; a sister, Mrs. Emma R. Guyton, of Anderson, S. C.; two brothers, George W. and John A. Russell, both of Greenville, S. C., and several nieces, nephews and grandchildren. H. M. Patterson & Son will be in charge of arrangements.

J. M. BROWN, 63, PIONEER CITIZEN OF ALMA, PASSES

Alma, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—J. M. Brown, 63 years of age, one of the pioneer citizens of this section, died at his home here Monday afternoon after an illness of several months.

Mr. Brown was prominent in business and civic affairs of this region. Funeral services will be held from the residence here Tuesday, and interment will be in Rose Hill cemetery. He is survived by his widow, two sons and seven daughters.

H. D. TERRELL DIES IN ATLANTA MONDAY

Covington, Ga., March 5—(Special.) H. D. Terrell, formerly of Covington, recently of Smarrs, Ga., where he owned a large peach orchard, died Monday at Davis Fischer sanitorium at Atlanta about 7 o'clock after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Terrell was at one time one of Covington's most prominent and influential citizens, having made his home here for a number of years. He is survived by two sons, Clarence D. Terrell, of Decatur, and J. Bain Terrell, of Macon; two grandchildren and a number of other relatives. Funeral services will be held at the home of his sister-in-law, Miss Carrie Beck Davis, on Davis street, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment in Westview cemetery, Covington.

MRS. CHLOE BLECKLEY WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Fueral services for Mrs. Chloe Herring Bleckley, widow of the late Judge Logan E. Bleckley, who died Sunday afternoon at the Blackstone apartments, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The Rev. Marvin Franklin will officiate and interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Bleckley was the mother of Edwin H. and Burnett W. Bleckley, of Atlanta, and Herring Bleckley, of Clayton, Ga. She is also survived by two step-sons, Logan and Haralson Bleckley, and a step-daughter, Mrs. Herbert Culbertson.

FATHER OF ATLANTANS DIES IN CINCINNATI, O.

News of the death Sunday in Cincinnati, Ohio, of J. O. Falkinburg, well-known Ohio educator, has been received here by his sons, Arthur Falkinburg, secretary and manager of the Krueger Manufacturing company, and Frank Falkinburg.

Meet After 30 Years.

Thirty years have elapsed since athletic representatives of Notre Dame and Albion, of Michigan, have met, but the long stretch will be broken next December 12, when their basketball teams meet at South Bend.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

©, 1927, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
J. Carroll Mansfield
IN SPITE OF THE WARNING OF GOVERNOR EVANS OF COLORADO TERRITORY FOR THE FRIENDLY INDIANS TO KEEP AWAY FROM THE HOSTILES AND CAMP NEAR THE INDIAN AGENCIES FOR SAFETY, MOST OF THE CHEYENNES AND ARAPAHOES, DURING THE SUMMER OF 1864, CONTINUED TO ROAM THE RANGE.
PARTIES OF YOUNG "BUCKS" OF THE TRIBES ON THE WARPATH MADE LIGHTNING-LIKE RAIDS ON THE OUTLYING RANCHES AND HARRASSED PASSING WAGON TRAINS.
BUT AS THE SUMMER DREW TO A CLOSE THE HOSTILES TIRED OF FIGHTING AND SHOWED A DISPOSITION TO MAKE PEACE, AND THE FRIENDLY INDIANS BEGAN TO THINK OF SEEKING COMFORTABLE WINTER QUARTERS NEAR THE AGENCIES.
IN SEPTEMBER AN INDIAN RODE INTO FORT LYON WITH A MESSAGE FROM BLACK KETTLE, A CHEYENNE CHIEF TO THE EFFECT THAT THE HOSTILE BANDS WERE READY TO MAKE PEACE AND LIBERATE THE PRISONERS THEY HAD TAKEN.

TOMORROW—THE PARLEY WITH BLACK KETTLE.

"ANOTHER HOPKINS BUNGALOW"—537 Barnett St. This is your last chance to buy a Hopkins Bungalow in the beautiful Linwood Avenue section; just three blocks south of Ponce de Leon avenue; beautiful elevated lot; 117 ft. frontage, running back 187 ft. on one side and 150 ft. on the other; 43 ft. in rear; over a dozen beautiful oak shade trees. This is the last of six Hopkins bungalows we have erected in this block, all the others were sold as fast as completed. Look for the sign "HOPKINS BUNGALOW;" it is your guarantee of completion. Few homes in Atlanta are complete when offered for sale and this is why Hopkins bungalows find a ready sale, and have for the past twenty-five years. Our biggest boosters are the owners of Hopkins Bungalows. This bungalow is of exceptional value. When we complete a bungalow our friends say, "This is the prettiest one you have built." Take a look at this one today; it has six rooms and breakfast room; it's the kind others ask—and get—$8,500 to $9,000 for, and we do not ask you to take our word for it, either. Our price, $7,750.00; reasonable cash payment, balance like rent. By all means take a look at this bungalow, whether you are in the market or not. It will be worth your time. P. B. Edwin Johnson Should Enter Vaudeville

As a professional juggler of figures Edwin Johnson is an artist if his card in Monday's Atlanta Constitution is a concrete example wherein he undertakes to tell you of Fulton County finances.

In answer to that portion of the card we refer the taxpayers to "FACTS," the official organ of the League of Women Voters, which shows in plain figures that AS OF the fiscal year 1923, when Edwin Johnson went on the County Commission, there was a surplus of around $30,000. Further down in bolder and larger type there is shown a deficit AS OF the fiscal year 1927 of nearly a million and a half dollars.

The balance of his card, 24 inches at $2.80 per, we will save our money by just leaving it to the people to decide or who may undertake to wade through it.

Now Attention, Please

Have you read the recommendations of the Grand Jury appearing on the front pages of the three daily papers last Friday and Saturday in regard to WILFUL EXTRAVAGANCE, for which Edwin Johnson as a County Commissioner, shares responsibility?

Is that charge INDECENT as Edwin Johnson says?

IT IS UP TO YOU

Are you willing to take the necessary time on Wednesday to VOTE your honest CONVICTIONS as between Walter Harwell and Edwin Johnson?

Are you willing to back up REPEATED recommendations of the Grand Juries of this county in the interest of ECONOMY and a SANE, SAFE administration of your affairs in the handling of YOUR Four Million Dollars each year?

The Issues Are Clearly Drawn. The Time Near at Hand.

POLAND'S DICTATOR WINS AT THE POLLS

Warsaw, March 5.—(AP)—The government of General Joseph Pilsudski was upheld in last Sunday's voting. Unofficial but virtually complete returns available tonight gave the government list 95 seats with seven more from western Poland on local lists supporting the government.

The national democratic party, which had 100 seats in the former diet, is credited with only 29 now. The communists, possessing two seats in the outgoing diet, won six outright as well as finding several additional in local lists or in some of the Ukrainian radical peasant groups.
